Strange Story from Cape May—
A Long Lost Son Returns.

A special dispatch to the Philadelphia Bulletin from Cape May city, October 23d, says:—
About twenty years ago Captain Baymore, lying with his vessel in the port of New Orleans, had with him his little son, three years of age, who, while playing around the docks, was suddenly missed. Every effort was used to find him, even to searching in the river, but all was unavailing, and he was given up as drowned. A day or two ago a stranger, with a heavy black beard, and language of strong German accent, made his appearance and claimed to be the long lost son. From his story it seems that he was stolen by a Dutch captain, who cared for him and educated him as his own.

The boy always supposed that he was his father until otherwise informed by the Dutch skipper on his death-bed, who gave him his real father's name and told him that he used to live somewhere in Cape May county, N. J. His search here was rewarded by the finding of his father still alive and a resident of his former home; but, strange to say, his father refused to own him, his belief being so firm that his boy was drowned. The son had with him the newspaper containing the advertisement for his body which the Dutchman had preserved. It is said that the young man is in good circumstances, and he started on his return to his present home, which is in Mexico.

To Clean Preserve Jars.

Sweetmeat jars or bottles may be cleaned without scraping them, by pouring in the jars hot water and a teaspoonful or two of pearlash. The contents which remain sticking to the sides and bottom of the jar will be disengaged by the pearlash and float loose in the water. Wash kettles in the same way or other vessels which you wish to purify or clear from grease. Strong lye poured off clear from good hickory ashes will answer nearly as well for the same purpose, and for kegs, buckets and other large cooking utensils, lye from good ashes may always be used.—Ohio Farmer.

Forests of the Sea.

The sea has not only its mountains, its fountains, and streams, its forests with their peculiar plants, their splendor of color, their lovely flower gardens and extended prairies; it has its landscapes, that are more splendid and fairy-like than any that are to be seen on the earth. Let us take the sea fire garden for example. It grows in such a beautiful form, and its colors are so lovely, that those who have seen it growing out under the water say that it surpasses their powers of description.

The fire gardens at the bottom of the sea stretch over the prairies of the sea, and climb up the mountain sides. They are covered over with the beautiful gold-colored coral moss. Its leaves wave to and fro with the currents of the water, and the long branches are agitated sometimes with the great storms that pervade the bottom as well as the surface of the seas. The largest forest in the world is in the Sea of Saragossa, between the Azores and Antilles, and is six times larger than Germany; so that Columbus needed fourteen days to sail over it.—Rural New Yorker.

Now and Then.

An observant French physician, considering bronchitis, sore throats, colds, and other affections of the larynx, declares that they have increased. In 1830, when cravats had three or four folds, bronchitis was rare. As the cravat diminishes to a necktie, a ribbon, and now to a little bow attached to the shirt button, throat complaints, he says, have fearfully augmented. He apparently forgets that the beard, now generally worn, is the natural protector of neck and chest, and increasingly came into fashion as the cravat got "small by degrees and beautifully less." It is worthy of notice that in proportion as men have dressed of late years; with neat simplicity, the attire of the other sex has become more elaborate and irrational, as witness their dresses loaded with lace trimmings; velvet and bugles; their vast chignons; their dyed hair; their towering head-dresses, surmounted by the smallest apologies for hats; their masses of artificial curls; their enormous panniers their gowns trailing on the pavements, as if each wearer had a contract for sweeping up the dirt. 'Simplex munditiis' (neat in simple elegance) was the highest compliment that Horace could lay to a Roman lady nearly nineteen centuries ago, but it would not be applicable at present.—Philadelphia Press.

BRONCHIAL SYRUP.

DR. A. YOUNG'S

Letter from Rev. J. H. Dally.
RALEIGH, N. C., April 19th, 1870.
DR. A. YOUNG, Henderson, N. C.—
Dear Sir:—I take great pleasure in recommending your "Bronchial Syrup" to the notice of such as are afflicted with diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Having tried many remedies for diseases of the Throat, within the past two years, (during all which time I have had laryngitis,) it is due you and all who are afflicted in a similar manner, to say that I have experienced more relief from the use of your syrup, than from any other medicine. It is with me indispensable.

Yours in Christ,
JONATHAN H. DALLY.

Letter from Mr. A. S. Garner.
CHATHAM COUNTY, May 14th, 1868.
DR. A. YOUNG—Dear Sir:—I have been suffering for a number of years with an affection of the throat and lungs, general debility, enlargement of the glands about the neck, pain in my side and chest, and a bad cough. I had no appetite, and frequently I could not speak above a whisper, and all my friends thought I would speedily fill a Consumptive grave, as most of my family had gone in that way.
Great was my surprise and delight, when after using a few bottles of your truly invaluable medicine I was entirely relieved. I now sleep soundly, eat heartily, and can do any kind of work. I am happy to say it does not tire me to sing or to speak aloud. Thinking that this statement may be of some service to suffering humanity, I give it to you for publication, if you think proper.
Very Respectfully,
A. S. GARNER.

I take pleasure in stating that I am well acquainted with the case of Mr. A. S. Garner, and his cure is very remarkable.
JOHN A. HANKS, M. D.,
Pittsboro, N. C.

Letter from Miss M. E. Webster.
CHAPEL HILL, June 9th, 1868.
DR. A. YOUNG—Dear Sir:—You know what a low state I was in when I first came to see you. I then felt that my time on earth was fast passing away. I suffered very much from pain in my throat, chest and side. My appetite was very bad, and I could not sleep at night, having a distressing cough, with profuse night sweats.
Now, after taking half a dozen bottles of your Bronchial Syrup, I am well. I enjoy good health, feeling better than I ever did.
Very Respectfully Yours,
MARY E. WEBSTER.

Extract from a Letter from Mrs. Baskerville.

"The medicine was received in due time. I have been confined to the house, and most of the time to bed, since December. The Doctor thinks my left lung has a cavity in it, and now a similar one is foregoing in the right lung. I am so very much obliged to you for the Bronchial Syrup. It has cured my throat entirely. I felt a difference after taking the third dose. I think it has done me more good than any medicine I ever tried. I have taken the bottle which you sent me, and I will be very thankful if you would send me some more. It has benefited me so much."
S. D. BASKERVILLE,
Vaiden, Miss.

Letter from M. Q. Waddell, Esq.,

PITTSBORO, October 8th, 1868.
I hereby certify that Dr. A. Young's Bronchial Syrup is an excellent Medicine for Dyspepsia. I have suffered much with that disease, and found great relief from your truly valuable preparation. For Bronchial affections it surpasses anything I have ever seen tried. It has acquired great notoriety from a wonderful cure it effected in the case of Mr. A. S. Garner, of this county, who a year or eighteen months ago was thought to be in the last stage of consumption, but at this time is a hearty and well man.

BRINKLEYSVILLE, March 10, 1869.
I have known Mrs. Ann H. Jones for thirty-five years. During that entire period she has been subject to a cough; and in her late years, sometimes distressing. I called to see her on Monday last, and found her about to leave her room, which I was informed she had not done in four months. She stated that she had recently greatly improved, which she attributed to a medicine prepared by Doctor Allen Young, of Henderson. She stated that she had used many cough remedies, but had found none so beneficial as the one above alluded to.

WILL H. WILLIS,
Pres't. N. C. Dist. M. P. Church.

Certificate of Mrs. Ann H. Jones.

DR. A. YOUNG—Dear Sir:—I feel thankful I can say to you, I have tried your Bronchial Syrup, and have found great relief from it. I had almost despaired last winter of life. I now thank God that you can make this invaluable medicine to relieve the afflicted. I have suffered forty-five years with a cough, and have expectorated a good deal of blood when I coughed. I have seen no sign of blood since using your Syrup. I have heretofore had to be very particular in my diet, owing to my bowels being in a bad state; I feel, after taking your medicine, no ill effect, from anything I eat; I hope and pray every one who are subject to coughs may try it. I am seventy-one years old, and feel better at this time than I have for thirty years. I hope you may be benefited in this life, and rewarded in Heaven, for the good your medicine has done. I could give you one hundred testimonials of my case if necessary.
Your true friend,
ANN H. JONES.

SEPTEMBER 1st, 1869.
