

SWEET HOME.

By the Rev. JOHN N. MAFFITT. This world with its glory, and all we hold dear. Now shining in beauty, must soon disappear...

The following exquisite lines were written about two centuries ago, on a daughter of the Laird Maxwell of Cowhill, on the Banks of the Nith...

She's gone to dwell in Heaven, my lassie, She's gone to dwell in Heaven, Ye're over pure quod a voice aboon...

She was beloved of a', my lassie; She was beloved of a'; But an Angel fell in love w' her, And took her frae us a'.

Low there she lies, my lassie, Low there she lies, A bonnier form ne'er went to the yird, Nor frae it will arise.

But soon I'll follow thee, my lassie, But soon I'll follow thee, Ful' soon I'll follow thee, Then left me nought to covert, lassie, But took goodness' gel' w' thee.

I look'd on thy death cold face my lassie; I look'd on thy death cold face; Thou seem'd a lillie new cut if the bud, An' lading in its place.

There's naught but dust now mine, my lassie, There's naught but dust now mine; My soul's w' thee? the cauld, cauld grave, An' why should I stay behin'?

I look'd on thy death shut eye, my lassie, I look'd on thy death shut eye; An' a lovelier sight in the brow of Heaven Tell time shall ne'er destroy.

Thy lips were ruddie and calm, my lassie, Thy lips were ruddie and calm; But gone was the holy breath of Heaven Tosing the Evening Psalm.

Beautiful Extract.—I saw a mourner standing at eventide, over the grave of one dearest to him on earth. The memory of joys that were past came crowding on his soul...

While he thought thus in agony, the gentle form of Christianity came by. She bade him look upward, and to the eye of faith the heavens were disclosed. He heard the song and transport of the great multitude which no man can number around the throne...

SOLOMON AND SHEBA. The power of this monarch had spread his wisdom to the remotest parts of the known world. Queen Sheba, attracted by the splendor of his reputation, visited this poetical king at his own court...

"What is marriage like?" was the question at a game of "What is it like?" at Ballston one evening. The young gentleman, who don't wish his name to be mentioned, when it came to his turn, answered in the following extempore: Marriage is like a flaring candle, Placed in a window of a summer night, Attracting all the insects of the air...

The first degree of proficiency is, in painting, what grammar is in literature, a general preparation for whatever species of the art the student may afterwards choose for his more particular application.

When King Charles II. dined with the members on the occasion of constituting them a Royal Society, towards the close of the evening, he expressed his satisfaction at being the first English monarch who had laid a foundation for a society, who proposed their whole studies should be directed to the investigation of the arcana of nature...

Immediately after the organization of the present government, Gen. WASHINGTON repaired to Fredericksburg, to pay his humble duty to his mother, preparatory to his departure to New York. An affecting scene ensued. The son, feelingly remarked the ravages which a torturing disease had made upon the aged frame of his mother...

The President was deeply affected.—His head rested upon the shoulder of his parent, whose aged arm feebly, yet fondly encircled his neck.—That brow on which fame had wreathed the purest laurel virtue ever gave to created man, relaxed from its lofty bearing...

The great man wept. A thousand recollections crowded upon his mind, as memory retracing scenes long past, carried him back to the paternal mansion, and the days of his youth, and there the centre of attraction was his mother, whose care, instruction and discipline had prepared him to reach the topmost height of laudable ambition...

From the Madras (India) Courier. SAGACITY & FEROCITY OF AN ELEPHANT. On the 28th ultimo, at Triplicane, a native of the Barbar tribe, unfortunately lost his life by provoking the elephant belonging to Parthasarady Pagoda. It would appear that this sagacious animal, from a circumstance which happened to him so far back as two years ago, took a decided aversion to all Mussulmans...

The unfortunate man who was killed, by a blind fatality, or something like it, having dressed himself in a Moorish garb, appeared before the elephant. It was the festival night at Triplicane. The elephant, as usual, when before the images, was receiving the voluntary bounties of the spectators. This ill-fated man also extended his hand, and two or three times, it would appear, deceived the animal; although the keeper repeatedly entreated him to desist...

A CARD. MRS. ALEXANDER

Continues to conduct her Seminary on the popular and improved Pestalozzian Plan, now so generally acknowledged to be superior to all others in its adaptation to the younger classes of children. The advantages connected with this method of instruction, consist chiefly in the rapid improvement which it imparts to the infant mind, as well as in the systematic and fascinating organization of its operations. In our Northern Cities, where it has acquired a high reputation, the benefits resulting from this system are strikingly illustrated in the effects it has produced, and the extensive patronage which distinguishes it from all others. Parents and Guardians who are unacquainted with this mode of instruction, and who may desire to witness its operations, are respectfully informed that Mrs. ALEXANDER'S Seminary is open every Monday forenoon for the reception of visitors.

Children of both sexes, from 3 to 12 years of age are received upon the following terms. For Spelling, Reading, Writing and Arithmetic, $2 50 per quarter. Geography and Grammar, in addition to the above branches, $3 00. Newbern, 10th January, 1832.
