THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1873.

For the Working-men.

Two columns of space in The Weekly Era is hereby tendered to the Mechanics and Working-men of Raleigh, to be at their disposal for any matter they may wish to publish not of a partisan character.

A whole page of The Daily Era will be at the service of the Mechanics and Working-men of Raleigh and the State next Winter, free of all charge or expense to them whatever.

Election in August.

On Thursday the 7th day of August, 1873, a general election will be held in all the counties and townships of North Carolina on the Constitutional Amendment...

SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS worth of stock in the Western North Carolina Railroad sold for Two Dollars and Ten Cents in Statesville last Saturday.

ONE of the wants of this, and every other community, is a Banking institution that can lend money on real estate.

It is the opinion of a good many gentlemen, including some eminent lawyers that a Superintendent of Public Instruction is required to be voted for at the election in August.

It may not have been generally observed, but the Constitution of North Carolina is so worded that the Governor cannot absent himself from the State without vacating his office, for the time-being, into the hands of the Lieutenant Governor.

Speech of Colonel Alken, last week, but confirms the opinion of the Era that the organization of "Farmers' Granges" is a good and proper thing for the agricultural interests; and he sustains the declaration of the Era that the movement aims at no more political significance than might properly be given to the Church or the Masonic fraternity.

GEN. H. SNOW, Esq., has resigned the Chairmanship of the Democratic Executive Committee for Wake county, and announced his intention in all this to run as an independent candidate for the vacant seat in the House of Representatives.

ONE of the aims, objects and prospective advantages, and good results of the "Farmers' Granges" is to get the Farming interests out of the grasp of the money Banks, and to make the耕者 the Farmer at prices ranging from twelve to forty-eight per cent. interest. Let these "Farmers' Granges" and "Patrons of Husbandry" establish Banks of their own.

The Wilmington and Weldon Railroad is doing an immense and increasing business under its present excellent management. President Bridges and Superintendent Diviner find no time to indulge the ordinary courtesies of replying to letters on business of importance.

It is given out that the injunction case out in the name of the State of North Carolina by Yankee Robinson, of Philadelphia, against the Richmond and Danville Railroad, restraining change of gauge in the North Carolina Central, will be argued before the Supreme Court this week.

Re-organization of the Fourth Regiment on a Peace Basis.

It is in contemplation to re-organize the Fourth Regiment of North Carolina State Troops on a peace basis.

The Editor of the Era was an original member of that band of Southern brothers, and the idea meets with his approbation.

They were brave, honest, manly men who went out to do battle for the South in 1861, and had the advantage of matters, between the North and South, been left to the soldiers of both sides in 1865, the bitter sectional feeling since produced by non-combatants, North and South, had not existed.

Of the right or wrong of secession it is no longer necessary to speak. The question was settled by the Confederate soldiers leaving the field, and returning to their homes. A new era had dawned. The political situation had changed. The South, prostrate and devastated by the war, called upon her living sons to assist her recuperation.

The wonder is that we have done so well. The late slave has been liberated and advanced for citizenship, and without any general conflict, the two races are peacefully reunited, and the material restoration of the South is going on.

It only remains for all the people of the South to leave the past completely behind them. This the Confederate soldiers can afford to do, what many of them have done, and what they all should do. That such a result would follow a reunion of old Companies and Commands it is safe to predict.

The old Virginia Companies have lately re-organized, and with good results. They took part in the last inaugural ceremony of the President, and it was said that, when he passed in front of the men who confronted him in 1864 in Virginia, he raised his hat in recognition of the gallantry of those who had been his enemies in war, but who, in peace, were his friends.

The government of the United States has had nothing to fear from the Confederate soldiers since 1865. Blood-thirsty stay-at-homes did attempt to instill a sentiment of perpetual hatred and opposition to the government in the minds of the returned soldiers, but their success was as poor as the wages they received. Left to themselves the soldiers of the South are neither the enemies of the government, the colored race nor the peace of the country. And that they propose to think and act for themselves is evidenced in their purpose of a re-union.

More politics it is understood is to be ignored. The purpose is fraternal peace and the fraternal peace of the South can be secured, to do something for the care, protection and education of the orphans of their deceased comrades, and complete the restoration of good feeling between all sections of our country, every true man should, in ploughman's phrase, God bid them speed!

In this connection the Editor of the Era acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to be present at a "Survivors' Meeting" at Statesville on the 4th day of July, to meet a portion of his old comrades of the 4th Regiment, and among others, General Bryan Grimes, their first Major.

The day chosen is appropriate for a meeting of patriotic aims and objects, and its selection an acknowledgment that the sentiments of those calling the Statesville meeting are not now hostile to the government of the United States, or inimical to the peace and perpetuity of the Union.

"Peerless Beauford." During the Confederate War the Richmond Estimator, which was not in existence at that time, in a moment of ecstasy at some brilliant achievement of the gallant Louisianian, gave him the superlative and merited appellation of "the Peerless Beauford."

"Peerless Beauford" has signed an address endorsing Republican Principles. Now look out for General Beauford's new Fort Sumpter, when Charleston was evacuated, by treachery—a companion piece to his Longstreet triumph!—Fugateite Statesman.

Precisely so. The peerless, incomparable, unapproachable Beauford is already denounced by the Democratic press of the South. For his action in the New Orleans resolutions, he is already as "odious" and "infamous" as Longstreet.

The Republican party is ready to receive any and all Confederate soldiers. There was good work in the peerless Beauford at Bull Run, Manassas. There is nothing in the fact in the played out politicians there. There is nothing in them now. They are capable of denouncing Longstreet and Beauford. They are only fit for such business. It is their peculiar province of usefulness.

The "Straight-Out" Sealwags who Would not "Greely." The Winston Republican puts it thus: Those Democratic papers which denounced Greely, after this fashion:—An exchange says it is wonderful to see how some of the Conservative papers who heaped such abuse on every one who wavered in their opinion, during their pro-Confederate days, are now so ready to repent of their former conduct. They grow in spirit at their own sad plight, and are seeking to make light of all the severe cutting things they said about Mr. "Straight-Out" gentlemen, if you don't do. You called those people traitors, apostates, sealwags, and everything your bitter brains could think of—that is, all of them that you dashed through such a lot.

Those people now repeat, "not for Greely or any one who favored Greely." Their votes are going to be cast for those who will save the country from the Zulus. Your chickens are coming home to roost.

Working-Women.

The Era in striking for the rights of the Mechanic and Working-men, is also the friend and advocate of the rights of the working-women.

Republican party is the only political organization that ever gave the women of North Carolina the protection of the law and a guarantee of their rights. It must take another step in advance, and in its political economy, secure for the working-women of the State the same wages for the same amount of labor, that men receive.

For instance:—All manufacturing enterprises already established, or that may hereafter be put in operation, employing female labor, at a reasonable compensation, shall be exempt from State, county or municipal taxation.

Let it be so. As the special friend and champion of the poor man and the laborer, the duty of the Republican party is plain before it in this emergency.

There will be no default or flinching. The Republicans of North Carolina will come boldly up to the support and defence of these working-men.

The law will be maintained and upheld in this and every other instance. But in connection with the word, the word will stand alone, unaided and unsupported, in North Carolina, while there are Republicans to move to its support.

Election for a Superintendent of Public Instruction. A correspondent in the Era sounds the "toesin" of wag on the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The position of this correspondent is very cleverly taken, and it is held by some of the best law authority in the State that an election should be had this year.

Constitutional Amendments. The Era holds that, under the decision of the Supreme Court last Winter, Professor McVie holds the office for life, or until he resigns.

The University is broken down by the ruinous and destructive policy of the democratic party and the war. Every body knows that the University is still in the hands of a corrupt party, and that the Republic party has been the main cause of the failure of the University, and the misfortunes which have befallen it.

Every body knows that the University is still in the hands of a corrupt party, and that the Republic party has been the main cause of the failure of the University, and the misfortunes which have befallen it.

It is an undeniable fact that the University, as well as the Free Schools of North Carolina, were destroyed by the destructive policy of the Democratic party.

Does the Election for Superintendent of Public Instruction come off on the 1st Thursday in August, 1873?

To the Editor of the Era.—Will you do me the favor to answer the question that heads this article? I am of the decided opinion, from my reading of the Constitution, that it is the duty of the Sheriffs in all the counties to give notice of the election for Superintendent of Public Instruction.
