GOOD OPINION.—Judge Bond of the U. S. Court thinks that North Carolina will eventually be the Empire State of the South.

REJOICINGS.—On Friday evening several of the celebrities of the victorious party held a carnival. They had fought a good fight and won it, and so it was a celebration. So it was.

JOURNALISM.—The Torchlight is a little newspaper published weekly at Flat River by W. A. Davis, a sixteen year old boy. It's appearance speaks well for the young gentleman's ability and augurs well for his future career if he improves with his years.

PLANTATION FOR SALE.—By an advertisement in another column will be seen that the plantation of Mrs. Virginia Atkinson, near Marlboro, Pitt county, is for sale. The plantation is a very valuable one and has all the conveniences necessary for the successful working of the land. The land itself is of excellent quality. It is being offered for sale simply because the lady desires to avail herself of a more congenial mode of life.

LOUISVILLE MEDICAL COLLEGE.—The poor young men of this community who are desirous of obtaining an education in the profession of Medicine and Surgery will be pleased to learn, that there are several scholarships at the Louisville Medical College. By availing themselves of these they can obtain their professional education free of expense. Such other particulars as they may need to know can be obtained by addressing "E. S. Gardner, Dean of the Faculty, Louisville Medical College, Louisville, Kentucky."

WHITE SERVANTS FROM THE NORTH.—A new feature in the Intelligence Bureau of Mr. A. G. Bennett, Jr., is the contemplated introduction of Northern servants to this city and vicinity. Many residents in this part of the State are anxious to secure white servants and have induced Mr. Bennett to send to New York and other of the large Northern cities for such help as they need. The new feature is a good one and will meet with much commendation from many of our people. Parties who desire to avail themselves of the new servants, some of whom will soon be on their way hither, by applying to Mr. Bennett's office, corner of Davis and Blount streets and registering their names will be enabled to fill speedily such vacancies as exist in their domestic departments.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER AN OFFICER.—At the depot on Sunday a number of colored men were drunk and disorderly and a lady lying sick in the vicinity, an officer was sent for to quell the disturbance. Robert Crosson visited the place and finding the men so unruly he ordered them to move away. Instead of obeying he was assailed with abusive epithets and an attempt made to drive him off. He arrested the most forward of the gang, Tom Foley, when the rest rushed on him and commenced a savage assault. Crosson defended himself bravely and in detail managed to beat off the crowd and arrested the defendants. Foley however drew a knife and stabbed the officer in the back. The point of the knife turning on his shoulder, five of the men were locked up and had a hearing on Monday morning. They were held to bail in $200 for Foley, and $150 each for the others.

THE CHAMPION CHILD.—The taste of a majority of the sensation-loving public undoubtedly runs toward prodigies, and infant prodigies particularly. The champion child of this city is present in the possession of his father, Mr. John Godwin of Wilmington street. It is three years old, weighs 65 pounds and answers to the name of "Jimmie." The feat performed by this child is novel, effective and startling. In the high, in the degree, and instructed on a Metcalf and the child would be seized upon as being ungodly daring and dangerous, if not so graceful, as the shooting into the air of the intrepid Lulu, of world-wide gymnastic fame. Lulu is shot twenty-five feet up into air in a full glare of light; the infant "Jimmie" drops downward thirty-one and a half feet into "Plutonian Shadows" six feet six inches better, and a dash into darkness that few athletes would attempt. The infant "Jimmie" stands on the edge of a well thirty-one and a half feet deep from ground surface to water surface, and with six feet further to solid rock. The well is three feet in diameter, and to heighten the effect is lined with sharp cornered rocks. The child stands on the ground, and after a little infantile prattle, throws its hat into the depth, in childish imitation of the pugilistic challenge, and then dives boldly down striking the water with the crown of its head. It remains in the water from five to ten minutes, and is then drawn out by the nape of its neck, by the lightest gentleman in the vicinity who will trust himself in the water bucket. To preserve "the unities of the drama" Jimmie cries when rescued, and remains apparently unwell for an hour, but recovering is ready for a repetition of the feat within a day. On Friday at 12, m., but the audience having gone home with a bucket of water the performer was reduced to strangulation, an unpleasant termination which the manager of the family promises shall not occur again.

DESERVING OF COMMENDATION.—Officer Robert Crosson deserves praise for his courage and energy in dealing with the crowds of young roughs, who infest portions of the city. In the miniature mob of Sunday last, elsewhere alluded to, the officer named conducted himself with pluck and discretion. The lawlessness of the young men who lounge about on Sunday's in a state of semi-inebriation, can only be checked by a discreet and courageous bearing on the part of the officers of the law, and the officers who are energetic enough to do their duty should and will receive the support of good citizens.

R. F. JONES & CO.—Attention is called to the advertisement of R. F. Jones & Co., Commission Merchants, Cotton Factors, and Wholesale Grocers, of this city. The members of this firm are enterprising business men and give satisfaction in their dealings. They are building up a business, which being conducted as it has commenced, cannot fail of attaining a magnitude which will do credit to the city. The public are advised to patronize the firm being assured that they will be liberally and honorably dealt with. The store of R. F. Jones & Co., is on Wilmington street near Metropolitan Hall.

The Raleigh Sentinel is now supporting an independent candidate, ("Independent") just to get radical votes for the legislature; and he is a clever young lawyer in Raleigh named Mr. G. Snow. The republican running against him is the most deserving young printer in Raleigh, named Gilbert. Gilbert has been used to standing with his lips closed at the case in a printing office, one third more brain in his head than the Honorable Messieurs 80-8-80 who sit around the table backslapping each other and he does nothing but stick his type, and at the end of the week give part of his wages to the poor wretches who haven't the money to buy a pone of bread. This is the man he is, every printer who has ever worked with him will attest. We shall see which of these two men Providence will have the people to favor with legislative honors.—Milton Chronicle.

The Wynne-Lee-Brown Controversy—Further Developments.—The Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners has Another Say.—To the Tax-Payers of Wake County.

It is with reluctance that I again make a plea for the county and the purpose of noticing some of the things contained in the communication of Sheriff Lee, appearing in your paper is, to call attention to the mis-statement of a few things of much importance, which Sheriff Lee did not mention, nor ever yet has mentioned or explained. This controversy, if controversy it is, is not of my seeking, and I have no desire to have it. I have said to the people to look out for themselves, and I have said to the people to look out for themselves, and I have said to the people to look out for themselves.

MILTON.—The Milton Chronicle wants to know if there is a clause in the town incorporation act compelling the town commissioners to make an annual exhibition of the taxes, and if not, to enter by the worthless curs of the town.—The Chronicle has a new name for Parson Brownlow; he is a "leprous scab."

NEW HANOVER.—Gen. R. E. Colston, formerly of the Confederate Army, has returned to his home in the Kingdom of the Khedive of Egypt, is a correspondent of the Wilmington Journal.
