May 23, 1883. Mr. Editor: I agree with Talmage the great Brooklyn preacher, that newspapers do a vast amount of good in disseminating the news over the new gubernatorial mansion to the country. It is also a medium be built at Raleigh is to come from through which we can express and convey our sentiments. I see in the papers that the Committee of the State Agricultural Society has offered premiums on field crops, and I ing, and unless there is a decided beg leave to give my views, as I am a farmer and wish to see the farming community meet with that success they so much deserve. CEDAR GROVE, May 21. Editor Observer: I write to say that tobacco plants are very scarce, 13 to 1-2 crop is what our farmers say they hope to make. Gloomy prospects as yet for corn, tobacco and vegetables; wheat looking well. The general condition is much better than last year, yet the volume of trade will not count as large as was expected. The tight squeeze put more people in debt, and deeper in debt, than was known at the time.

This little village is slowly growing. B. C. Patton, late principal of the Patton school at Morrisville, is building a dwelling, and proposes to have an academy large enough to accommodate as many pupils as will attend next session.
