

MOORE'S NEW POEMS.

Mr. Moore has struck off a new volume of poems at last; a mere trifle, but a very pretty. It is entitled the "Summer Fete, a poem, with songs," and seems to have been received with a satisfaction which this enthusiastic and delightful poet had scarcely a right to expect, after his past successes. There is nothing more difficult to be carried without injury than a very brilliant literary reputation. Mr. Moore, has, however, essayed again, and the reviewers give this a high rank among his other works. The songs interspersed through the light plot are set to melodies, and by the combined attractions of music and poetry, may well hope to win their way to the lips and the heart of every lover of these arts. Here is a gay carol sung by a young girl to her elder sister while engaged in the ceremonies of her toilet:

ARRAY THEE, LOVE.

Array thee, love, array thee, love,
In all thy best array thee;
The sun's below, the moon's above,
And night and bliss obey thee.
Put on thee all that's bright and rare,
The zone, the wreath, the gem,
Not so much gracing charms so fair,
As borrowing grace from them.
Array thee, love, array thee, love,
In all that's bright array thee;
The sun's below, the moon's above,
And night and bliss obey thee.

Put on the plumes thy lover gave,
The plumes that, proudly dancing,
Proclaim to all, wherever they wave,
Victorious eyes advancing.
Bring forth the robe whose hue of heaven
From thee derives such light,
That Iris would give all her seven,
To boast but one so bright.
Array thee, love, array thee, love,
In all thy best array thee;
The sun's below, the moon's above,
And night and bliss obey thee.

Now his thee, love, now his thee, love,
Through pleasing circles his thee;
And hearts, wherein thy footsteps move,
Will beat when they come nigh thee.
Thy every word shall be a spell,
Thy every look a ray,
And tracks of wondering eyes shall tell
The glory of thy way.

Now his thee, love, now his thee, love,
Through pleasing circles his thee;
And hearts, wherein thy footsteps move,
Will beat when they come nigh thee.

Newly Discovered Cave in Pennsylvania.—A few days ago, Mr. Reese, of Peters township, Franklin County, Pennsylvania, living on the base of North Mountain, was about to dig for water; and as there is a very large spring issuing out of the rocks, at the foot of hill of considerable height, and a kind of a sink hole some distance above the spring, he thought he probably could come on the stream—accordingly he commenced digging in the sink hole, and had proceeded but a few feet, when he could plainly hear the water running, seemingly with great rapidity; and at the distance of about twenty feet from the surface, came to the water, at the lower extremity of a fissure in the rock, which immediately expanded into a large and beautiful cavern, the entrance of which is partially obstructed by loose rocks, which, after advancing a little distance, entirely disappear, and instead of loose rubbish, solid rocks appear, enamelled with spar of different colors. In every direction are to be seen the most beautiful icicles [stalactites] suspended from its noble, and in some places, majestic ceiling.—Concretions, without number, and of almost every color, size and dimensions, are seen pointing downwards from the ceiling, and inwards from the sloping walls—some white, some red, some brown, some green, and others transparent as glass, and all solid as marble. They threaten the curious adventurer with being torn to pieces by their craggy points, if he attempts penetrating any further into it; and indeed in some places he is obliged to proceed in a stooping position, in order to avoid them. In proceeding up this subterranean passage, you are obliged to walk in the run nearly all the way. The run is in some places dry at the present season of the year.—Yet it is evident from the bed of the run, and other visible marks of the water, that in some parts of the year the water must flow through the different channels in large quantities. Even at this time there is a great deal running through it, but mostly through channels alongside the principal one, as is evident from the great noise it makes in falling over the craggy rocks which impede its progress. There are in the principal channel several falls which might properly be denominated cataracts—the extent of the cave is as yet unknown, as it has been but partially explored; the greatest distance any person has been up it yet, is 800 feet, at which distance there was no appearance of its termination. In ascending this cave, the eye is most agreeably struck with its grandeur at every step new wonders present themselves—here is a spar formed into trees, shrubs, &c. which make it have the appearance of a petrified grove—in some places the spar is formed into the likeness of men, birds, beasts, organs, &c. and in one place, raised on a pedestal, is a striking resemblance of a half unfurled flag. Besides this, there are a hundred other likenesses, which I shall not attempt a description of. When we first saw them, we were only surprised at their diversity and beauty, but on a more minute examination, we were struck with amazement, knowing them to be mere productions of nature; who hitherto, in solitary silence, had, in her playful moments, unseen and unheard, dressed the scene as if for her own amusement.—Christian Adv.

ANGER OF BEAUTY.—In the first attempt, made by Mary, Queen of Scots, to escape from her imprisonment in Lochleven Castle, she disguised herself as a laundress, with whom she had changed clothes, and when seated in the boat and putting off from shore, she was discovered by lifting her hand to her head. The extreme beauty of her hand with its whiteness discovered her at once, and she was carried back to her chamber in bitterness and tears.

Take a friend's advice.—An expression used by a man when he is going to be impertinent.

TO THE PUBLIC.

An anonymous publication has recently made its appearance in this city, purporting to be the Reformed Practice of Medicine, as taught at the "Reformed Medical College in New-York, and Worthington, Ohio," by Professors and members of said Colleges. The object of this communication, is, to inform the public, that the above work was never issued by either the Professors of the New-York or Worthington Colleges as stated, or any of their members; nor have they ever published the practice therein taught. When persons steal the dress, or names of others, to palm their spurious "catch penny" pamphlets upon the credulous, it is hoped that they may be detected in their impositions. We embrace this opportunity to state, that it has been in contemplation for some time by the Reformed Medical Society to publish their system of practice, as early as circumstances will justify it. The contemplated work will be issued, treating upon the various branches of Medicine upon the Reformed system, to which will be prefixed the name of the Physician authorized to publish the same. Any publication emanating from a different source, or of an opposite character, is, and will be, a gross imposition upon the public.

PROSPECTUS

Of a New Publication, to be entitled the "System of Medical and Surgical Practice, As pursued at the U. S. Infirmary, and taught at the Reformed Medical Colleges in New York and Worthington, Ohio.

BY W. BEACH, M. D.

Founder of the Reformed Medical Colleges, and President of the Reformed Medical Society of the U. S.

From a conviction and knowledge that the present practice of Medicine exerts a baneful and pernicious effect upon the health and lives of mankind, Colleges and Infirmarys have been founded, and are in successful operation, expressly to introduce an improved system, or to accomplish a reformation, in the science of Medicine.

As an evidence of the success and prosperity of these schools, we would remark, that we have how graduates in almost every State in the Union; who from time to time transmit to us statements of their unprecedented success in the cure of diseases. One of our physicians from the state of Ohio, writes as follows:—"We have had during this fall three hundred and twenty-five cases of various diseases, and we have lost but three, out of all that number. Disinterested persons state, that our success is unparalleled in history;" all of which proves to a demonstration, that, without Mercury, or other poisonous drugs, diseases generally, may be cured by those more safe and salutary means which the God of Nature has so liberally scattered around us.

The system of practice taught is altogether superior to that taught in other Medical Schools, or pursued by other Physicians, the remedial agents being principally derived from the vegetable kingdom. Its efficacy has been proved for more than half a century, combining the improvements of the most distinguished Medical Reformers of this or any other age. It has been tested in every variety and form of disease, and its salutary effects witnessed where the mercurial or mineral treatment had been pursued without the least effect, except great injury to the constitution. Its superiority has been so repeatedly demonstrated, as to satisfy the most wavering and sceptical; and it is chiefly owing to this success, that we are indebted for the elevated character and reputation of our Reformed Medical Colleges.

Animated by such encouragement, and feeling an ardent desire, still further to promulgate this valuable system, we have concluded in compliance with our original design, with the repeated requests of physicians, and others, to publish a work on the Practice of Physic and Surgery upon the Reformed, or Botanical System: in which shall be disclosed the principles and practice of Medicine, as taught and pursued at our Infirmarys and Colleges.

Hitherto, our constitution has bound every member under a heavy penalty, as well as in a moral point of view, not to divulge, reveal, or make known any part or formula of our practice, without the general approbation of the Society. This was deemed advisable to prevent any injury which might arise from a premature, or improper publication of it. We wished also, still further to test and improve it, before it was laid before the world. This bond has since been rescinded by a unanimous vote of our members, and the founder of the Schools appointed, and authorized to publish the present work. They have been induced to issue it earlier than was at first contemplated, on account of the impositions already practised upon the community.

Patent Medicines have been vended under the pretence that they were the same as those published at our Institutions. A volume of considerable size, published in this city, has been sold at a great price, in consequence of its having been stated that the author was President of our Society; when in reality, he had never been even a member.—Another small publication (apparently printed at Boston, but unquestionably in New York) has appeared, said to have been written by "Professors and members of our Colleges," a refutation of which accompanies this prospectus.

Others at a distance, have likewise proposed to publish our practice. These considerations, together with the difficulty our students labour under for want of proper TEXT BOOKS calculated to elevate the character of our schools—the great necessity which exists of disseminating a judicious, scientific, and superior method of treating diseases—to prevent interested and disqualified persons from further imposing upon the unsuspecting portion of the community, have induced the Society to publish the Practice.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL.

The subscriber is now publishing a weekly paper, called the AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL. A principal object in offering the proposed work to the public, is to diffuse a more general knowledge of this important mode of internal communication, which, at this time, appears to engage the attention of almost every section of our country.

The AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL is printed on a sheet of the largest size, (mammoth) and put up in a convenient form for binding, each number containing sixteen large octavo pages of three columns each. The selections, upon the subject of railroads and other works of internal improvement, will be from the best authors, both of Europe and America, and will be occasionally illustrated by engravings. A part of this Journal will be devoted to the subject of internal improvement—giving a history of the first introduction of railroads in England and their improvements to the present day. It will also notice the meetings, in different sections of the country, upon the subject of railroads.

The remaining part of the paper will contain the LITERARY MISCELLANEOUS AND NEWS-MATTER of the NEW YORK AMERICAN, as prepared for that paper, omitting all political subjects, except such as are of general concern.

The terms of the American Railroad Journal are Three Dollars per annum, payable in advance; and will not be sent without. Any person who will obtain eight subscribers and remit the amount, shall have a copy gratis; and to companies of ten subscribers, who associate and remit twenty-five dollars, it will be sent for $2 50 each per annum. The Journal will be sent for any length of time desired, if paid in advance. It will be published on Saturdays.

MRS. ALEXANDER

Continues to conduct her Seminary on the popular and improved Pestalozzian Plan, now generally acknowledged to be superior to all others in its adaptation to the younger classes of children. The advantages connected with this method of instruction, consist chiefly in the rapid improvement which imparts to the infant mind, as well as in the systematic and fascinating organization of its operations. In our Northern Cities, where it has acquired a high reputation, the benefits resulting from this system are strikingly illustrated in the effects it has produced, and the extensive patronage which distinguishes it from all others. Parents and Guardians who are unacquainted with this mode of instruction, and who may desire to witness its operations, are respectfully invited that Mrs. ALEXANDER'S Seminary is open every Monday forenoon for the reception of visitors.

Children of both sexes, from 3 to 12 years of age are received upon the following terms.
