FHE SELECT DECULATING LIBRARY, Containing equal to FIFTY VOLUMES, FIVE DOLLARS!

PROSPECTUS.

In presenting to the public a periodical enfirely new in its character, it will be expected that the publisher should describe his plan, and the objects he hopes to accomplish.

There is growing up in the United Statesa rary information emanate, feel themselves at a been altogether unsuccessful. taking, the chief object of which emphatically high gifted literary men of the land. is, to make good reading cheaper, and to put it In addition to our foreign correspondence, the neatest manner.

To elucidate the advantages of "The Select Circulating Library" such as we propose, it is only necessary to compare it to some other publications. Take the Waverly novels for example; the Chronicles of the Cannongate occupy two volumes, which are sold at $1,25 to 1,50. The whole would be readily contained in three numbers of this periodical, at an expense of thirty-seven cents, postage included! So that more than three times the quantity of literary matter can be supplied for the same money by adopting the newspaper form. But we conceive transmission by mail, and the early receipt of a new book, as a most distinguishing feature of the publication. Distant subscribers will be placed on a footing with those of the common London novel size for Five Dol- direction of Mr. R. W. Weir. lars. From the latter, such literary intelligence will occasionally be culled, as will prove interesting and entertaining to the lover of knowledge, and science, literature, and novelty. Good standard novels, and other works, now out of print, may also occasionally be re-produced in our

The publisher confidently assures the heads of families, that they need have no dread of inproducing the "Select Circulating Library" into their domestic circle, as the gentleman who has undertaken the editorial duties, to literary fastes and habits, adds a due sense of the respensibility he assumes in catering for an exlended and moral community, and of the consequences, detrimental or otherwise, that will follow the dissemination of noxious or wholesome mental aliment. His situation and engagements afford him peculiar advantages and facilities for the selection of books. These, with the additional channels created by agencies at London, Liverpool, and Edinburgh, warrant the proprietor in guaranteeing a faithful execution of the literay department.
