WEEKLY ERA.

THURSDAY, JAN. 9, 1873.

The New Cabinet. According to custom, the present members of President Grant's Cabinet will all tender their resignations on the 4th of March, and enough of these ministers will retire, from choice, to warrant the assertion that the President will thoroughly reconstruct his Cabinet. It is already known, that, as a recognition of the claims of the South, one or more Southern statesmen will occupy places in the new Cabinet, and recognizing North Carolina for her success in reconstruction, and the glorious victory of last August, whereby the Liberal scales were turned, and a Republican triumph over the nation made easy, our State is to be honored HOTEL with a Cabinet portfolio.

The name of Hon. Thomas Settle has been prominently associated with a Cabinet position. Nothing would more gratify the Republicans of North Carolina than-an appointment of this name and nature. While neither the immediate and hasty publication of these Counties, friends of Judge Settle nor the Republicans of the State generally would willingly see the claims of Senator Pool ignored before the President, the desire on the part mention made in these columns, will of the Republicans of North Carolina to see Judge Settle promoted is data, that the most may be said of the Boon and Son, blacksmiths and universal among them, and any honor the President can confer on sions and property of North Carolina either or both of these favorites will that can be said, as it is the desire and be gratifying to the North Carolina the determination of the Era to thus heart.
