

THE BEACON LIGHT.

Darkness was deep'n'g o'er the seas,
And still the hulk drove on;
No sail to answer to the breeze,
Her masts and cordage gone;
Gloom and drear her course of fear,
Each look'd but for a grave,
When in full sight, the Beacon-light
Came streaming o'er the wave!

Then wildly rose the gladd'ning shout
Of all that hardy crew—
Boldly they put the helm about,
And through the surf they flew;
Storm was forgot, toil heeded not,
And loud the cheer they gave,
As full in sight, the Beacon-light
Came streaming o'er the wave!

"ITEMS"—ITEMIZED AND CONDENSED.

Newspapers, now-a-days, are nothing without "items."—Two salmon trout were sold in the Boston market last week; but the question whether the first shad were purchased by Boyden or Edwards has not been satisfactorily settled.—The Eastern Argus contains an awful catastrophe, copied verbatim from the Vermont Chronicle, with credit.—An editor somewhere in New-Hampshire has discovered that Napoleon had a strong predilection for dresses made of battiste muslin.—One of the Boston papers of Tuesday had "items" on both sides of it.—A witty editor at the westward enumerates the donations to Colleges, and says, "to Amherst has been given a refusal to give any thing."—Horse-shoes are of very little service, except off the feet of horses; we have heard of a frugal house-keeper who used an old one to set her flat-iron upon when hot, and of a very religious old lady who nailed one over her door to prevent the entrance of white witches.—It is stated, that a little girl was taken dangerously ill after having jumped a rope 107 times. Little girls ought not to jump a rope 107 times.—The legislature of Georgia has passed a law for the protection of cranberries. We did not know that cranberries grew in Georgia.—It is stated that the atmosphere is that of the English November. As all our readers have spent that month in England, they, of course know, or ought to know, what an English November is. At any rate it is no affair of ours.—It is said 29 hogreaves are elected at Newburyport from those persons recently married. It is hoped they will drive their pigs to a good market.—It is stated that widows are as plenty as blackberries in the town of Lynn, and the Gazette hazards an opinion that some of them would do well in the Western States, but it does not say how many. This was an inadvertent omission.—It is stated that a gallows, and one of the late Marshals Prince's ear-knots would be an effectual cure for tipping propensities.—It is stated that a promising young man from Virginia visited the theatre in Baltimore one night last week. We do not learn whether he paid for his ticket or not.—It is stated that it is proposed to establish a paper on purpose to encourage the "item" manufacture, to be called the "Item Whig and Monosyllable Flea-Trap." We will subscribe for two copies if the publisher will take his pay in "items."—The Gazette says our "items" carry a sting in their tails. If we have not succeeded in our attempt to make these as stale and flat as those manufactured to the northward of us, "we give it up."

WOMEN in their nature are much more gay and joyous than men, whether it be that their blood is more refined, their fibres more delicate, and their animal spirits more light and volatile; or whether, as some have imagined there may not be a kind of a sex in the very soul, I shall not pretend to determine. As civility is the gift of women, gravity is that of men. They should each of them therefore, keep a watch upon the particular bias which nature has fixed in their mind, that it may not draw too much, and lead them out of the paths of reason. This will certainly happen if the one in every word and action affects the character of being rigid and severe, and the other of being brisk and airy. Men should beware of being captivated by a kind of savage philosophy, women by a thoughtless gallantry. Where these precautions are not observed, the man often degenerates into a cynic, the woman into a coquette; the man grows sullen and morose, the woman impertinent and fantastical.

Despise not thy mother when she is old. When she was young, yea, middle-aged, thou pridedest and respected, and did reverence and obey her; do it as well when she is old; hold on doing it to the last. Age may wear and waste a mother's beauty, strength, parts, limbs, senses, and estate; but her relation of a mother is as the sun, when he goeth forth in his might, for it is always in the meridian and knoweth no evening. The person may be gray-headed, but her motherly relation is ever in its flourish. It may be autumn, yea, winter, with the woman; but with the mother—as a mother—it is always spring.

Magnificent Literary Prize.—Some of our readers will perhaps recollect that the late Rev. Earl of Bridgewater, who resided for so many years in Paris, where he died in 1829, left the sum of 3000*l.* as a reward to the writer of the best work "On the Power, Wisdom, and Goodness of God, as manifested in the Creation." The allotting of the prize has been placed in the hands of eight eminent men, of whom Dr. Chalmers is one.

Important Intelligence.

To my Friends and Patrons.

In accordance with the laws of the State of New-York, our Lotteries will soon cease, and in a very short time the chances for obtaining a "comfortable" will pass away. In the course of a few months past the Fickle Goddess has been unusually lavish with her favours to the patrons of the Court of Fortune, and a great many have "touched the leaders," and possessed themselves of the Splendid Capital Prizes. Was it not an invariable practice with me to pay strict attention to secrecy in the Lottery department of my business, I could furnish the names of many of the favoured ones since I had the pleasure of selling the Capital of $20,000 to two Southern gentlemen. Over ONE MILLION or DOLLARS have been scattered to various parts of the World from my establishments within the past two years; and I intend to keep open doors at the Palace of Fortune, thus rendering the Road to Wealth easy of access to all who are disposed to partake of the Golden Showers.

A CARD.

MRS. ALEXANDER

Continues to conduct her Seminary on the popular and improved Pestalozzian Plan, now so generally acknowledged to be superior to all others in its adaptation to the younger classes of children. The advantages connected with this method of instruction, consist chiefly in the rapid improvement which it imparts to the infant mind, as well as in the systematic and fascinating organization of its operations. In our Northern Cities, where it has acquired a high reputation, the benefits resulting from this system are strikingly illustrated in the effects it has produced, and the extensive patronage which distinguishes it from all others. Parents and Guardians who are unacquainted with this mode of instruction, and who may desire to witness its operations, are respectfully informed that Mrs. ALEXANDER'S Seminary is open every Monday forenoon for the reception of visitors.

Children of both sexes, from 3 to 12 years of age are received upon the following terms.

For Spelling, Reading, Writing and Arithmetic, $2 50 per quarter.

Geography and Grammar, in addition to the above branches, $3 00.

TO THE PUBLIC.

An anonymous publication has recently made its appearance in this city, purporting to be the Reformed Practice of Medicine, as taught at the "Reformed Medical College in New-York, and Worthington, Ohio," by Professors and members of said Colleges. The object of this communication, is, to inform the public, that the above work was never issued by either the Professors of the New-York or Worthington Colleges as stated, or any of their members; nor have they ever published the practice therein taught. When persons steal the dress, or names of others, to palm their spurious "catch penny" pamphlets upon the credulous, it is hoped that they may be detected in their impositions. We embrace this opportunity to state, that it has been in contemplation for some time by the Reformed Medical Society to publish their system of practice, as early as circumstances will justify it. The contemplated work will be issued, treating upon the various branches of Medicine upon the Reformed system, to which will be prefixed the name of the Physician authorized to publish the same. Any publication emanating from a different source, or of an opposite character, is, and will be, a gross imposition upon the public.

W. BEACH,

Prin. of the New-York Reformed Medical College.

PROSPECTUS

Of a New Publication, to be entitled the System of Medical and Surgical Practice,

As pursued at the U. S. Infirmary, and taught at the Reformed Medical Colleges in New York and Worthington, Ohio.

BY W. BEACH, M. D.

Founder of the Reformed Medical Colleges, and President of the Reformed Medical Society of the U. S.

FROM a conviction and knowledge that the present practice of Medicine exerts a baneful and pernicious effect upon the health and lives of mankind, Colleges and Infirmarys have been founded, and are in successful operation, expressly to introduce an improved system, or to accomplish a reformation, in the science of Medicine.

As an evidence of the success and prosperity of these schools, we would remark, that we have how graduates in almost every State in the Union; who from time to time transmit to us statements of their unprecedented success in the cure of diseases. One of our physicians from the state of Ohio, writes as follows:—"We have had during this fall three hundred and twenty-five cases of various diseases, and we have lost but three, out of all that number. Disinterested persons state, that our success is unparalleled in history;" all of which proves to a demonstration, that, without Mercury, that boasted champion of the Materia Medica, or other poisonous drugs, diseases generally, may be cured by those more safe and salutary means which the God of Nature has so liberally scattered around us.

The system of practice taught is altogether superior to that taught in other Medical Schools, or pursued by other Physicians, the remedial agents being principally derived from the vegetable kingdom. Its efficacy has been proved for more than half a century, combining the improvements of the most distinguished Medical Reformers of this or any other age. It has been tested in every variety and form of disease, and its salutary effects witnessed where the mercurial or mineral treatment had been pursued without the least effect, except great injury to the constitution. Its superiority has been so repeatedly demonstrated, as to satisfy the most wavering and sceptical; and it is chiefly owing to this success, that we are indebted for the elevated character and reputation of our Reformed Medical Colleges.

Animated by such encouragement, and feeling an ardent desire, still further to promulgate this valuable system, we have concluded in compliance with our original design, with the repeated requests of physicians, and others, to publish a work on the Practice of Physic and Surgery upon the Reformed, or Botanical System: in which shall be disclosed the principles and practice of Medicine, as taught and pursued at our Infirmarys and Colleges.

Hitherto, our constitution has bound every member under a heavy penalty, as well as in a moral point of view, not to divulge, reveal, or make known any part or formula of our practice, without the general approbation of the Society. This was deemed advisable to prevent any injury which might arise from a premature, or improper publication of it. We wished also, still further to test and improve it, before it was laid before the world: This bond has since been rescinded by a unanimous vote of our members, and the FOUNDER of the Schools appointed, and authorised to publish the present work. They have been induced to issue it earlier than was at first contemplated, on account of the impositions already practised upon the community.

Patent Medicines have been vended under the pretence that they were the same as those published at our Institutions.

A volume of considerable size, published in this city, has been sold at a great price, in consequence of its having been stated that the author was President of our Society; when in reality, he had never been even a member.

Another small publication (apparently printed at Boston, but unquestionably in New York) has appeared, said to have been written by "Professors and members of our Colleges," a refutation of which accompanies this prospectus.

Others at a distance, have likewise proposed to publish our practice. These considerations, together with the difficulty our students labour under for want of proper TEXT BOOKS calculated to elevate the character of our schools—the great necessity which exists of disseminating a judicious, scientific, and superior method of treating diseases—to prevent interested and disqualified persons from further imposing upon the unsuspecting portion of the community, have induced the Society to publish the Practice.

CONDITIONS.

I. The Work now in Press, will be issued as soon as possible, in two large octavo volumes, containing about eleven hundred pages, with some plates, to the sum of five dollars per volume.

II. There will be an abridgment issued at the same time, in one volume, at five dollars. Subscribers will please signify which they will take.

III. It will be executed in a superior style, as regards type, paper, binding, &c.

IV. Payment of each volume to be made on delivery, where agents are appointed. The most convenient mode by which persons in the interior can receive the work, is by ascertaining from their local Bookseller the address of the house he deals with in New York, on transmitting which to the author, the books can be deposited with him to be forwarded.

V. Booksellers, Editors, and Postmasters, (except those who sell a spurious publication) are hereby appointed agents for this work; and are authorised to receive subscriptions, for which they will be allowed a liberal per cent on all monies remitted; they paying the expense of any further advertisements. Those who procure five subscribers and become responsible for the same shall have the sixth copy gratis.

VI. The work will shortly be issued, or as soon as a small number of subscribers are obtained.

VII. Persons holding subscription papers, will return them, or give information of the number of subscribers, as early as possible, designating how many of each work is wanted. Where orders are sent to New-York, the money must be paid in advance.

VIII. To prevent imposition, besides securing the copy right, the hand writing of the author in manuscript, will be annexed to both works. Should any person again attempt to publish, abridge, or palm any part of this work, or any other purporting to be the same, a copy of this work will be given to any person, who will furnish us with the name and address of such person.

IX. Every travelling agent duly authorized to receive subscriptions, must have a writing from the author certifying the same.

X. All orders for this work, with directions where they shall be sent, with subscriptions and communications, to be addressed, post paid, to the author, Dr. W. BEACH, No. 95 Eldridge-street, New-York. New-York Reformed Medical College, December 20, 1831.
