RALEIGH, AUGUST 29, 1871.

Local, State and General Items.

A new postoffice has been established between Fayetteville and Clinton called Leon.

A rolling pin with which a loving wife had knocked her husband down seven times, came in as evidence in an Indiana trial.

There are two good fellows in this town who have been drunk long enough. Will they take the hint, or wait for one of Paddy's?

Miss Amanda Harris, a young lady of Columbus, Ohio, fell dead of heart disease on Friday night, while conversing at the gate of her father's residence with a young man to whom she was about to be married.

The Mayor of Goldsboro' has offered $500 for evidence sufficient to convict the incendiary who applied the torch to the Hotel. We sincerely hope he may be found, and the rope, after due course of law, applied to his neck.

YELLOW FEVER IN CHARLESTON.—There can be no doubt of the existence of this dread scourge in Charleston. We are truly sorry it is so; and hope that such steps will be taken in our sister cities, Wilmington and Beaufort, as to prevent its introduction therein.

JUDGE CLOUD.—The Asheville Citizen speaking of Cherokee Court, says: "Judge Cloud, who was presiding at Cherokee Court, so far as we were able to learn, was giving satisfaction to all. His honesty and decisiveness in dispatching business could not meet with approbation of the people."

There are ten white and thirty colored prisoners now confined in the jail of this county.—Sentinel.

THE QUEEN BEE ON THE COW.—The Cow is a useful animal. She gives us milk to drink and for to make butter. This has been a bad season for cow ranges. We can make beer of her flesh when she is gone dry. The streams is very low, and our cow herds "Bee". When she dies, we will skin her and make leather out'n her skin."

The Wilmington Journal of the 26th inst., says: With the sad experience of the ravages of yellow fever in our city in 1862, a friend, very properly suggests that the clergy, of the city, or the city authorities appoint a day as one of fasting and prayer, upon which our people may humble themselves before Almighty God and pray his protecting care from a return of the destructive ravager.

J. H. MYROVER, Esq.—This gentleman has accepted an invitation from Theo. N. Ramsay, President of State Council, Friend of Temperance, to deliver a Temperance Address in this city on Wednesday evening the 30th inst.

ROOSTER HIGH.—Some few years since, a couple of candidates for office met, and became quite abusive of one another. No. 1 to No. 2 said something about chickens. No. 2, in a rage, asked if he was accused of stealing chickens. No. 1 replied, "Oh, I said no such thing. I did say, if I was a chicken, and lived near your house, I would roost on the topmost limb of the tallest tree in the grove." A set-to ensued—and the feathers of the two roosters were scattered around considerably.

The Sentinel charges, now, that the Workingmen's Organ was a project of W. A. Smith and certain radicals. Error, as usual. Such men as Needham Broughton, Esq., of this city, will not hesitate to tell the writer in the Sentinel, that his assertion is false. Four printers in this city, all voting with the Democratic or Conservative party, are the parties who proposed, and who have not abandoned the idea, to publish the Workingmen's Organ. It will live to grind the funeral dirge of the Sentinel. "Be easy; your turn will come."

A MARRIAGE ON SUNDAY.—By special invitation, we reported at the office of Squire Whitaker, on Sunday morning last, at 10 o'clock, to witness the marriage of Joseph Womack and Lizzy McClean, colored. These parties reside in the county, and are quite young,—they are hardworking, industrious people, and were well pleased with the announcement, that they were "man and wife." The ceremony was performed with all due solemnity, and the "satisfaction" of the bride by the groom, gave evidence that these "two willing souls" intended to live together "till death do them part."

IGNORANT ROUQUAY.—Missouri, southern, are ingenuities in their robberies. Two smooth-faced youths near Greenville, wishing to plunder an unfortunate Irishman who had just been paid about $100 wages for hard work, one of them attired himself as a woman, and the other put on a pair of whiskers, and claimed to be Justice of the Peace. The Irishman was gotten drunk; the spy in the feminine attire made love to him; the Gals was smitten, and asked to be married. He gave all his money to his bride, and then went to sleep. His wife changed her costume, and so did the justice, and both helped the sober Irishman to look for his money, as may be supposed, all its value.

DEATH OF A PRINTER.—The Wilson Plaindealer makes this announcement. "It becomes our painful duty, to announce the death of Mr. Joseph D. Barbee. Mr. Barbee was a printer by occupation, and was, at the time he was taken sick, employed in this office. He was faithful and efficient in the discharge of his duty. He leaves a widowed mother and other near relatives, together with many friends to mourn his loss."

The Battleboro' Advance contains the following announcement of the death of Mr. E. G. Harris, brother of the Editor of the Advance: "Mr. E. G. Harris, a young Druggist of this place, breathed his last in Jones county, N. C., on Tuesday morning, the 22nd inst. He left here on Monday the 14th, on a short tour of recreation, intending to pass a few days with his brother who resides in Jones county, about twelve miles from Newberne, and after that to visit Morehead city and Beaufort. On Thursday, after reaching his brother's residence, he was attacked with Bilious Fever which seemed to be yielding to medical treatment until Monday afternoon about 6 o'clock, when he was taken with a Congestive Chills, which terminated fatally the next morning."

GREAT FALLS MANUFACTURING COMPANY.—The Observer, published at Rockingham, N. C., says one of the best appointed manufacturing establishments to be found in the entire South, is situated on Falling Creek, within the corporate limits of our town, and known by the name and style of "The Great Falls Manufacturing Company." A head of water of about forty feet elevation, affords the motive power, which, operating through an iron flume on a turbine wheel, enables the company to weave, except during a very dry season, from five to six thousand yards of sheeting daily, and supply the looms with all the necessary thread. The style of the goods made is not surpassed by the products of any mill in the country.

ROBESON COURT, THIS WEEK.—The Wilmington Star, of Friday last, says Sheriff McMillan, of Robeson county, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of taking charge of the prisoners, Pop Oxendine and Wm. Goins, now confined in our county jail, and conveying them to Lumberton, where they are to stand their trial before the Superior Court which meets in that place next week. Pop Oxendine, it will be remembered, is implicated in some of the outrages committed in Robeson and is believed to have had some connection with the Lowrey gang. Wm. Goins is the mulatto who shot and killed one of his own color, with whom he got into a difficulty at Seaford some months since, and was brought here for safe keeping.

RE-UNION OF THE PEOPLE.—On Saturday last there were two barbecues in this county—one at Pleasant Grove, the other at McCullers'. We learn that the best of fare and best of feeling prevailed at the latter place, where the crowd was large. Nothing of a political character was introduced. We had the good fortune to be present at Pleasant Grove, and estimate the number gathered together at that point at not less than four hundred. No politics—"plenty of the best the land affords," and served up in good style. We left at a reasonable hour, and received the congratulations of our entire community upon the great improvement in our personnel, the effects of our three hours' sojourn in the country. Some said we looked like an older man; others said we looked like a jolly butcher. Well, it is astonishing how a little recreation and a full stomach helps a printer!

ARE SUNDAY MARRIAGES ILLEGAL?—This is a question which has been gravely considered and discussed, recently, in a Northern State, and we think, by men learned in the law, decided in the affirmative. Property, the possession of which was claimed by right of marriage, introduced this question to the Courts, and as the marriage was performed on the Sabbath day, the contract was declared null and void, upon the ground, that contracts cannot be entered into on the day of rest. We look upon the decision as foolishly unjust, uncalled for, and unwarranted, and calculated to work an evil in society, among the discontented, resulting in the dissolution of many a household, in the locality where the decision is held as law. To our mind, Sunday is the most appropriate day, in the whole seven, for the celebration of the rites of matrimony. "Whom God hath joined together, let no man put asunder"—and "the Sabbath was made for man"—and, both men and women, when they enter the marriage state, believe they enter upon a state of bliss and happiness—and there could not be a better day chosen, for entering the realms of happiness, than the Lords' Day. We are an advocate for Sunday daying.

KINCHIE ANN EDWARDS, INTERVIEWED.—We learn from the Sentinel of the 26th inst., that its Editor voluntarily visited the State Pen one day last week, and while there interviewed that old thief and harlot, Kinchie Ann Edwards, who is serving out a term of two years as a reward for a life of low-down meanness, as ever falls to the lot of any human creature. The Sentinel says "she was very penitent, and declared that she would never cease a judge or other person if she could get out of that place." Kinchie never cursed the Judge when he was about to pass sentence on her. She was, however, a little independent, and when told by His Honor, that he would have to give her a good long time to reform in, and would send her for two years to the State prison, her only reply, was, "I'd as 'leaves go that as any where else."

Doleful Wreck of the K. K. K!

"A crazy, condemned and unsafe boat," With every timber and sail ashiver, Was seen, several nights ago, afloat On the winding stream of Old Salt River. The moon was down—the night was dark, And the weird wind blew with a ghostly shudder, As down the stream went this dismal bark, Without captain, pilot, crew or rudder. The figure-head lay on the dirty deck, ("Twas a horned sheepskin stuffed with hay.) And on the side of the rolling wreck Were the mystic letters K. K. K.

A black flag hung from the broken mast, And a rope with a loop at the end of it dangled From the starboard side. A few days past A man at the end of that rope was strangled. A history of this ship and its braves, Who sailed with the ebon flag and the throtle, And went to wreck in the briny waves, Was washed on shore in a whiskey bottle. The story is strange, though not so absurd As a certain clan would make it appear; And the manuscript was dim and blurred As if "bedewed with many a tear."

Thus runs the tale: "Our ship was made Of wood from the Isle of Democracy, And the pennant that from our top-mast played Bore the motto of 'Hypocrisy.'"

"Some of the timber was good, some bad, But we had to take what we could get; We found no Love for the work we had; But the word was 'work,' and we had to sweat."

"And if we seemed weary or fagged a bit, Our captain would eye us all with scrutiny; He would leave his chair, go into a fit—Call us untrustworthy—say we would mutiny!"

"The first ship we built at the dock yard lies, The Admiral said it would never do; Our captain, sailor-like, damned his eyes, And, strangely enough, damned Toddy too."

But by and by the work was done, And a stronger ship was on the lee;— With War in our hearts and a 'long Tom' gun, We were rigged and ready to go to sea.

"We were told that we couldn't weather a gale; We answered, 'a Sparrow the Lord protects— We only want Justice, and if we fall, 'Twill be more than the least of the crew expects'!"

"Said our Captain, 'we must have a name For this gallant vessel.' And every man Sang out in chorus, with wild acclaim, 'Ho! Captain! we'll call her the Ku Klux Klan!"

"A very good name," the Captain said, "And one that I learnt some time ago. 'That ship is a good one, keel and head, 'And her white side sails will make a show.'"

"So we manned our ship; and the crew we had Was as good as any that ever sailed, But, somehow or other, it turned out bad, And the fondest hope of the voyage failed."

"We had not sailed far when a cloud came down, And poured on us lightning and fury and thunder; But Twenty declared we would never drown, And each Merry man said we couldn't blunder."

"We were going to capture Republican Fort; We had sworn to demolish and lay it in dust; We were promised that when we got back to port, We should all eat honey instead of crust."

"But the storm raged on, and we heard of friends, Who were wishing us no good luck at sea! The Captain swore he would gain his ends; 'If I don't I'm a perjured man,' says he!"

"The storm raged on; our timbers creaked; Said the Captain, 'we are giving away, 'Where's Virtuous Jimmy, the mate, he shrieked, 'Call Virtuous Jimmy, and ask him to pray.'"

"And the boatswain piped for the second mate, And begged him to try to quell the strife, Said Virtuous Jimmy, scratching his pate, 'I'd if I ever prayed in my life.'"

"Where's Graham, the castle man," he shouted, "Call Graham quickly—call him my hearty, 'He's down below,' said a voice full of grief, 'Gabbing about a White Man's Party.'"

"Where's Buttermilk Jo?—he's pious and bold," Said the Captain, dodging about like a mouse; The Steward answered 'He's down in the hold, Flirting with Engineer Abby House!'"

"The storm raged on, putting all in peril, Hurling our ship over billow and trench, When up the ropes ran chief-piper Merrill, To furl the sails with a monkey wrench."

"You huth your mouth Thow—I'll thave thith crowd— You think you're thmart 'cauth you've read thome law! 'Who's gabbing so glib?' roared the Captain aloud; 'Thithly me, thir,' answered Jaw Jaw Jaw."

"The storm allayed; but the ropes gave way, And the hull began to tremble and crack, And our ship stood still, like a crab at bay, Or a big mud turtle thrown on its back;

"When suddenly up sprang a spanking "Good luck!" cried our Captain, 'and thanks to the giver! 'Ho 'kneys!' roared the pilot, smiting his 'kneys; 'This wind is driving ush up Salt River!'"

"Ah, Lord," wept Hesper, 'my poetic pen Is ransking now in my inmost soul— I feel that we're like the three wise men That started for China in a bow!"

Thus ended the tale of the doleful wreck Of the ship with the ebon flag and the throtle— Writ by the swabber of the deck, And washed on shore in a whiskey bottle.

We are not surprised to hear our contemporary of the Newbern Times asking that simple justice, according to the evidence, be meted out to the Ku Klux who are to be tried in this city next month. So, will every lover of law and order say. Only those who fear justice talk and write against the efforts being made to restore the good name, in a measure gone, to the State.

Who asks for the blood of the innocent? Not the law—not the loyal people. No; we would rather let go a score of guilty ones, than knowingly punish an innocent man.

But the time is at hand. The race has been a wild and a desperate one. Here, the chase after the poor black and the loyal white man must terminate, and the Constitution which was adopted as a part of the bargain to the restoration of our State to her place in the Union, must and shall be respected. The rights, religious and political, of all, "without regard to race or previous condition" shall be protected. If men, high in social position, have violated the fundamental law of the land, they must suffer, nevertheless. When it is made plain that neither money or high social position will screen a man from punishment, where it is deserved, then we may look for peace. That time, is fast approaching.

A Special Court has been ordered for Wayne county, to commence September 18.

QUESTIONS.—Did the keeper of the Capitol discharge a colored man from his employ for voting against Convention?

IMPORTANT SALE OF CITY PROPERTY.

Pursuant to a decree made in the Court of Probate of Wake county, approved by his Honor, the Judge of the Sixth Judicial District, in a case wherein Jas. W. Buck, Esq., & others, plaintiffs, and John T. Williamson & others, are defendants, I shall proceed, on Thursday, the 7th day of September next, at the Court House door, in the City of Raleigh, to sell, at public auction, that valuable lot in the City of Raleigh, known as the 'Williamson Lot.'

Said lot is situated in the Eastern Ward, on the South side of Davis Street, near the Methodist Chapel, and contains two and a half acres, more or less. It will be sold in one or more parcels to suit purchasers. There is on it a good dwelling house, with all the necessary outbuildings. Those desiring to purchase will do well to examine the premises to those who desire to bid. The title is unquestioned.

Terms made known on day of sale. JAMES W. BUCK, Executor of the Estate of Mary Williamson, deceased. Raleigh, Aug. 17, 1871.

SALE OF VALUABLE TIMBERED LANDS!

On Monday, the 2nd day of October, being the first day of Martin Court, we will offer at public sale, at the Court House door, in the town of Williamston, that valuable tract of timbered land lying between Concho Creek and Roanoke River, the property of the late Thos. D. Devereux, containing about one thousand acres. One reserve bid will be held by us. Terms made known on the day of sale.

WM. J. HAWKINS, and WALTER CLARK, Auctioneers, &c. August 16, 1871.

VALUABLE CITY RESIDENCE!

For sale, one of the most eligible residences in the City of Raleigh. The undersigned is authorized to sell privately, on easy terms, the dwelling house and lot on the North East corner of Wilmington and Edenton streets, adjacent to the Capitol square, and North of the Episcopal Church, known as the "Sherwood" lot.

WM. E. ANDERSON, Citizens' National Bank. Raleigh, Aug. 19, 1871.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE!

A house and lot, containing two acres, on Halifax street, now occupied by Rev. Dr. Mason. Terms easy. This is very valuable property. Apply to KEMP P. BATTLE, JOS. B. BATCHELOR, or WM. E. ANDERSON. Raleigh, Aug. 22, 1871.

TAX NOTICE!

The Tax list for the year 1871 having been placed in my hands for collection, I will be at my office, from day to day, until further notice, for the purpose of collecting the same. T. F. LEE, Sheriff. August 16, 1871.

WILTBERGER'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS

WILTBERGER'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS are warranted equal to any made. They are prepared from the fruits, and will be found much better than many of the Extracts that are sold. Ask your Grocer or Druggist for Wiltberger's Extracts. BARLOW'S INDIGO BLUE is without doubt, the best article in the market for blueing clothes. It will color more water than four times the same weight of indigo, and much more than any other wash blue in the market. The only genuine one that put up at WILTBERGER'S DRUG STORE, No. 23 North Second St., Philadelphia, Pa. The Labels have both Wiltberger's and Barlow's name on them; all others are counterfeit. For sale by most Grocers and Druggists. aug. 19—mwtwiv.

Harper's Bazar. A supplement containing numerous full-sized patterns of useful articles accompanies the paper every fortnight. HARPER'S BAZAR contains 16 folio pages of the size of HARPER'S WEEKLY, printed on superfine calendered paper, and is published weekly.

Notices of the Press. HARPER'S BAZAR contains, besides pictures, etc. a variety of matter of especial use and interest to the family; articles on health, dress, and housekeeping in all its branches; its editorial matter is specially adapted to the circle it is intended to interest and instruct; and it has, besides, good stories and literary matter of merit. It is not surprising that the journal, with such features, has achieved in a short time an immense success; for something of its kind was desired in thousands of families, and its publishers have filled the demand. The young lady who buys a single number of HARPER'S BAZAR has made a subscriber for life.—New York Evening Post.

The BAZAR is excellent. Like all the periodicals which the Harpers publish, it is almost ideally well edited, and the class of readers for whom it is intended—the mothers and daughters in average families—can not but profit by its good sense and good taste, which, we have no doubt, are to-day making very many homes happier than they may have been before the women began taking lessons in personal and household and social management, from this good-natured mentor.—The Nation, N. Y.
