

OUR RULERS.

THE SPOFFORD CONTENTED ELECTION CASE.

Blaine's "Pains" Gains—Chalmers' Confederate Record—St. Petersburg—Military.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—SENATE.—On motion of Senator Ingalls a resolution was adopted calling on the President to communicate to the Senate as to what measures had been taken to prevent occupation of Indian Territory by white settlers.

The Senate resumed consideration of the Louisiana contested election case. Senator Edmunds' amendment was rejected. Senator Conkling then offered an amendment to the pending resolution, providing that the inquiry shall be confined to the matters alleged in the memorial of Mr. Spofford to be new and different from those covered by the previous inquiry, which was also disagreed to.

The Senate resumed consideration of the Louisiana contested election case. Senator Edmunds' amendment was rejected. Senator Conkling then offered an amendment to the pending resolution, providing that the inquiry shall be confined to the matters alleged in the memorial of Mr. Spofford to be new and different from those covered by the previous inquiry, which was also disagreed to.

HOUSE.—Mr. Chalmers, of Mississippi, called up as a question of privilege a resolution proposed by him for an investigation into his conduct at Fort Pillow. He said that his friends had pointed out to him the difficulty in the way of his presenting a memorial to the House, and that he himself recognized the danger of rekindling the flames of passion and prejudice which all good men desire to see extinguished.

It is worse than had judgment for credit that the State furnishes 100 convicts, pays for the clothing, feeding and guarding. And it is not so either that work will be commenced on the 15th inst. as was reported in the Raleigh. The meeting of the Directors of the road at Fayetteville, last night, was a week ago. The meeting of the Directors of the road at Fayetteville, last night, was a week ago.

It is worse than had judgment for credit that the State furnishes 100 convicts, pays for the clothing, feeding and guarding. And it is not so either that work will be commenced on the 15th inst. as was reported in the Raleigh. The meeting of the Directors of the road at Fayetteville, last night, was a week ago.

It is worse than had judgment for credit that the State furnishes 100 convicts, pays for the clothing, feeding and guarding. And it is not so either that work will be commenced on the 15th inst. as was reported in the Raleigh. The meeting of the Directors of the road at Fayetteville, last night, was a week ago.

WASHINGTON.

A FEW NOTES FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

Secretary of the Caucus—A Probable Affair of Honor Between Kitchin and Russell.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.—For once in the history of democratic caucuses, the obligation of secrecy was strictly observed at the one held last Friday. The members were exceedingly reticent as to the proceedings, more so than usual, and the ubiquitous correspondent was troubled.

THE DANGER OF CELLULOSE. It is a singular fact that a great number of our modern inventions are dangerous to the human race. One of the most dangerous is celluloid, a material for all sorts of uses, and some illustrated circulars are sent out as early as the 1st of the month.

THE POLITICAL OPENING FOR EDUCATED NEW YORK NATIVES. It is no exaggeration to say that it is doubtful whether at this moment college training can be made to tell on the minds of the young men of this State. Here we do believe there is a field for those who wish to exert a powerful influence on public affairs.

THE POLITICAL OPENING FOR EDUCATED NEW YORK NATIVES. It is no exaggeration to say that it is doubtful whether at this moment college training can be made to tell on the minds of the young men of this State. Here we do believe there is a field for those who wish to exert a powerful influence on public affairs.

THE POLITICAL OPENING FOR EDUCATED NEW YORK NATIVES. It is no exaggeration to say that it is doubtful whether at this moment college training can be made to tell on the minds of the young men of this State. Here we do believe there is a field for those who wish to exert a powerful influence on public affairs.

THE POLITICAL OPENING FOR EDUCATED NEW YORK NATIVES. It is no exaggeration to say that it is doubtful whether at this moment college training can be made to tell on the minds of the young men of this State. Here we do believe there is a field for those who wish to exert a powerful influence on public affairs.

THE POLITICAL OPENING FOR EDUCATED NEW YORK NATIVES. It is no exaggeration to say that it is doubtful whether at this moment college training can be made to tell on the minds of the young men of this State. Here we do believe there is a field for those who wish to exert a powerful influence on public affairs.

DOOMED FOR LIFE.

"OH MY GOD! MY POOR DARLING," IN GRIEF SHE CHIED.

Cox, the Abston Murderer is Doomed for Life.—The Agony of His Grief Stricken Wife.

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

DR. GRISSOM.

HIS REPORT TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE INSANE ASYLUM.

A Little Anecdote—The Doctor's Onslaught—How Needlessly Frightened—Lithia Waters.

GREENSBORO, May 6.—Some kind friend has sent me the above neatly gotten up pamphlet of 47 pages, which is written with a "trenchant" pen, and is not always logical, is at least at times eloquent and pathetic. Indeed, to an emotional nature like that of your correspondent, it is difficult to read pages 18 and 19 with composure.

GREENSBORO, May 6.—Some kind friend has sent me the above neatly gotten up pamphlet of 47 pages, which is written with a "trenchant" pen, and is not always logical, is at least at times eloquent and pathetic. Indeed, to an emotional nature like that of your correspondent, it is difficult to read pages 18 and 19 with composure.

GREENSBORO, May 6.—Some kind friend has sent me the above neatly gotten up pamphlet of 47 pages, which is written with a "trenchant" pen, and is not always logical, is at least at times eloquent and pathetic. Indeed, to an emotional nature like that of your correspondent, it is difficult to read pages 18 and 19 with composure.

GREENSBORO, May 6.—Some kind friend has sent me the above neatly gotten up pamphlet of 47 pages, which is written with a "trenchant" pen, and is not always logical, is at least at times eloquent and pathetic. Indeed, to an emotional nature like that of your correspondent, it is difficult to read pages 18 and 19 with composure.

GREENSBORO, May 6.—Some kind friend has sent me the above neatly gotten up pamphlet of 47 pages, which is written with a "trenchant" pen, and is not always logical, is at least at times eloquent and pathetic. Indeed, to an emotional nature like that of your correspondent, it is difficult to read pages 18 and 19 with composure.

GREENSBORO, May 6.—Some kind friend has sent me the above neatly gotten up pamphlet of 47 pages, which is written with a "trenchant" pen, and is not always logical, is at least at times eloquent and pathetic. Indeed, to an emotional nature like that of your correspondent, it is difficult to read pages 18 and 19 with composure.

GREENSBORO, May 6.—Some kind friend has sent me the above neatly gotten up pamphlet of 47 pages, which is written with a "trenchant" pen, and is not always logical, is at least at times eloquent and pathetic. Indeed, to an emotional nature like that of your correspondent, it is difficult to read pages 18 and 19 with composure.

DOOMED FOR LIFE.

"OH MY GOD! MY POOR DARLING," IN GRIEF SHE CHIED.

Cox, the Abston Murderer is Doomed for Life.—The Agony of His Grief Stricken Wife.

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

DOOMED FOR LIFE.

"OH MY GOD! MY POOR DARLING," IN GRIEF SHE CHIED.

Cox, the Abston Murderer is Doomed for Life.—The Agony of His Grief Stricken Wife.

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

DOOMED FOR LIFE.

"OH MY GOD! MY POOR DARLING," IN GRIEF SHE CHIED.

Cox, the Abston Murderer is Doomed for Life.—The Agony of His Grief Stricken Wife.

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."

ATLANTA, GA., May 7.—The jury in the Cox case went out all night and came in at noon to-day, to be recharged in full. At a quarter to four o'clock, p. m., they came in and announced that they had agreed upon a verdict. It was deemed to correct an informality, and was then read as follows: "The jury find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be punished by imprisonment for life."