Three Deaths from Consump-

Dr. J. T. Leach, Miss Charity Utley, and Frank King, all living within five miles of the other, and all died of consumption last week in the lower part of this county. Frank was formerly a nurse at Insane asylum, under Dr. Grissom, and highly esteemed by the doctor as a faithful and intelligent employe.

The Chapel Hill Railroad.

It seems to be pretty well settled that this railroad is to be built. Major Bridgers sent up his surveyor there last Monday, and they are now surveying from Chapel Hill so as to tap the North Carolina Central at Stravhorn's turnout, or University as it is called. This point is about six miles each from Hillsboro and Durham. The object of the road is to dive into the large iron mine recently bought from Weaver of Chapel Hill by Gen. R. F. Hoke. This iron mine Mr. Weaver gave one thousand dollars confederate money for during the war, and he recently sold it to Gen. Hoke for twenty-five hundred dollars The northern company, who are to build this road, we understand sent man on to examine the mine to see if it would justify them in an outlay, and he sent them word that he has already sunk a shaft and can vouch for five hundred thousand tons of good iron. So the surveyor is going on in good earnest .-Now let this road tap at either Hillsboro or Durham, and don't let it stop there, but keep right on through Orange, and Caswell, and Person counties, and Halifax county (Va.,) and tap the Richmond and Danville road at South Boston or News Ferry. This will finish up the richest tobacco sections in the State and with iron on the one wing, and an inexhaustible harvest of tobacco and grain on the other, the State will sure enough have started on a new and prosperous march. We call the attention of the legislature to that matter. Now is the time to help this people, if ever, and as for the money to extend this read, we have all along had the promise of abundant help from the people of Vir-

Stabbing Affray in Hillsboro. Great excitement prevailed in Hills boro late Saturday evening over a stabbing affray that occurred in Reese's dram shop. Jesse Arche, an Indian mixed mulatto, and Buck Borland, a very clever countryman, got into some words about some switch ties that Arche had cut on Borland's land and hauled off. Arche called Borland a dam liar, and Borland let him have his fist, also bringing a pitch fork into requisition, but whether before Arche had stabbed and cut him with his big | dle, was burnt Sunday of last week. pocket knife, remains to be proven .-The mulatto cut him in five different places, the most dangerous stabbing below the shoulder blade near the spine Magistrates, J O Harrison, F J Bailey. Arche then walked the street making towards the river with the open knife in his pocket when he was met by town constable Crabtree who told him he was his prisoner. Arche replied that he had done nothing to be arrested for, and no man should arrest him, at the same time drawing out his open knife. But a pistol cocked in the hands of Crabtree caused that knife to drop, and Arche, for the time, was turned over to the custody of George Harden and others while Crabtree went for witnesses .-Here the excitement began. Arche broke like a quarter horse and ran up the hotel street, Harden after him, shooting bang, bang, and the crowd pursuing crying "catch him," "kill him," &c., &c. He finally surrendered in the old Nash lot, where the cedars wave, and a Mr. Wayne Garrett, and a Mr. Gates were cavorting around trying to get a chance at him to send him into kingdom come. A Big Revenue Haul.

Special assistant-assessor T. D. McAlpine and deputy collector Peters having received information that a number of illicit distilleries were in operation in the counties of Lincoln and Gaston, on the 15th they went into said counties accompanied by small detachments of U. S. troops, were gone five days, and found seven illicit distilleries running in flagrant violation of law. The copper stills and fixtures were all in perfect order. And persons at each distillery engaged in making whiskey. They all were arrested and will be prosecuted. The stills and fixtures were all completely destroyed by said revenue officers, and they also destroyed on the premises 130 hogsheads of mash or beer. On their way back to Charlotte they found a wagon and three horses, returning from a market in South Carolina to a distillery in Lincolnton. Said wagon contained two empty whiskey barrels with the stamps not erased as required by law, and were taken in chargewagon and all-and turned over to Collector Mott of the district. The stamps on these barrels had never been even cancelled. The distillery from which they came is supposed to be running in accordance with the law, and is owned by Motze at Lincolton. How these barrels could have passed inspection by the guager is a matter for investigation. Supervisor Perry declares that Messrs. McAlpine and Peters are two of the best officers he has in his department.

The Jubilee Singers (colored) of Fisk University, Nashville, (Tenn.) are playing at Steinway Hall in New York .-The Herald says of them: There is in every hymn sung by the band a remarkable religious earnestness, cloaked by uncouth phrases, and many made long before the war are prophetic of coming freedom to the slave. The singers sing, chant or crow-for their method embraces all these styles-with certain sweetness and intense earnestness in their performance. The members of the band-ten in number-all have pleasing voices, and their experience during the past year has taught them how to use them with good effect. The Centralia (Mo.) Guard says: For some weeks past, the people living near the lowlands, or creek bottoms, five miles south-west of Hallsville, in this county, have been seriously alarmed and nearly startled out of their wits, by the sudden and mysterious appearance in their neighborhood at various times, of a strange, ferocious looking creature, resembling a gorilla, which, it seems, has its haunt in the deep thickets, and under the shelving rock and caverns that line the creek in that vicinity. What it is or where it came from no one knows. That it is there, a living reality, many a frightened farmer can attest from the scare it gave him. It appears to be over five feet high, has short crooked legs, a long body and long arms with ugly looking talon like fingers, a short, thick neck, large savage looking head, in which gleams a pair of blood-shot eyes, while its mouths extend from ear to ear, and is filled with long fangish teeth, which it displays when disturbed. Its body is covered with a heavy coat of brownish hair, and its general aspect is absolutely terrible and ferocious, making the stoutest heart quail before it. Thus far, no one has suffered personal injury from it, other than a severe fright, as it never seeks to make a direct attack on human beings, but rather seems to delight in suddenly rushing forth from its lair, and with appalling roars and fearful gesticulations chasing all who venture near its haunts. Poultry, shoat, etc., havbeen missed by the farmers, and it is thought this creature has something to do with their disappearance. The range of this wild being is near the farms of W. Winn and Othe Barnes, and in that neighborhood. One person gravely informed us that it was the devil, as he had tried in vain to shoot it, and that
