Tennessee cavalry, to charge into the When at the supper table Mrs. Williams again said that the General and her son, and Captain Gassett should return to their encampment. Miss N. N. Scott, at the time a member of the household, said laughingly, to Mrs. at the stable, where General Morgan's Williams, that if she persisted in asking the gentlemen to leave they might question the genuineness of her hospitality. Mrs. Williams replied that found the streets on all sides filled with General Morgan and her son were in great danger; that General Gillem, while attempting to escape through the with a strong force, was at Bull's Gap, eighteen miles distant; that General Morgan and her son were recognized by many persons when they rode through the village, and that the place might be assailed at any moment. Morgan laughed at the suggestion, and at an early hour retired. He occupied Mrs. Williams' lot, Sergeant Campbell a large apartment with Captain Bassett, above stairs. Just after sunrise Morgan was aroused by Major Wil-4iams, who informed him that the federal forces were in the village, and that they must fly for their lives. Williams had incurred the deadly enmity of one or two men of influence that belonged to the federal militia organized in that vicinity, and was resolved not to be captured.

weak, and requi ing strength and support. It is in condition like this that Schenck's Sole Agents for the States of Virginia, North Seaweed Tonic proves to be the most valuable remedy ever discovered. It is alkaline, and its use will neutralize all excess of acid, making the stomach sweet and fresh; it will give permanent tone to this important organ, and create a good hearty appetite, and prepare the system for the first process of a good digestion, and ultimately make good, healthy, living blood. After this preparatory treatment, what remains to cure most cases of Consumption is the free and persevering use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup. The Pulmonic Syrup nourishes the sys-tem, purifies the blood, and is readily absorbed into the circulation, and thence distributed to the diseased lungs. There it ripens all morbid matters, whether in the form of abscesses or tubercles, and then assists Nature to expel all the diseased matter, in the form of free expectoration, when once it ripens. It is then, by the great heal-ing and purifying properties of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, that all ulcers and cavities are healed up sound, and my patient is cured. The essential thing to be done in curing Consumption is to get up a good appetite and a good digestion, so that the body will grow in flesh and get strong. If a person has diseased lungs,—a cavity or abscess there,—the cavity cannot heal, the matter cannot ripen, so long as the system is below par. What is neccessary to cure is a new trition, the body to grow in flesh and get fat; then Nature is helped, the cavities will heal, the matter will ripen and be thrown off in large quantities, and the person regain health and strength. This is the true and only plan to cure Consumption, and if a person is very bad, if the lungs are not entirely destroyed, or even if one lung is entirely gone, if there is enough vitality left in the other to heal up, there is hope.

I have seen many persons cured with only one sound lung, live and enjoy life to a the system of all the disease that is in the lungs, whatever the form may be.

It is important that while using Schenck's shine.

I wish it distinctly understood that when I recommend a patient to be careful in regard to taking cold, while using my medicines. I do so for a special reason. A man N. Y. who has but partially recovered from the effects of a bad cold is far more liable to a relapse than one who has been entirely cured; and it is precisely the same in regard to Consumption. So long as the lungs are not perfectly healed, just so long is there imminent danger of a full return of the disease. Hence it is that I so strenuously caution pulmonary patients against exposing themselves to an atmosphere that is not genial and pleasant. Confirmed Consumptives' lung, are a mass of sores, which the least change
