It was he that won over the Carist loaders, and socured the pacification of Navarre and the Basque provinces. It was he who "by arts and devices" conquered the Cuban patriots, thus preserving to Spain her most valuable colony. He did not whip the revolutionists, because be could not, but when he found that he could not, he proceeded to buy money or needed reforms. He securout the large reforms that he promised Cubans. The obstacles thrown in his way by the tre cherous home politiwill continue to weave turough the cians led to his departure for Spain recollections of her numerous virtues; king, who is his friend, decided that which he asked for should be carried This touching rel c from her levely out. He is also very popular, a fact that will doubtless insure him, for some time to come at least, then cessary strength in the stormy cortes to carry out my measu e o relam La, be may propose.

----Navigation of the Yadkin,

Challane Ob e.v.r.

A gentiemen in this city is the owner o. a farm on the Yadkin river, and on his recent teturn from a trip to a portion of country drained by that stream, reports that the people are confident that ma short time, at last that po tion of the river between Salisbury and Eas Bend, about lorty miles above, will be navigable by small steamers Taron h the extraordi a y exertions of ex-to gr ssman Robb na and thers, an appropriation of twenty thousand collars has been seruced. To this Cap., John Dobson and others who have especially interested themselves in the matter are confident that an equal amount will be a lited by the coners of land along the banks of the ver. The difficulties to be overcome e ween Sansbury and East Bond are and to be slight. At the Litter point and above it there are numerous obstacles. Exactly what these are and the exp ns; or overcoming them is not yet known, as the report of the engineers sent to survey the stream has not vet teen jubished. In a letter exclaining the delay in Laying the report before the compattee of commerce of Congress, Col. Albert, the gentleman in charge of the work says the difficulty of improving the Yadkin does not ar so from a defictency in wat r, but in the descent or fall which must by reduced in order to fighthe channel for steam navigation. The improvement of the chaon I is further complicated by mili dams which reach entirely across the river and which can only be otilized by their partial removal. The improvement of this river would be simpler if nod ims exist d. The se familiar with the scream are confident that it can be made navigable by small stearn wheel steamers at

Robenson's committee has done him no good. The investigation looks too much like trying to muzzle the press. The News has haright to oppose the W. N. C. R. R. or any other measure, it sees fit. The unifor unite controversy, after all, sems to be a personal affair between M . Robin on and Colonel Walter Clark, but . . dinal pri tion should not be used to reliess a private grievance. The News is mistaken in sapposing we oppose the N CRR, for we have made no elitorial
