bill, by adding a proviso that the commissioners may, in their discretion, allow sheriffs and tax collectors to receive school claims in payment of county taxes, and that they be allowed by the treasurer. Mr. Mebane, of Rockingham, said that the effect of this amendment, if adopted, would be to emasculate or render nugatory, the best features of the bill; that he had carefully drawn section 32, as a member of the committee, and that the bill was not one for the protection of sheriffs, but for the relief of the poor school teachers, and more than that, for the elevation of the standard of common schools. Our good old State, robbed as she had been of her school treasure, now doled out at best a mere pittance, and that pittan e, under the operation of the present law, went for the most part, as he was informed and believed, into the hands of the court house rings of not a few counties in the State. The committee offered a bill which would effectually stop the present disgraceful traffic in school orders; and how, it may be asked. Why, by not only requiring the sheriffs to pay in all school tax to the county treasurer, in money, as the former laws required-but by enforcing that provision by imposing severe penalties upon him for failure so to do. Under our bill. Mr. President, unchanged in this particular by any such amendment, the money due to each district being in the treasury on the 1st of December. the school committees will not only be advised of their resources before engaging the teachers, but the teachers. knowing their money to be ready for them, will no longer be a prey for the harpies who have heretofore shaven their claims and pocketed a great part of our school tax. Then, we ask the Senate to sustain this committee, and vote down the amendment. The amendment was not adopted. After a great deal of debate upon various amendments, the vote was taken and the bill passed its second reading, by the following vote:

THE MAGNIN MATTER.

The Proceedings in the Case Yesterday -- A Large Crowd and Deep u-

Yesterday morning the Court House was picked with a crowd eager to hear the conclusion of the jury packing matter. Promptly at 10 o'clock, Judge Schenek took his seat on the bench, and the case, that of Joseph A. Haywood vs. Marcellus Rogers, was called, and, the defendant, through his counsel, Messis, Busbee & Busbee, filed an affidavit denying any collusion with Magninin the selection of the jury. Defendant's counsel stated that the jury, having heard the discussion as to the manner of its selection, had been so prejudiced that they would be afraid to render a verdict for the defendant, and he would therefore consent that the motion for a untinuance should be granted.

The case was about to end there, when Col. Ed. G. Haywood, counsel for Magnin, requested that the counsel for Rogers should read Magnin's affidavit, as part of the case. The affidavit denied the charge of corruptly and fraudulently packing the jury, and stated that if he had smiled or shrugged his shoulders at Ragers he has done so unconsciously. Magnin set forth in his affidavit that Haywood's action in this matter had been prompted by a purpose to advertise himself as chairman of the Democratic County Committee, &c., &c. This aftidayit having been read and commented apon by Mr. F. H. Busbee, Judge Fowle offered affidavits from Len. H. Adams, J. P. Prairie, Porter Steadman and others, swearing that they did not believe Magren an honest man and that they would not believe him on oath in matter in which he was interested. After the reging of these affidavits, Judge Fowle, the senior counsel for the plaintiff, addressed the court. He deconneed the bidavits of Magnin and sitions and Grievanees: Mr. Rausoni, Regers as bas abbrications and utterly devoid of truth. Our people have heard him in some of his brilliant efforts, both at the forum and on the hustings, but By Hill, col.: A resolution of inquity | it was the un and opinion of those speech fully equidled, if not excelled, that space permits only the following replative report of his eloquent remarks, which rivetted all the way through the deep attention of all pres-

Judge Fowle said: Lask, may it please your Honor, that these affidavits may be filed, showing that Albert Magnin is a man of bad character and would not be believed on outh in any matter in which he is interested. Task it in the name of the city of Raleigh, whose prosperity will be impeded if the actions of this bad man are not properly rebuked, and ask it in the name of Wake county, whose fair fame has been tarnished by this attempted prostitution of justice.
