irrespective of party. Thus the year 1873 ushered in a new, important, and gratifying era in American history. And the first sun of the year shone upon a nation completely restored, with all its wounds healed, with its waste places fast building up, and marching upward and onward to a grand and unprecedented prosperity. Let all the nation rejoice!

[From Tarboro Southerner, Dem.]

Caldwell's "Little Speech." Our Governor elect has certainly shown his sense for once. At his installation in office last week he confined himself to a "little speech" which will be found in full elsewhere.

We consider this "little speech" the best his Excellency ever delivered, having as its main feature that indispensible quality, brevity, which has been justly pronounced | Of the Southern States by the Census the soul of wit.

He accepts the high honor with all due humility, and promises to take care of the interests of the people of the State to the best of his ability.

This is all very good if he will only adhere to the laudable resolution, and not allow himself to be unduly influenced by partizan feelings in his administration. If he should, as Governor of a great Commonwealth, throw off the shackels of party and administer the affairs of the State with an eye single to the public good—if he is capable of forgetting in his high position all the rancor and bitterness of the past and exercise his functions with justice, wisdom and fidelity he may rely upon the support and encouragement of all fair-minded people of both parties, and none will be more ready to accord him the meed of praise than the Southerner.

faction, he will be able to do much towards restoring peace and harmony among all our people.

He is not to be particularly blamed when he says, "where have patronage to bestow, other things being equal, I shall give such patronage to party friends ju diciously and in a manner consist ent with the privileges of my of fice."

To the victors belong the spoils and it would be strange should h not attend to his party first. A any rate, he is our Governor for th next four years. As such, we sha respect him. Censuring when-w think censure is due-and approv ing when we think approbation necessary.

The close of the National Campaign of 1872, with the re-election of President Grant, is a

in North Carolina, the South, and the whole country, it is worth while to take note of, for it marks the beginning of an era of perfect

Peace and Reconciliation

throughout the whole country, and between every section of the country. Believing that "peace hath her victories no less renowned than war," and that the conduct of the Southern people can be as illustrious in peace as the bravery of her soldiery was noble, grand and thrice illustrious in the late war; and that in the person of ULYSSES S. GRANT, the soldier with whom our LEE crossed swords, we have a living and illustrious example of the renown of the soldier in war, and the victories of the civilian in peace, from a Southern stand point has endeavored to aid the "victories" of "Peace' by aiding the re-election of the great and illustrious citizen-soldier-Presi-

Notices of the Press. The Bazar is edited with a contribution of tact and talent that we seldom find in any journal; and the journal itself is the organ of the great world of fashion .- Boston Traveller. The Bazar commends itself to every number of the household-to the children by droll and pretty pictures, to the young ladies by its fashion-plates in endless variety, to the provident matron by its patterns for the children's clothes, to pater-familias by its tasteful designs for embroidered slippers and luxurious dressing-gowns. But the reading-matter of The Bazar is uniformly of great excellence. The paper has acquired a wide popularity for the fireside enjoyment it affords.—N. Y. Evening Post.
