GOING TO RUIN.

JOHN B. HUNNEY.

A foreigner unacquainted with the political usages and journalism of this country would have good grounds for believing the assertion made almost daily that the nation was on the verge of ruin. Partisan papers of either side advocate their respective political creeds, and endeavor to convince evervone except themselves and the professional politicians that unless their cause prevails evils manifold and untold will result. Disrespectful personal allusions appear, for it was long ago discovered that ridicule in most cases was a more potent weapon than argument. Still, underlying all this surface froth of badinage is a certain amount of respect, for as a rule only men of ability and fair moral character are put forward for the suffrages of the people. To be sure, in limited localities and where the office to be filled is of little consequence the rule may be the exception. But it will, nevertheless, he found that the man most vigorously assailed in politics, religion, or political economy, is the one that is most feared-that his utterances and deeds command the largest attention.

The national territory is so large and its productions so diversified that the opposing interests seem bound to clash at every step, and yet time seems to soften their opposition by a change of centers of production. Forty years ago the South was for "free trade," her great cotton interests demanding it. while New England and Pennsylvania were vigorously fighting for a "protective tariff;" the former to maintain her great manufacturing industries in both woolen and cotton fabrics, and the latter on account of her iron production. Now the "tariff tinkers" are laughed at. The Atlanta Dispatch advocates less cotton planting and more corn raising, and says that there are thousands of acres in that State that are well fitted for sheep-raising and woolgrowing, and Tennessee and northern Georgia are expatiating on the advantages to be derived from the iron works at Chattanooga, "the Pittsburg of the South," while the New England manufacturers can produce their goods so much cheaper and better than the English that they do not fear competi-

This puts one of the old sectional issues out of the way; the other, the slavery question, is also dead. Yet, to a certain degree, the business of the country is still unsettled, and it may be truthfully attributed to the wild utterances of rabid politicians and a partisan press. This has a bad effect; yet the danger after all is not so serious, and if those who are engaged in fomenting discord would but stop and see that they are burting themselves as well as the country at large, it would be avert-

New enterprises are undertaken weekly; new industries are springing up, that augur well for future prosperity. The Mississippi region will be benefited immensely by the improvements at the mouth of that river as Captain Eads has only 1,500 feet of concrete to lay and the South Pass jetties will be finished. He obtained $500,000 about two weeks ago from the Treasury, upon showing that he was ahead of his contract, the water in the jetty channel being over the required depth. It will require $300,000 more to complete the great work.

From Florida we learn that General Sandford proposes to turn that almost unknown country to good account. He is negotiating for the importation of Italian companies to be located on his land in Alachua county in that State. The colonists will be practical gardeners and grape-growers. The object of their importation is to introduce the cultivation of foreign varieties of grapes in Florida for the manufacture of wine.

Wendell Pnillips says that the Republican party has ruined the South and bankrupted the West and compelled the negro to fly, and his former Republican associates do not admire this style of talk for the reason, we presume, that the statement would not particularly benefit their political schemes. Yet it was not their fault that the South wasn't ruined. Cotton has been commanding high prices, and lately a trade has sprung up between | and Messrs Thurman and Hendricks this country and Great Britain. Within the past few months, nearly every steamer leaving Boston and New York for Liverpool has carried from three hundred to three thousand barrels, and there seems to be good reason for the expectation that the shipment of sugars to the present country may become a most important auxiliary of our export trade. A temporary falling off in demand the last few weeks has been caused by the fact that Englishbound vessels have been heavily laden, and that freight accommodations were not easily procurable. In our State railroads are being pushed forward, and soon a large extent offits territory will be accessible by their means. The earth's products have done well this year, and questions of home manufacture are attracting the attention of our people. With cotton factories in oreration, lumbering es ablishments clearing away the immense forests and proving a source of wealth, our large field crops in healthy condition, surely North Carolina is anything but ruined, and offers as many advantages for settlers as any other State. And the Old North State is but a type of the rest. Maufactories that have been closed for years are swinging open the doors-the call for labor is widespread-there is no need of starving. The country is not going to ruin!

A WASHINGTON special to the Cincinnati Gazette says there is no longer any doubt that the friends of Senator Chandler intend to push him persistently from the first opportune movement as a Presidential candidate before the next national convention. They are actively looking over the ground, and some work has already been done, both in the National Committee and out of it, enemies of liberty.

It is also understood that the Senator is in the hands of his friends for the purpose they have in view. They declare that they can claim for him with perfect confidence that he would have an honest administration, and that in regard to all pending national issues he would give the Union loving people as strong Editor. a government as our Constitution and laws will allow. Though he has not yet written the conventional private letter on the subject, it may be taken for granted that at an early day Senator Chandler will appear on the track.

> MISS LILLIE DUER has been found guilty of manslaughter. This is an unexpected verdict and may be attributed to either of two causes: the unpopularity of the young woman coupled with an aversion to her peculiar masculine tastes, or to the fact that she was the remote cause of Miss Hearn's death. The evidence of the attending physiclans made it plain that chloral was used in large quantities and in an unmethodical manner, and if such evidence is reliable she should have been acquitted. The only pertion of evidence that could possibly warrant a verdict such as was rendered, was the dying declaration of Miss Hearn that 'Lil, did it on purpose," Of course there will be a new trial which will undoubtedly reverse the decision ren-

CAPTAIN EADS, of jetty fame, says "it 'is alle to spend $150,000,000 in digging "a canal through the Isthmus when by "spending one-third as much along the "line of the present Panama Railroad "it will be perfectly easy to take ships "and their cargoes bodily over the Isth-"mus." His plan would be simply to dig a ship canal with locks alongside the railroad. He believes it to be practicable, and, as compared with the planlately recommended at the Isthmus Canal conference, on the other side, very

For the fist time in the history of New York State, all the administrative officers of the State are to be chosen at next fall's election on a single day. The Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor, the Comptroller, the Secretary of State, the Attorney General and the Treasurer. The Governor and Lieutenant-Governor are to hold office for three years, while the others are elected for two years. c

It appears to us that if yesterday's report of the proceedings in the House is correct, Mr. Garfield entertains peculiar views. He says: "The bill "[judicist] places the President in "an attitude where he must "either observe his oath and execute the "laws and thereby subject himself "to impeachment, or he must vio-"late his oath and conscience." How the President can be impeached for observin his oath an executing the the laws is a new idea, which no one but an impeachment hunter would

POLITICAL NOTES.

Mr. Tilden is keeping very quiet about it, but he is making all of his arrangements to run Honorable Clarkson N. Potter for Governor of New York next fall. Mr. Potter is willing, and not only so but he is an able man, a strong man and a wily politician. If he and our Uncle Samuel put their heads together the success of their undertaking need surprise no one; and if they carry New York next fall, watch Uncle Sammy caper up next fall and scoop in the Presidential nomination. - Charlotte

The Tribune declares that "The Deurcrats have conducted their retreat skfilfully. ' Our contemporary's declaration recalls the case of the passenger who, waking up while the train was passing a stationary train at the depot, went out to the platform and umped off, under the impression that it was the opposite train that was in motion. - Philadelphia Times.

In case Tilden should be put at the head of the ticket, now that Governor Hendricks has peremptorily declined to permit the use of his name in connection with the Vice Presidency, it might not be unwise to give buoyancy to the novement by tacking General Ewing to the tail of the ticket .- Lum-

To be Decided by the South. Washington Post.

The contest for the Republican nomination for the Presidency is to be decided by Southern States, where that party has no organization, and from which it does not expect a single electoral voter. Even in its National Convention the will of the majority is to be set aside, and a minority will name its candidates. This will not be pleasant to many of the Northern leaders, but it will be simply applying to them the same rule that has dictated the affairs of the Government ever since 1874. We shall see how these doctors will take their own specifics.

Common Ground.

Hastings Home Journal The handful of National Representatives at Washington do well in allying themselves with the Democrats in resisting this encroachment upon a free ballot. It is common ground. However we may differ upon other important questions, upon this the whole opposition to corrupt rule of an imperious dictatorial party who have grown rich, and fat upon subsidies, high salaries, and usury are united. Let us make a common warfare against any and all Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are: It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning It will no. noke up, and requires no cleaning. It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.) It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, de-stroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy con-It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.

It can be attached to any boiler. No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse-power.
