rouble anybody.

One of the Outlaws turns up Again: - We learn from The Robesonian that Stephen Lowrey attended a Justices' Court at Union Chappel Church, in Burnt Swamp Township, Robeson county, on Saturday last and spent the day witnessing a trial in which two white citizens were concerned. There were on the ground about fifty or sixty mulattoes and half a dozen whites. The outlaw carried in his hands a Spencer and unless they renew, after receiving rifle and wore in his belt around him papers, with a cross mark, their papers several large pistols. He seemed perfeetly at ease during the trial, at the sabscribers wishing their papers close of which he invited some memared, will please state the office from as bers of the bar and others to join him in a glass of sweet cider, there being a barrel on the ground. Subsequently he requested a private interview with Col. W. Foster French, one of the counsel in the case before the Court, when he proposed to purchase a small track of land, belonging to Col. F., in the Scuffletown region. The Colonel informed him that he could have no transactions with an outlaw, when Lowrey said he expected as much, but he thought there would be no harm in making the proposal. He evinced considerable feeling when informed of the reported capture of George Applewhite, in Georgia.

> Halifax Court,-The Roanoke News says the regular term of Court commenced in Halifax on Monday, Judge Watts presiding. We did not hear the Judge's charge to the Grand Jury, but learn that he evinced a disposition to deal, fairly, impartially, and within the limits of the law, with all offenders against the peace.

> The State docket is very full, sufficient, it is thought, to take up the whole term, which will make it necessary to order a special term for the civil docket, which is also very large.

Anti-Horse-Thief Society .- A society to arrest horse-thieves has been organized in the West, which operates in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri. It has eat efforts have been made to make fifty-six tributary societies, and 2,000 members. Only two horses belonging to members have been stolen during the recovered, and the thieves arrested and handed over to the law.—Exchange.

There has been a similar society in existence in this county for upwards of fifty years, and is in operation at this time. In almost every case of theft from the members, the property, has been recovered; and several cases where horses were stolen from the non-members, although every exertion was made, the rogues generally escaped with the property. This coincidence in both these organizations is singular. - Salem

LOSSES MUCH HEAVIER AC CORDING TO LATEST ACCOUNTS.

Beston, Mass., Nov. 10-An alarm of fire was sounded about 71 o'clock last night, followed by other alarms in rapid succession. The first engine had hardly reached the ground when the flames bursted from the fourth story of the store corner of Summer and Kingston streets, occupied as a wholesale dry goods establishment. The fire origin: ted in the engine room, the flames following the elevator, and was first seen far as Lindell and Central streets, and under the roof. The buildings in the from Milk to Summer on Washington vicinity were four-story granite Man-

The flames soon reached the Mansard roofs on the opposite side, far beyond the reach of the engines. In thirty minutes the whole city in one direction was at the mercy of the flames, which leaped from roof to roof. One great dry goods house after another succumbed, the year, and in both cases the horses were granite walls falling in the streets and making them impassable. The engines were driven back from station to station. Granite blocks weighing many tons were split in fragments and hurled across the streets. LATER-Sunday morning 10 o'clock. -Buildings were blown up on Lindell and Congress streets to check the flames.

Beebee's block, on Winthrop square, the finest business structure in the country, is burned. Stewart's rooms, in same building, only fed the flames .-Pieces of dry goods went whistling across the square, firing stores on Devonshire street. Every building was soon heated to the verge of spontaneous combustion, and caught like tinder .-Deafening explosions are constantly heard. The tenement houses on the upper end of Federal street, occupied by the Irish laboring classes, are now on fire, and crazed women are rushing to and fro with clocks and bedding in their

The wool houses in Federal street eaught next. They were crammed from cellar to garret. The paper houses came next. The Freeman's National and Bank of North America have been burned. Several insurance companies must succumb.

Three square miles of property have been burned up to this time. 11 o'CLOCK SUNDAY MORNING.-The Post Office, with most of Congress street, will undoubtedly go. The fire has reached dimensions that simply defy description. The people find themselves in danger of their lives. The loss of houses and property is now searcely thought of. The people are retiring before the flames toward Trement and Court streets, where it is thought the fire will be unable to reach, but a heavy gale is blowing which seems to have no positive directions. It is probable that Fanuel Hall and Quincey Market will go. The Western Union Telegraph office was abandoned at 82 o'clock. The fire is still raging with unhabated fury.

WASHINGTON, 12 o'clock .- Reports are contradictory. Governor Boutwell has dispatches from Providence depot that the fire is under control.

Boston, 12 o'clock .- In the city telegraph offices have been abandoned, but the dispatches go by round about routes without interruption.

WASHINGTON, 1 o'clock.-Special dispatches say that State street, occupied by brokers and bankers, and the Parker House have been saved. The Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, Damrell, has been killed by the falling of a wall.

Five miles of the streets have been burned. The gale is increasing, but the fire seems somewhat subsided.

Boston, 1:30 o'clock .- It is now confidently believed that the fire is under control. The losses, if no more buildings are burned, will not fall short of $200,000,000.

The burnt district is bounded by Summer, Federal, Broad, Central, Water, Washington and Bedford streets. BOSTON, 3 P. M .- The old South Church is saved. The Transcript office is destroyed. The Post office is badly damaged. WASHINGTON, 6 P. M.-Three chief financial officers have been sent to Boston to look after the National Banks and the Sub Treasury. Private dispatches from Boston say that the fire has broken out afresh and has crossed State street. [The burning of this street will occasion a very heavy loss, as it is the Wall street of Boston .-Boston, 6 P. M .- Places for custody of thieves overwhelmed. They are only arrested to be discharged. The residences of the Fort Hill section are destroyed, including Gridly, High and Broad streets, rendering hundreds of families homeless. A portion of the walls of Trinity Church are left horse disease is believed to have passed standing. [This would indicate that its worst stage here. fronts on Tremont, opposite the Commons.—En.] WASHINGTON, 6.30 P. M.—Boutwell has received a dispatch that the Post Office and Sub-Treasury was burning. The mails are safe. Fannill Hall is being used as a Post Office. WASHINGTON, 7 P. M .- There is no confirmation that the fire has reached State street. It is hoped that the dispatch to Boutwell alludes to the new Post Office on Devonshire street, [As the Sub-Treasury is located in the old Post Office on State street, if this has been burned, there remains no doubt of the street having been destroyed with it.-ED.]

Boston, Nov. 10, 9 P. M.-Among the burned are Owen, Brown, Sleeper, Fisk & Co., Stephenson Bros., D. P. Ives & Co., Despeaux, Blake & Co., A. D. Williamson & Co., Rice, Kendall & Co., paper dealers. The material of The Transcript was put in the cellar and some of it may be saved. The walls of The Post will probably stand.

The conflagration was checked at one o'clock, after fifteen hours havoc, and after having destroyed hundreds of the costliest buildings in the country, and having temporarily paralized the shoe and leather, wool and dry goods trades. Not one wholesale shoe and leather establishment left. The Wool houses suffered in like manner, and the dry goods jobbing houses are few and far between. The ninth Regiment, with detachments from other Regiments, are on duty, protecting the property.

Massachusetts. Boston, Nov. 11.-General boundaries of the conflagration are: The whole length and both sides of Sumner street, across Federal and nearly down to Drake's Wharf, and thence on nearly a direct line to Fort Hill, along Hamilton and Battery march to Kelby street, as street. Within these boundaries an area of about seventy acres. Every building is consumed.

LATER .- At two o'clock this morning a gas explosion started a fire which crossed Washington street to Ward Temple place. The block corner on Washington and Sumner is doomed.

SIX A. M .- The fire is under control: being kept in the block between Sumner and Aaron streets. A Fireman has just fallen off top of a building on Sum-

Gas was only shut off from a portion of the city. Perfect order was maintained. In three streets there were explosions of gas at half-past 3 o'clock. The people are beginning to be relieved of the terrible excitement of the uncertainty regarding the spread of the fire.

Boston, Nov. 11.-New fire subdued. Jordan & Marsh's Store saved. Camp Home burned.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 .- The Secretary of the Treasury received this morning a telegram from the Merchants Bank of Boston saying there is no reason for a panic if the Banks stand firm. The loss is large but generally falls upon persons who are able to bear it.

Another telegram to the Secretary from New York this morning says the disposition to create a panic is abated; and the writer gratuitously suggests that there is no need for the Secretary to do anything financially.
