Musical Entertainment.

From the character of the programme it is to be presumed that the citizens of Hillsboro will have a pleasant time at the musical entertainment to be given on the 26th of June by the young ladies of the school superintended by the Misses Nash and Miss Kollock, in that place. The selections are popular as well as good, and consist of excerpts f.om "Lucia di Lammermoor," "Linda di Chamoux," "Carmen," "Martha," etc. Signor S. D'Anna will preside as with Dick Fowler went riding in Pomp's pony wagon. They were going down the hill near Crabtree bridge. The pony slipped and feil the wagon shafts ran in the ground and precipitated the wagon over the pona's head and the occcupants helter skelter. Mr. Bryan clung to his child and suffered a broken arm, and a severe contusion on the head in his efforts to save the little boy. Mr. Fowler | C. Battle said he "nigh about busted his head, that was the last ride he wanted ever to take in that cart."

Another Centennial.

Franklin county does not purpose letting Charlotte, King's Mountain and all the other places in the State have a centennial, without an effort in that direction also. Consequently the Fourth of July has been chosen for the day upon which to celebrate the Centermal year of the county of Franklin and town of Louisburg. Committees have been appointed to raise the wherewithal to have a good time, and they will at once open subscriptions of money, pigs, turkeys, chickens, lambs, etc., expect to have a museum of curr osities, the Louisburg cornet band, a brass cannon, a torchlight procession, a Martha Washington ball, and other

The association wind up their call as follows: "Let your several townships vie with each other in what you shall do and give. Search your closets and your garrets, fatten your pigs, stir up your local pride, open your pockets, report to the members of the committees in your respective townships, and on the fourth of July come, and let your children come; and long after you are gone, your children's children shall tell of a grand old time in glorious old Franklin, a bundred years ago."

Statesville's Excitement-A Robber

A private letter from Statesville rings us the intelligence that a band f burglars have just been found and broken up there. The letter was not ntended for publication, but we copy "Statesville has been in a fever of excitement during the past week over with a practical working law library | the fact that Melville Millen has proven himself the "boss rascal of the county. Within the past two or three weeks burg'aries unnumbered have been committed; and together with three negroes, Alex Bradwell, Chalmers Bell and Melville Miller have been implicated. Chalmers Bell, I believe is only a bonded witness. Millen concocted the whole thing, and was boss of the gang. Bell is at liberty, but Bradwell and the negroes are in jail. Millen has not yet been aught. Saturday night a party of about thirty five men on horses went to get him, but up to this son, Esq., leading gentlemen in the time Sunday evening: I have not heard the result. He was seen Saturday, by Clayton Stevenson, I believe, and swore he would not be taken alive. The gang, or rather Millen and one of the negroes-Mose Murchison-broke into Charlie Davis' bilhard saloon and Tunstall's drug store, taking money, tobacco, wine, cigars,

"Hearing that old man Nick Stikeleather had $1,500 in his house. Millen proposed that they go get it; accordingshe took Bradwell and one of the negrees with him and went to the house; broke in, but didn't get any money. The revenue warehouse was also brosken open and several hundred gallons of liquor taken out. The next morning Dr. Campbell found that his buggy had seen used the might before, and his out that Millen had gotten the buggy stolen liquor. It is said that there is already enough evidence to hang Milu and Bradwell-don't know whether it is true or not; but suppose it is, for they entered Stikeleather's house and

The Rich California Banker.

When it had become known that one f the richest California bankers had eft the Pacific Coast and transferred his base of operations to the New York Stock Exchange all the shrewd financiers watched his course with keen interest to see how he would succed. The result has emphatically proved the wealthy banker's sagacity. Besides having a much wider and more promising field to operate in, he is known to have been in several stock combinations that paid immense profits. By the combination method of operating in stocks Messrs, Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N.
