SONG.
Tis sweet on the hill top, when morning is shining,
To watch the rich vale as it brightens below;

RICH AND POOR.

From the Diary of a late London Physician.
A remarkable and affecting juxtaposition of the two poles, so to speak, of human condition—affluence and poverty—rank and degradation came under my notice during the early part of the year 181—.

nate his splendid display. I soon discovered that he was in the utmost peril; for there was every symptom of the gout's having been driven from its old quarter, the extremities to the vital organs—the stomach and bowels. One of the most startling symptoms was the sensation he described as resembling that of a platter of ice, laid upon the pit of his stomach; and he complained also of increasing nausea.

sullen voice from another part of the room, while there was a rustling of straw.
"Pat, an' ye must get up wid ye, and go to buy a candle. Here's a shilling!"

chucking and crowing the while as is the wont of children who find a passive subject for their derelictions.
"Let me see him nearer," said I, "I must wake him, and ask him a few questions.
