A JOLLY NIGHT WITH THE PATH-FINDERS. - Tue most delighful fooling we have ever witnessed is that of the Pathfinders a la troubadours at the Theatre. It is a potpourri of good things, with not one ball one from beginning to end. Five persons get left by the boat Pathfinder at a certain picnicing ground, where they find the wardrobe of a theatrical and gymnastic company, and taking possession of these proceed to give a series of enternastic and otherwise, that are as supeior for their excellence as they are novel in style and singular in situation. The three ladies of the party Miss Mattie Vickers, Miss Mary Jasper, and Miss Engenie Lavalle, ara all excellent antresses, giving as they did numerous immitations of the most disinguished ladies now on the stage in the drama, opera and bouffe. Mr Charles Rogers gave numerous imitations of the distinguished actors of the day, showing the most remarkable protean and versatile powers. His take offs of Joe Jefferson in Old Rip. Edwin Adams in Eloch Arden, and J. W. Wallach in Fagin the Jew, were very natural and also very powerful. In these he was well assis ed by Mrs. Vickers. Mr. Berkely also exhibited g od histronic and voca p wers. Mr. Rentgrow's burnt-c rk eccentricities as the servant of the party could scarcely be excelled by the end men of the "bis" minstrel company in thcountry." But the tumbling and gymnas.ic exercises of the Jasper brotuerand Ren grow took everybody by sura pr.se. Their feats were the most daring and defficult we have ever witnesss ed, and the house became enthused to the highest pitch of excitement during their progress. Thus says a Southern paper.

FISH CULTURE IN THIS STATE -The report of Mr. S. G. Worth, who has in his able charge the fish hatcheries of this State, has appeared. It goes over the whole ground in this very important industry, whose developement is regarded with so much hope. As a matter of both local and general interest it is proper to reproduce portions of the report, whose plate facts and succinct statements cover the whole ground. Referring to the culture of example of the House in showing a fish Mr. Worth truly says that in this proper respect for the Sabbath.

State the art is so new that few have Mr. Everett moved to amend by example of the House in showing a proper respect for the Sabbath. had an opportunity to look into it sufficien ly to know its requirements or through fresguts. Lost, pass judgment upon past operations. The work of propagation, of the fish was therefore left entirely in his hands. Referring t whis operations becays:

During the past twelve, menths, prevent the ending the 1st of April, 1879, we have bath day. released in the North Carolina waters over three and one-half millions of young shad, three hundred thousand California Salmon, fifteen thousand five hundred Land-locked Salmon from Maine, and fifty thousand Mountain or Brook Trout. All of this was done at an expense of less than t ree thousand dollars, and among the expenditures was a sum of not less than five hundred d dars in permanent structures and hatch ng and distributing apparatus, tools &c , now on hand, including al stlaries. This sum when compared with results will bear favorable comparison with similar work done any where on the globe. To co vey an idea of the immense returns in fish culture, I will make a statement which may su prise you. California Salmon attain an average weight of 20 pounds, and sell readily at twenty-five cents a pound. If we suppose that ninetynine per cent. of the three hundred thousand hatched this season are never heard from an i that the one per cent. which do return attain the average weight of other waters and bring a price of five cents a pound, the Salmon of the past season alone will more than pay the expense of the whole season, including the Shad, Landslocked Salmon and Trout. The immense losses in the eggs and fry of fish scems to have leen a great foresight of nature in giving to them the greatest ora. bearing powers of any of the vertebra e animals. On examination of the nests of the California Salmon it is found that only eight per cent of the egg; are impregnated. By the artificial method of impregnation we secure ninety to nin-ty-five per cent! Continuing, ha says few real zeth value of tish, but a moment's reflection will show that they cost nothing, and rescore to our land at a nominal co t its millions of wea'th that our streams an nually bear away to the ocean. Who knows the value of the constituents of our gliding rivers, and by what means can we reclaim them? By the judidollars annually we can attain this re sult If our people look this year for any return from what has been done. they must remember that the patient farmer sows his seed and waits till they have had time to develope and mature. inded to roe shad ever returned to fresh water till the third year. Twenty-seven States are now actively engaged in restocking their waters, and I am glad to say that with limited means we have made a very decided beginning in North Carolina in two short years. With the finest shad fish. ing grounds in the world, and many secluded mountain streams yet full of trout we are fully capable of supplying every county in the State with as many fish as the people can consume. In view of the fact that the shad caught in our waters sell in northern markets before the run of fish has extended ino their streams, and since our sales there bring double the price of theirs by supplying the early demand, it is very plain to be seen that in restocking our sounds and rivers to ten times their present capacity, we can supply every demand at home and bring into our State thousands of dollars from abroad.

Commencement of Bellevue

medical College. Correspondence of Raleigh Observer.

P. S. EVENING.-I have just returned from the Acaemy of Music, attending the 18th Annual Commence. ment of the Bellevue Medical Conege, to, which I was favored with an invitation. Though prompily at the Academy, it was impossible to find a vacant seat. There were thousands filling the seats. leaving hundreds to stand, asaid through the whole inturesting ceire monies. There were 165 graduates, Inciuding Camillus L Battie, Elisha Battle, Elisha Battle, Hubert Haywo da Heory W Lilly and Thomas R Robert, son, of North Carolina. Of these, Huburt Hayword, son of Dr. E. Burke Haywood, of Ruleigh, had the honor to be Valedictorian, and of course delivered the closing address, and an admirable address is wis, frequently eliciting the applause of the audience, and e-p-cially of his classmat s. I think that no more prolouged clayping of han's responded to the call no of any name than his when called up in succession to receive their diplomas; and this was striking, since upwards of lifty of the class were New Yorkers, surrounded by their friends f course, in the immense audience. I was amu el to notice that in the crowd near me there came forward a warm clapping of hands from ne person at the call of every Southern name. That was a true man, and I would have liked see him and grasp the hands the welcomed his count ymen, but the crowd obstructed the view. The address to the graduates was by Richard O'Gorman, Esq, whose Ir sh origin was quite manifest in his pronunciation of "the worruld," and such like word. It was a fair s eech but vastly interior to toat o Dr. Crasby at the other College last week. And Mr. O'Gorman, with all his reputation as an educator, is not an elegant scholar, nor yet an elequent orator.

A Tax-payer's Letter to Charlette Democrat.

The following extract is made from this valuable letter. It is proposed by some to show that the expenses of the State Government have been decreased, by comparing the expenses of 1869 with the expenses of 1878. This is certainly going a long ways for a little comfort, just nine years back to find any improvement.

This is what I said: "That the Demoeratic platform two years since was retreachment and reform; that on that platform the Democratic party went into power. That the Democratic ofticeholders pocketed the same salaries pocketed by the Radical office-holders. That the expans sin nearly all the branches of the State Government had been increased instead of decreased. That the people paid the same tixes under Democratic rule as under Ridical rule," Is it meeting this statement fairly to array figures of extravagance nine years since? The Demo-Retreachment and R form." If the platform meant anything it meant to retrench and reform extravagages then existing, not what existed nine years ago. It surely did not meau to retrench what had already been re-trenched, and to reform the reformed. "It is admitted that the charges preferred against the Democratic adm nistration (not against the party, please don't confound the terms) are striking and are well calculated to arouse the people. They were not idly made neither were they made until after exsmination. These charges are of such a serious nature it is admitted that unless they are proven by the figures presen ed telow that the writer has imwhen collected, be paid into the public posed upon you, deceived the public treasury of the State for the use of the and standered the great Democratic party. If though, the facts are by the figures proven to be true, the writer in bringing them to light, and you in part of a lauhful sentinel upon the watchtower, pointing out, whilst the Democratic surp is still manned by on which the ship was about to be "The issues are joined-the people

28828838885E "Verdict of the people: Guilty as charged in the bill of in lictment; that since the Democartic party went into power in 1876, under the banner of Retrenchment and Raorm," there has been neither Ret enc ment nor Reform, that the Democratic office-hold. ers have pocketed the same salaries pocketed by the Radical offi e-holders; that the expenses in nearly all the branches of the State Government have been increased instead of decreased, that the people pay the same

taxes under Democratic rule that they pai i in 1876 n ider Ridical rule. In the table of figures taken from the Auditor's Rapor s I have adopted the plan of taking only the old nary expenses of the Government so as to avoid all complications by reason of appropriations for extraordinary purposes. I have also left out the expenses of the charitable and penal institutions, the expenses of which might vary in proportion to the num. ber of inmates. In other words I have eliminated everything except the orainary expenses which are incident to, and necessary for both A iministrations I have separate I the expenses of each department so that he that 'runs may read" and understand In order that uil justice may be done to the Democrotic Admistration I have given two years of it, giving it full time for ietrenchment and reform."
