

The Crowded Street.

By WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT

Let me move slowly through the City streets,
Edged with an ever-shifting train,
With the sound of steps that beat
Like the murmurings walls in autumn Rain.

How fast the living figures come?
The dead, the fierce, the stony faces,
Smile, but with thoughtless smiles,
And me.
Where secret tears have left their trace.

They pass to toil, to strife, to rest—In halls in which the feast is spread—Till in its where the funeral guest Has scarce set beside the dead.

A scene to happy hours repair, Where children pressing cheek to cheek,
Whom caresses shall declare
The tenderness they cannot speak.

And me who walk in idleness Shall shoulder as they reach the door—
Where who made their dwelling Is dim—its light is seen no more.

Youth, with pale cheek and slender frame,

And dreams of greatness in thine eye—

Or yearn to build an early name,
In the task to die?

Keen son of trade, with eager brow; Who's now flitting in the shadows;

The golden fortunes, tower they not—

Or all the glittering spires in air?

Who of this crowd to-night shall rest?

The drowsy till daylight gleam again?

Who sorrow o'er the untimely dead?

Who mourns?

Some fam ne-struck, shall think how lucky,

The cold, dark hours, how slow the light!

And some, who durst amid the throng,

Shall die in den of shame to righted.

Nowhere his tasks or pleasures
cal,

They pass and he reaches other not,
He's one who heeds who holds them all—

His large love and boundless wants—

These struggling toiles of life, that in a wayward, aimless course to tumult,

Are it of the mighty stream that flows to its appointed end.

Rest! there is no such thing;

A man's best is dream,
Time a rushing flood,

And thou art in the stream

Rest! Up and be a man;

Lay out up in the night;

No star stands still in heaven,
In thy aching sight.

Rest! Chafe no more in vain;

On, lest thy tears go by;

Thou wouldst not if thou couldst Leave thy destiny.

On, home! Faultless words,

It is enough for thee

To know that toll expands

Thy weak capacity.

No stand over on;

Tim's earnest moment roll;

Leave rest to sick dreams.

Come back to the tool.

—E. SPENCER MILLER

It seems as though I'd never get even with that grand jury," remarked advisors late round. "They never get together without bringin' in a little bill against me."

"You had better ASK for manners than money," said a gentleman to a beggar who asked for alms. "I asked for what I bought you had most of it!" was the reply.

When we picture the hundred or more trunk-haul ladies travel with, we cannot help reflecting how happy is the elephant, whose wife, when on a journey, only has one trunk.

The L. & R. Guano, Formerly Called the Star.

This reliable Guano, so long sold in this market and so well and favorably known to the farmers of this section, is now represented in this market by Messrs. Latta & Myatt, who are prepared to offer it to their friends and the farming public on the most reasonable terms. Call on them for details and prices.

Change of Firm Name.

The Merchant Tailoring business has been conducted under the name of C. Weikel, heretofore, will in the future be carried on under the name and style of C. Weikel & Co.
All accounts due Mr. Weikel for work done by him have been placed in the hands of Mr. R. G. Lewis, his attorney, and will be collected by him. Weikel & Co. have in hand splendid goods of the last work for the smallest prices and take cash for work done by them.

Good for a Quarter of a Century

As in the Legislature of Louisiana it was passed the law of the State to prohibit all the French sea of the Louisiana State Lottery, it built-in better, it is known, for the supreme law of the land, as decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, has pronounced the dictum that a contract made must be adhered to, and the franchises of the Louisiana State Lottery, with its vast capital of over a million of dollars, must remain for fifteen years yet, until the expiration of the original term.

The Law's of North Carolina.

Three China tea sets left Law's last work carrying pleasure and joy to as many country homes. Several sets of knives with silver forks, also, were brought away by visitors to the city.
An exquisite silver plated tea service, from Law's, the gift of her worthy and tasteful husband, made happy one of our city ladies yesterday. More of those splendid porcelain tea and dinner sets can be had at Law's for a few dollars.

MEDICINES.
45 Years Before the Public.
THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S
CELEBRATED
FOR THE CURE OF Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint, DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.
PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side;
the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are constipated, sometimes alternative with lax, the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant.
The patient complains of weariness and debility, he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up courage enough to try it.
In fact, he distrusts every remedy.
Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed; yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

ACUE AND FEVER Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, in cases of ACUE and FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better aphrodisiac can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequalled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated, but always a red wax seal on the top, and a red ribbon from Dr. McLane's

Works. McLane's LIVER PILLS are the genuine article, and the best. Wardrobe, Cupboard, Dresser, Bureau, Chest, Lamp, Bedstead, Chairs, Etc.
Rocks, Buttons, Buttons, Etc., may be purchased at our store. Our LIVER PILLS, prepared by F. GRUENDLER, of Pittsburgh, Pa., the most being full of emanations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.
