LOCAL BRIEFS

Business was quite brisk yesterday, as many people from the country came in. Strange to say no bonds were received at the State Treasury yesterday, for exchange.

The election produced but slight excitement, and little interest was manifested. The governor yesterday appointed D. C. Waddell, of Asheville, a Notary Public.

Provision should be made for filling all the cisterns with rain water from the rain-gauges. Col. Brinkley, President of the W. & W. R. R., is in the city, as is also Dr. W. J. Hawkins.

The Grand Lodge of the State of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows meets in Fayetteville on the 13th inst. Rev. Arthur Williams, (col.), of the Second Baptist Church, baptized three colored converts Sunday.

The Internal Revenue collections yesterday were $1,727.88. This shows how the reduced tobacco tax works. It is prophesied that the coming summer will be marked by the number six thunder storms, so the time had best look out.

The members of the Monogram Club are requested to meet at 7:45 this evening, to make arrangements for the picnic. Bishop Lyman preached Sunday morning at Christ Church, and in the evening at the Church of the Good Shepherd.

Gen. Thos. L. Fleming sailed from New York last Friday, on the Steamer Bothnia, for Liverpool. He goes out for both pleasure and business. Nearly 2,000 scholars are in attendance on the schools of this city. Raleigh makes the best show in the State in this respect, but should do even better.

Drummers' licenses were yesterday issued by the State Treasurer to the following firms, all of Baltimore: Isaac Greenbaum & Sons, E. Klein, Farmer & Co., and F. H. Fulmer. Dr. H. K. Hall gave his guests a capital dinner at the Yarbrough Studio, which did Mr. Lewellen, the caterer, great credit in its preparation. Spring peas and straw-berries were two of the delicacies.

The children of the Sunday School of the Church of the Good Shepherd will have a Bible Party at the house of Mrs. H. M. Miller, on Newbern Avenue next Friday evening. The News will have a special matter that should receive the attention of the city authorities. It is hoped the new Board of Aldermen will take hold of the question and give the filthy, dangerous beasts of the streets.

There are entirely too many obstructions on the sidewalks in this city, and the interference of the authorities is necessary to give pedestrians a fair show. Boxes, benches, etc., are always in the way, and out in the streets there is always a lot of rubbish. The graded school tax. The people of this township yesterday voted by an overwhelming majority to levy the tax of one-tenth of one per cent, for the support of the graded schools. The vote against the levy was so small as to be insignificant.

Matrimonial. This morning Rev. Thomas H. Pritchard, D. D. of the First Baptist Church, goes down to Wake Forest, to unite in the holy bonds of matrimony Mr. William Jenkins, the pastor of the latter church, to Miss Virginia Mangum, a daughter of Presley H. Mangum, Esq., of this county. The pair will leave tomorrow for Atlanta, Ga., where they attend the Southern Baptist convention there.

Southern Baptist Convention. Rev. Dr. Pritchard leaves tomorrow for Atlanta, Ga., to attend the Southern Baptist Convention which assembles for Thursday. It promises to be the largest convention of this Church ever held in the South. North Carolina will be well represented. Rev. J. C. Durham, of Durham; Rev. A. C. Dixon, of Chapel Hill, and others, will attend. Some twenty ministers will go from this State, and a great number of visitors.

Row in a Lunatic Asylum. All the officers of the State Lunatic Asylum of Texas, at Austin, have resigned their positions on account of some misunderstanding with Gov. Roberts, the Executive. There are some 200 patients in the Asylum, and these are now being cared for by the State. The care of all their old attendants. The Superintendent of the Institution is Dr. D. R. Wallace, who is a native of this State, and a graduate of Wake Forest College. He proposes to open a private asylum at his former home at Waco, Texas.

A Horse Killed. Yesterday afternoon a bay horse belonging to Mr. J. P. Gully was loose on Leiner street. On that street, at the point where the street crosses the one of the large new fire cisterns is being excavated. The horse, which was a fine animal, ran at speed down Leiner street, and when he struck the barrier surrounding the cistern, fell headlong into its depth of eighteen feet. The fall threw the horse some twenty feet forward, and when he struck the bottom his neck was instantly broken. The horse was blind in one eye, and ran against the timbers of the railing on the account of a crowd of people who gathered to view the sight, and the accident was explained in a dozen different ways. It is not known whether a suit for damages will be instituted or not.

County Commissioners. The Board held its regular monthly meeting on yesterday. Present, Mr. Chairman Potts, and Messrs. Allen, Brown, Jinks and Jones. The business transacted was of routine order mostly, being the allowing of accounts, granting license to retail liquor, relief from payment of erroneous taxes and aid to outside poor. A. A. Mould was appointed Assessor of taxes for this county for the year 1919-20. C. R. Hoot was appointed Assistant Assessor of Raleigh Township, in place of R. S. Pullen, deceased. The chairman met the Assessor in consultation, as provided by law. He also met the physicians as a member of the County Board of Health. The Board adjourned to meet at the poor-house to-morrow and at the Court-house on Wednesday.

Raid on Distilleries

Special Agent Kellogg and Deputy Collector Sorrell have just returned from a regular raid on the distilleries at Moore and a portion of Orange. They met with good luck, having found four illicit distilleries, of which they destroyed the stills and fixtures. No liquors were found, all having been removed. Col. Kellogg reports that the blockade business in this District is being pretty well destroyed, as but few stills are now running. The officials have been indefatigable in their searches after counterfeiters and distillers, and have about run the gamut of the metropolitan district, was not known until some months ago that such notorious pursuits were carried on in this District. The raid on the distilleries at Moore and a portion of Orange, was not known until some months ago that such notorious pursuits were carried on in this District.

Gold in Randolph

An excitement of unusual extent prevailed in Randolph county, which resembles that at the famous mines at Leadville, Colorado. The discovery of fresh gold deposits has just been made, and the prospect is exceptionally valuable in the precious metal. Before the war the mines in Randolph were noted for their production of gold. The great discovery, however, was not made until after the war, when it was found that the best machinery, and paid big dividends. There were also an immense number of smaller mines, which brought wealth to the workers. These were all operated until the war put a stop to all such things. It is not worth while for north Carolina to be left behind in the search for gold, when they have in their own State such rich opportunities. If the mines of this State were properly developed, and an amount of energy equal to that shown in the West were shown, the results would be such as to gratify the most ardent miner.

Put Away in Jail

His Honor the Mayor yesterday tried the case of Gus Coleman, colored, charged with breaking into the store of Johnson & Barbee, on Wilmington street, some two weeks ago. It will be remembered that the thief entered by means of a rear window, and stole $25.00 in cash and a silver watch. He was caught by reason of being brought to the attention of the Mayor. Yesterday he gave no satisfactory account of how he came to have it in his possession, and the evidence was such as to show his guilt very clearly. He was sentenced to a term of 30 days in jail, and to pay a fine of $50.00, and to appear at court, via, is a negro of bad character, and is not only one of the worst of the city, but also one of the worst of the city. He is not only one of the worst of the city, but also one of the worst of the city. He is not only one of the worst of the city, but also one of the worst of the city.

Magistrate's Court

The temple of justice over which Justice M. B. Barber so gracefully presides was crowded yesterday, and he had quite a number of cases to dispose of. The first case was that of Lem Young by name, was charged for the larceny of wearing apparel from the trunk of one Mary Gill, a colored sister. Lem was a dirty gutting of a fellow, and was required to give bail for his appearance at court. There are feelings that grow "neath night trees." Night in the city! Said you this was night? 'Tis but another day with silver light; A fair city Raleigh thou art now; The moonlight resting on thy leafy brow. Look at the shadowy aisles, wait on thy feet, and be glad to see me here; So meet a haunt for an elfin queen? So lovely a palace of silver and green? Thou art peopled with fairies, City of light; So meet a haunt for an elfin queen? So lovely a palace of silver and green? Thou art peopled with fairies, City of light.

Organization of the County Board of Health

On yesterday, in pursuance of section 101 of an act entitled "An act supplementary to an act creating a State Board of Health," enacted on the 14th day of March, 1919, certain of the physicians eligible to membership in the State Board of Health, met at the residence of Mayor Mandy and County Surveyor Scott, the other members being absent, met at the Court House, in Raleigh, at 10 o'clock. The following physicians, eligible as aforesaid, were present, to wit: J. R. Dunn, George W. Craven, H. B. Hayes, P. E. Hines, A. W. Hines, W. H. Hines, W. H. Little, James McKee, W. I. Roster.

The New Postal Law

The new law relating to the classification of mail matter and the rates of postage thereon went into effect May 1st. The following is a summary of its leading provisions: All mail matter is divided into four classes, viz: First, written matter; second, periodical publications mailed by publishers or news-agents; third, newspapers mailed to subscribers; fourth, merchandise mailed in the third class. There is no change in the rates of postage on letters or post-cards, but the postmaster-general is authorized to furnish for public use a "double postal card" that may be forwarded and returned by mail. All letters, post-cards, and merchandise to be sold at two cents per ounce. These cards have not yet been issued by the department. On second-class matter the rate of postage will be uniform at two cents per pound, and at this rate sample copies may be sent from an office of public affairs from a news agency to actual subscribers or to other offices. The rates for the delivery of second-class matter at a letter carrier office are unchanged, but publishers are required to send to the office matter for delivery by carriers separate from that for delivery through the boxes of the office. This new matter embraces books, transient newspapers and periodicals, circulars and other printed matter not second class, proof sheets, corrected proof sheets and manuscript accompanying the same. The rate of postage is one cent for each two ounces or fractional part of two ounces. Fourth-class matter embraces all mailable matter not included in the first three classes, a rate of postage one cent an ounce or fraction thereof. The maximum weight is four pounds, but a single book weighing more is allowable. A simple declaration may be written upon the cover of blank leaves of any book or of any printed matter of the third class. The name and name of the sender of a circular, as well as the name of the person addressed, may be written thereon. No return address is required on postal matter due can be delivered until special stamps to be furnished to postmasters by the department, are affixed and cancelled. The penalty for violation of postage due. The penalty prescribed for failing to affix the stamps is a fine $50.

The City of Oaks

Oaks of Raleigh, the city's pride— Sheltering the vale and billock's side— Sentinels placed by God's own hand To guard and beautify the land— Your green leaves forth in Spring. The home of many a bright-bird's wing. Rearing your heads in summer time, Like manhood glorying in his prime; Autumn changing your dress for gold, Gilding the city with your hue. Carrying not even for winter a breath How'er he threatens thee with death— 'Tis not 'shak'st thy limbs at him in scorn— Your heads the while proudly up— Plunging at him your faded leaves— When mad winds either roll in showers— Or scatter roughly through the street, Steering the way for weary feet— The monarch oaks, passes the morose— Your branches with a friendly hand, Bidding thee wake and break the chilly dawn— Within the city! Every oak That rears his head from slumber hath awake, And standing proudly with its sun— Proclaims itself the monarch of the town. The invalid that through the lonely night— Has patiently awaited morning's birth. That down the roof-tree's side, spreads its arms, and hangs its boughs— And pale cheeks grows bright beneath the rays— And in the picture happier days— No man in the city! In the shadowy streets— The hum of hundred voices fills the air— Now fast the hearts of lofty manhood beat— And children filled with glee are sporting there— And the women with sparkling eyes— These laughter ringing with some glad surprise— And greeting gratefully among the crowd— The gay, the happy, and the wisely prudent— Night in the city! Said you this was night? 'Tis but another day with silver light— A fair city Raleigh thou art now; The moonlight resting on thy leafy brow. Look at the shadowy aisles, wait on thy feet, and be glad to see me here; So meet a haunt for an elfin queen? So lovely a palace of silver and green? Thou art peopled with fairies, City of light; So meet a haunt for an elfin queen? So lovely a palace of silver and green? Thou art peopled with fairies, City of light.

Consumers should be Educated

For a Better and Consequently More Expensive Grade of Flour. The fact is realized that the cost of flour has increased, and that the consumer's daily consumption of three or four pounds to a family of five or six, is a heavy burden. They will hardly regard the additional expenditure an extravagance, if it results in a better grade of flour, and a better health for the family.
