The whole number of inmates in the institution, at the present time, exclusive of the officers and teachers, is one hundred and twenty.

Petersburg and Weldon Road.

The surest way, if you want to spend all day in Weldon, and put up at the hotel, is to travel on that Petersburg and Weldon road. They hardly ever fail to 'miss connection," though sometimes they do make it, and a man is obliged, against his grain, to leave Weldon in a hurry. It's not for me to say that the conductors are interested in the hotel. Not by any manner of means. But they do miss it nice. Just as easy. They missed it 3 times in succession this week. Now, how is that for high? The Supervisor and the Marshal and the Collector and the Assessor, all in a bunch, are lying over at Weldon now, cooling their heels against the mahogany of the hotel in that delightful place.

Inspector of Vegetables.

There is no such office as inspector of vegetables. It was but a little piece of pleasantry indulged in by Rev. Mr. Mangum and a few of his intimate friends and it came to us with such a show of seriousness that we published it as a square out business item, not only believing such an office was of recent creation, but that the selection to fill it was a capital one, for there is but one thing Mr. Mangnm is more successful at, than horticulture, and that is, an eloquent and effective preaching of the Gospel. This country has got to be a tailor shop for any man who's got the credit to walk in and try on an office, and were we to hear of, to-day, an inspector of speckled puppies at a salary of two hundred dollars a month, we should cry, Amen, it's a good office, and for the better protection and ad-

Big failure of a business firm in Charlotte. We call no names. Find that out, yourself.

THE help the Era is. That item about Gen. Colston has furnished several country papers and such, a respectable oasis to spread themselves on a "local." THE Piedmont Press says of them: Wanted a cheap boy to hold our beaver while we "holler" over the adfournment of the Legislature-may it

ALL these troubles an editor has to undergo. Says the Greensboro State of Senator James Morehead: We noticed him from time to time, and complimented him by printing entire, in our editorial columns, his farewell address. We are afraid all this attention spoiled him, and that he began to think his power greater than it really was. So we find him advocating the Amnesty bill, and making one of his oily speeches in support of that outrageous measure.

Personal Intelligence. Parepa Nilsson Kellogg Busk is the name given to an infant in Carlisle, Pa. Four thousand dollars is said to have been the cost of Miss Rothschilds' wedding gown. Voltaire said of Mademoiselle de Livery: "She was so beautiful that I raised my long, thin body, and stood before her like a point of admiration."

Brooks and Garfield, who havn't spoken to Butler for years, went up to him and extended their hands the day after he made his great plea for the defendants in the Credit Mobilier case. Says the Piedment Press: Our friend

Gaither, (junior) merchant at Newton, moves to Columbia to engage in the commission business. They don't make em any better than Junius, and we regret to see him leave. Rev. Henry Ward Beecher says in the Christian Union that Prof. Tyndall's face is "long, thin, fringed with whis-
