EARLY DAYS.

From Friendship's Offering, for 1834. Oh! give me back my early days, The fresh springs and the bright That made the course of childhood's ways, A journey of delight.

Oh! give me back the violet blue, The woodbine and the rose, That o'er my early wanderings threw That fragrance of repose.

And give me back the glittering stream, The fountain and the dew, That neither day nor nightly dream

I would give all that years have bought Of wisdom, wealth or love, For one sweet hour of early thought

Can ever more renew.

This sordid world above-One happy flight away, away, On wings of nameless power, One golden morn, one glorious day, In childhood's rosy bower—

One sail upon that summer sea, Whose passing storms are all, Light winds that blow more merrily, And dewy showers that fall.

But ah! that summer sea no more, Shall bear me gaily on; My bark lies on the weary shore, My fluttering sails are gone.

Tis not that hope her radiant bow, To longer bends on high, But light has faded from her brow, And splendor from her sky.

Tis not that pleasure may not bring, Fresh gladness in my breast, But I am worn with wandering, To find a home of rest.

In the recess, which in cold weather had been occupied by the stove, now | Su stood a splenid cabinet piano forte, the silk corresponding with the crimson cloth of the pannels; it was open, a Leghorn bonnet with a green veil, a parasol, and two long white gloves, as if recently pulled off, lay on it, with Bla the very mould of the hands in them.

The rudder case was particularly beautiful; it was a rich carved and guilded palm-tree, the Black do. stern painted white, and enterlaced with a golden fret work, like the lozengers of a pine apple while the leaves spread up and abroad on the roof.

The table was laid for supper with cold meat and wine, and a profusion of silver things all sparkling brightly; but it was in great disorder, wine spilt, and glasses broken, and dishes with meats upset, and forks and spoons scattered about. She was evidently one of Tamboured, those London West Indiamen, on board of which I knew there was much splendor and Goat's hair, great comfort .- But, alas! the hand of lawless Blue, violence had been there. These four had no clothing besides their trowsers, and stood with their arms folded, in all the calmness of despreate men, caught in the very act of some horrible atrocity which they knew shut out all hope of mercy.
