

work they have before them all the dispatches from Europe, which they expect previous to the meeting of Congress; indeed all they ever expect; Mr. Baker from France, via Holland and Mr. Nourse from England have arrived; yet we hear nothing about raising the Embargo. In fact it is now well understood that the Embargo cannot be raised unless we go to war with France; of course the people may set their hearts at rest, so the Embargo will lie, if it is in power of Administration to keep it on. Our rulers have committed themselves to his imperial majesty; they have put their hands to the plough, and he will not suffer them to look back. His language to them now is "keep yourselves in your shell if you would keep out of harm's way, for if you come out you shall fight for or against me." This language to men of spirit appears rather insulting; but the silent language of England is still more so; it is, "As you are not worth minding you may do as you please." Was ever any nation more degraded than ours. Empires and kingdoms have been conquered; nations have been subdued; but we are the first people who ever resigned their existence as a nation without a struggle. Wash. Fed.

Raleigh:

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1808.

Delaware Federal!

The election held in Delaware, on the 2d instant, was contested with unusual animation, and has terminated in the same manner as most elections hitherto held, since the Embargo was laid, and the partiality of the Administration to France became apparent. In New-Castle county, the seat of Democratic strength, their majority has been reduced 400 votes, notwithstanding they propped their cause with all their energy, and with many mean and dishonourable practices.

It stands thus:

	MAJORITIES.
	Federal.	Demo.
New-Castle,		690
Kent,	430
Sussex,	800
	1230

Each county sends 7 representatives and 3 senators to the state legislatures, and as both of the lower counties are federal, it follows that there will be a federal majority of one third of the representation of the state—that is, seven representatives and three senators. As the Legislature will have the choice of the electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, they will of course be federalists; and as Mr. White's senatorial term expires on the 4th of March next, he will in all probability be reappointed for six years more.

FEDERALISM'S.

Glorious Triumph in Maryland.

It is now admitted and settled, that the majority of the next House of Delegates must be federal. It will certainly be from eight to ten, and should the votes of two counties, which are said to have been made democratical, by a greater number of illegal votes than their respective majorities consist of, be restored to the Federalists, it will reduce the number of democratical votes from 32 to 24, whilst the federal will in that case be from 58 to 60. Thus democracy will be obliged to assume the diminutive figure of less than one third of the size of Federalism in Maryland. A happy presage this, of the accession of weight Maryland will yield to the scale of General Pinckney as President of the United States.

In Kent the highest Federalist was within five votes of the lowest Democrat, so that three illegal votes would turn the scale.

In Cecil the highest Federalist was within 16 votes of the lowest Democrat, and in like manner 9 illegal votes deducted, would reinstate the Federalists.

Imputations of unfairness on the democratic side, lie against both these counties, and will probably cancel their returns.

At all events, the near approach the Federalists have made to the majorities returned for the Democrats in those and other counties, would enable them, at another election, to snatch from the latter, almost the whole of the few members they possess, and leave them scarcely represented in the House of Delegates.

Maryland ought, after the present success, to give at least eight votes for General PINCKNEY as President.

No senator to congress will be chosen by the next Legislature, because each branch having a majority of a different political complexion, neither will agree to go into a joint meeting, whereby one branch would overwhelm the other. This policy, we learn, gave Gen. Smith his entrance into the Senate. The Legislature to be elected next fall, will meet before Congress—so that there cannot be any inconvenience sustained. No. Am.

The democratic prints, still persist in stating that the Vermont election has not terminated in favour of federalism.—This is done to answer electioneering purposes.—For the same reason they will not allow that a majority of the House of Delegates of Maryland is federal.

We observe that the Wilmington Gazette is transferred to Mr. Wm. S. Hasel, who promises to be a great acquisition to the disciples of Washington in this state.

We again are authorized to announce to the Public, that WILLIAM DREW, of Halifax, Esq. offers himself as an Elector for this district, to elect a President and Vice-President of the United States.—He pledges himself, and declares (if the declaration be necessary) to vote for Mr. James Monroe as President, and some other character eligible as Vice-President.—At any rate no time or circumstance can induce him to vote for or support the pretensions of Mr. Madison.—Halifax Journal.

The following statements, will show the extravagant pretensions of the friends of Madison and Monroe.

Advices from the western parts of Virginia state, that Mr. Monroe's ticket of electors will receive an almost unanimous vote in that county. It is believed with common exertion Mr. Madison may find himself disappointed in the Virginia vote.—Alex. Gaz.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3. WARD ELECTIONS.

The following is an accurate statement of the result of the ward elections, held on Friday last, agreeably to law, for the choice of two inspectors of the general election, and of an assessor, for each of the wards of this city, to wit.

Wards	Federalists.	Democrats.
1. Upper Delaware,	187	223
2. Lower Delaware,	186	220
3. High Street,	226	48
4. Chesnut,	193	111
5. Walnut,	175	140
6. Dock,	132	37
7. New-Market,	238	194
8. North Mulberry,	80	190
9. South Mulberry,	205	325
10. North,	192	179
11. Middle,	139	83
12. South,	149	65
13. Locust,	123	182
14. Cedar,	123	219
Totals,	2443	2321

From the above statement it will appear, that notwithstanding their opponents have exerted every nerve the result has been brilliant to the constitutionalists. They have it is true, one ward less this year, but they have lost it by the most abominable villainy, and the citizens are determined to punish by legal means the perpetrators of fraud and corruption. The constitutionalists have reduced their opponents in Southwark and the Northern Liberties, to small majorities. Mr. Ross will have a handsome majority at the general election.

The constitutionalists have succeeded in 18 townships in Delaware county.—The Jacobins in three!

We declare it as our opinion, that if the federalists of Virginia would unite, and form a ticket for electors of President and Vice-President of the United States, that it would be handsomely supported by the People—and although we will not undertake to say that the federalists would certainly succeed, yet their vote would be so respectable as to cause the new President, (whoever he may be) to know (which has not been the case for more than seven years) that the principles of Washington are not entirely abandoned in the Ancient Dominion, the declaration of many to the contrary notwithstanding. Virginia Gaz.

Though months have elapsed since the officers in the new standing army were appointed, it is worthy of remark that not one of the many printers included in the list, has been called upon to discharge his military duties. These duties have been imposed on others, while they, according to the probable condition of their appointment, are to be kept at their ordinary avocation till the important elections now pending are determined. U. S. Gaz.

Duane has received for six months past the pay and emoluments of a lieutenant colonel in the new standing army, amounting to upwards of a hundred dollars a month, and we should be glad to learn what military duties he has yet performed? Is this not rifling the public purse? Is it not the worst species of fraud and corruption; because, being indirect, it is not easy of punishment? ib.

At a dinner given by Mr. Ware to the Spanish Deputies, lord Erskine, who was present, commented very severely on the toast lately received with such disapprobation at a public meeting. "I dislike as much as any one," said the Noble Lord "many of the measures that have been pursued by this country towards America; but I would never propose, in Champaign or Burgundy, to drink the health of that man who refuse our brave tars a drop of water!"

Mr. MEADE, the U. S. Navy Agent in Cadix, writes to a gentleman in Salem, that in Spain and Portugal 140,000 French troops had been destroyed; that 24,000 were then prisoners in the province of Andalusia; and that to hope to effect any thing in Spain, Bonaparte must send a force of 200,000 men.

FROM THE ENQUIRER
The remarks contained in the Spirit of '76, of the 11th inst. concerning the Editor of the Enquirer, have not passed unnoticed. The interposition of the Civil Authority prevented the Principals from either adjusting the misunderstanding, or carrying the difference to extremities. This information is given to the inquisitive, by the Gentleman who acted as the friend of the Editor of the Enquirer, in the communications which took place between himself and the Editor of the "Spirit of '76."

ANOTHER WARNING!

Extract of a Letter from PABLO SERRA, of the Havana, dated Sept. 21.
"We have had a second meeting of Planters and Merchants, to deliberate on our situation; and it was decided to admit neutral vessels, with every description of goods, until Spain shall be in a situation to provide for our wants."

"We expect large supplies from England; and I think it would be of great importance to America to raise the Embargo before our people learn to do without your trade—for otherwise you may be excluded entirely by an arrangement with England, which may be easily effected, under our present impression of your attachment to France, and hostility to our glorious cause!"

[Don Serra, the writer of the letter, from which the above is extracted, is well known to the merchants of the United States, and is a member of one of the political bodies at Havana, who participate in its legislation.]
