

VOL. XV.—113. THE PRINCE IMPERIAL. THE LAST RITES OF THE DEAD AT CHIMELBOURNE.

A selection of Royal Pall-Bearers—An immense Concourse—The Weather Favorable.

LONDON, July 12.—It has been announced that the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of Connaught and the Crown Prince of Sweden will act as pall-bearers at the funeral of the Prince Imperial to-day.

Various accounts mention that there is some amount of ill feeling in France, and a great demonstration of mourning in England for the dead Prince.

In the French Senate on Friday a motion to postpone the nomination of a committee on Jules Ferry's education bill because of the absence of the Bonapartists, was resisted by M. Pellot.

The funeral of the Prince Imperial took place this morning at 11 o'clock. The deceased was borne to the funeral on the coffin which had been prepared by the late Prince's family.

At 11 o'clock the coffin was carried to the cemetery at Chislehurst, where it was placed on the funeral pyre.

The funeral of the Prince Imperial was one of the grandest ever witnessed in England. The cortege was magnificent.

The Prince Imperial was a brave and noble youth. His death was a great loss to the world. His funeral was a magnificent display.

"THE FOURTH ESTATE."

THE "NEWS" LIEND SCISSORS IT DOWN TO A FINE POINT. Ten Minutes Confidential Chat with the "Brethren"—Curiosities of the "News" Exchange List.

THE DIGNITY OF THE PROFESSION. The Star objects to the frequent use of the word "brethren," and the "constant reference to the United States as a Nation" in Moore's history of North Carolina.

MOORE'S HISTORY. The Star objects to the frequent use of the word "brethren," and the "constant reference to the United States as a Nation" in Moore's history of North Carolina.

THE DEMOCRATIC GAIN. The People's Press expresses gratification at the results of the extra session and honestly believes that "the Democrats have not budged from their original position, but have really gained more than they set out to do."

GLENN'S SPEECH. Of this speech which the News has already readily commended, the Salisbury Watchman says: "It was a happy success as a broad, patriotic and liberal embodiment of sentiment, thoroughly national without a word of sectionalism to mar its symmetry."

THE ORGAN-ISM. "The official organ of Elizabeth City, strangely enough called The North Carolina, indulges in a prodigious giggle at the expense of the Democratic party."

THE BACHELOR EDITOR'S VIEWS. Peace Institute has brought the grins to Dosey B's blushing cheeks. The Southerner, eminently practical and philosophical writer, writes in an issue which would prefer to read a good book rather than an exotic piano-banjo.

THE WILMINGTON REVIEW GLANCES AT A MAP OF THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE AND A longer dissertation in the Review. M. de Lesseps projected canal across the Isthmus of Darien. The Review hints at an application of the "Monroe doctrine."

HOW MAINE GOT VANCE ON THE HIP. The Elizabeth City Economist. At first it was an even drive, and Vance stood up to the veteran senatorial gladiator from Maine, quite well for one so young, but toward the close, when Vance began to read a descriptive imagery about glittering rainbows and thunderbolts, and dew drops, and maiden's prayers, and the warble of twittering birds in the swaying green leaf and the prismatic hues of the rainbow reflected in drops of dew dancing in the golden sunlight, he had Zeb on the hip. Then Vance, who has his good sense but laughing as merrily as the rest.

AGRICULTURAL DEPRESSION. The London correspondent of the Greenville Express ably discusses the agricultural depression in England and writes like a vindictive god, he has practiced eye quickly read the worst. William Allen was dead. His great soul had left his body, as he had often said it would, without a struggle, without pain.

HOW TO SWIM. Nothing is more easy. When the air is in the body, the owner sinks; when the air is in the body's owner floats. Let any one slowly draw in his breath as he draws back his legs and push forward the body, and he will be in the act of sitting down, when he seemed to wilt. As he sat down his head fell forward on his breast, and his arms hung limp, and his eyes were closed. The wife and daughter said he had fainted. The doctor thinking this to be the case, gently raised his head, and he opened his eyes quickly read the worst. William Allen was dead. His great soul had left his body, as he had often said it would, without a struggle, without pain.

THE SWISS BRIDAL CUSTOM. In these times when all are, or ought to be practicing economy, it would be well for us to adopt the Swiss custom of having a list of things which are necessary for housekeeping, with which her parents are not able to furnish her. The list is made up of things which are necessary for housekeeping, with which her parents are not able to furnish her.

THE BEYMORE CASE. New York, July 12.—The coroner's jury in the case of John E. Seymour, who was mysteriously shot and killed in the grounds of the Theological Seminary on the night of July 3d, rendered a verdict that Dr. Seymour's cause was the death from a pistol shot wound in the left breast accidentally received at the hands of some person unknown in the grounds of the Theological Seminary on the night of the 3d of July.

QUARANTINE AT CALRO. CALRO, Ill., July 12.—The steamer City of Helena, from Vicksburg, was not allowed to land here last night. Quarantine regulations have been enforced against all steamers and trains from Memphis, in accordance with a resolution adopted by the board of health.

OLD POINT COMFORT.

A PLEASANT PLACE TO SPEND A VACATION. Pretty Girls to Stare at You—A Sail Up the Potomac—Washington's Attractions.

Correspondence of the News. PORTSMOUTH, July 11.—To young men contemplating spending a few weeks from home, there is no place to compare with Old Point and Washington. A warm and disagreeable ride will be encountered as far as Norfolk, but when you reach Old Point, delightful and constant breezes will greet you, pretty girls in abundance will stare at you to see what kind of a "hair pin" you are.

Breeze Pudding.—Dissolve one-half a box of pudding in a pint of boiling water; add two cups of sugar and the juice of two lemons; after this has become cool (not cold), break into it the white of three eggs; beat all to a stiff froth; make a soft custard with the yolks of the eggs, adding three other and a quart of milk; pour the whites into the moulds, and when ready for use, turn them out, pouring the custard over.

To Remove Sunburn.—Milk of almonds, obtained at the druggist's, is as good as anything to use, and to keep wrinkles out of the face use tepid water instead of cold. If the wrinkles are deep apply a little turpentine before using. Some ladies use a patch of cotton or paper saturated with the milk, and then radicate these emblems of care and age.

Cleanliness and Health.—We are desirous to remind housekeepers that when they commence the periodical removal of their domestic special attention should be given to cellars. They should not only have the benefit of thorough ventilation, but they should have their cellars examined for articles of decaying vegetable matter or other objectionable substance removed. Scrupulous care in these particulars may prevent sickness.

Old Point Pudding.—Mix two ounces of Scotch oatmeal in a quart of milk; add sugar to taste, and stir over the fire for ten minutes; then put in two ounces of sifted bread crumbs; stir until the mixture thickens; add one ounce of butter, and one or two well beaten eggs; add a little lemon flavoring or grated nutmeg. Put the pudding into a buttered dish, and bake slowly for an hour.

Arrozoni Pudding.—Boil a quart of milk and make it into a thick batter with arrowroot. Add the yolks of six eggs, half a pound of sugar, one-quarter of a pound of butter, half a nutmeg and a pinch of salt. Bake in a pudding mold for an hour.

To Bake Eggs.—Butter a clear smooth saucepan, break as many eggs as will be needed into a saucer one by one. If found good slip into the dish. No yolks or white of eggs are to be used. You crowd so as to risk breaking the yolk after put in. Put a small piece of butter on each and sprinkle with pepper and salt. Bake in a hot oven. Bake it until the whites are set. If the oven, is rightly heated it will take but a few minutes, and is far more delicate than fried eggs.

The Bedford Inquirer says that a tea-spoonful of alcohol and a glass of water will destroy current worms, green flies, rose worms and other insects without injury to fish, geraniums, calla, etc. It is applied with a sprinkling can two or three times a week. We learn from another source that corn cobs saturated with kerosene and dried in the sun will keep away the curculio, and also that one ounce of gum camphor dissolved in one pint of alcohol mixed with wine will keep away the curculio, and applied with a brush all over the bedstead, is a sure remedy for bed bugs.

The Butcher's Courtship. BY CHARLES FOLLEN ADAMS. "Oh, my Mary Ann" he said, "Will you be my loving bride, I cannot live 'mother day without you, Your bright smile lights up my life."

Whisper yes, before we part, And the tenderlines of love I'll cast about you!" Then the rascal, growing bolder, Draw her head upon his shoulder; With the ribbons on her bonnet fluttered free; And fore-quarter of an hour They reclined within her bower, And she promised him she ever true would be.

"Now," says he, "I must be going! Don't you hear the cattle low! I can carry here no longer, lo! you can steal a silver dollar." Keep your pluck and spirits up while I'm away!" Then he turned to cross a mead, Where the horned cattle feed, And wasn't paying very much attention to the gender of the herd, When he suddenly occurred An accident he fain would never mention.

He charged to look a roarer, When toward him, with a bound, Came their masculine protector or the hen; And so brisket seemed to him To kick him, or to even shin a tree. To thank him, or to even shin a tree. He was bulled down, so to speak, Sorely rumped, cowed and weak, And still steer, hereafter, clear from bulls and cows. The tall, alas! is a bull that's dead? Then beware the quick contraction of his brow!

CATHOLICISM IN AMERICA.

The Latest Document of the Propaganda in Rome Concerning its Organization.

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—The America, a German daily published in this city, will to-morrow contain the latest document of the Propaganda in Rome concerning the organization of the Catholic Church in the United States. This document, the genuineness of which is vouched for by prominent Western Bishops, declares:

First. That the instructions of July 20, 1878, do not apply to the transfer of priests from one congregation to another. Second. That the instructions of July 20, 1878, do not apply to the transfer of priests from one congregation to another. Third. That the instructions of July 20, 1878, do not apply to the transfer of priests from one congregation to another.

Juvenile Liberty in Russia. Exchange. The rector of the St. Petersburg Scholastic District has issued a circular to the principals of the different schools, regulating the dress and behavior of their pupils. The latter are enjoined to remain in their homes at five o'clock, any member of the Imperial family, the Minister of Public Instruction, Governor-General, priests, and other persons in authority. The schools are further forbidden to use tobacco, or to go to masquerades, clubs, cafes, or public gardens. Each is also required to show a permit, which his identity when called upon to do so.

The Mosquito. Buzz-z-z-z-z! Buzz-z-z-z-z! Then we chase around the room, Bark our shouts up in the gloom. To build that insect's tomb! With a loud and hollow-slip, But how vain is our endeavor, More uncertain than the weather, For we hit him "hardly ever" And back he comes upon our blood to sip.

Free Quinine. Fever and ague will now be a luxury in which even the poorest can indulge. Now that the duty has been raised on quinine, Quinine is not the most pleasant stuff in the world to take. It is not likely to form the basis of a syrup for children, as it is so bitter. It has been caught taking quinine for pleasure; still when a person wants quinine, it is like wanting a pistol in Texas, he won't be satisfied with anything but the best. A tax of forty-five per cent. taken from this bitter but valuable drug. It is estimated that this tax has wrought from a fever-stricken people $80,000,000 since it was put on.

They Sigh for the Good Old Times. Grand Rapids Democrat. The reason why many of the Republican leaders desire Grant's election is because they long for a return of the regime in which the Babcocks and the Beckys of the party may expect a commanding influence.

Another Extra Session. N. Y. Herald. A prominent Democratic Congressman brook his daughter's in-laws to be evened because she permitted her lover to stop a while after ten o'clock. "La, pa, said she, 'we were only holding a little extra session.'"

Scenes in the Texas Legislature. In the Texas House of Delegates last Saturday an altercation and fight occurred between Representatives Ashbel Smith and Boylston. Both are old gentlemen, Smith being nearly 80, and Boylston, while Mr. Taylor is the Republican leader in the House, Dr. Smith kicked Taylor. There was a great uproar when Smith hit Boylston, Speaker Cochran: "I was only illustrating the Governor's position of pay as you go."

Oakwood Cemetery. The Oakwood Cemetery Association are now in a fair (no pun) way to accomplish something practical. The Association has determined to enlist the public spirited ladies of Raleigh in that behalf.

A Warm Reception. Charlotte Observer. A sensation of quite a threatening character was produced in Shelby last Thursday afternoon. It seems that Mr. J. P. Babington, editor of the Aurora, published in that town, published a statement concerning the conduct of some ladies, guests at Claveland Springs, which was highly offensive to their friends, and on the following day a gentleman, also a guest there, went over to Shelby to see him about it, intending, it is said, to cowhide him on sight. The editor was out of town, and a meeting was subsequently arranged for 3 o'clock the following afternoon. Accordingly the gentleman and a friend of his went to the office at the hour,

A TERRIBLE ENCOUNTER.

A "NEWS" MAN IN SEARCH OF THE NORTH POLE. Chased by a Fiery Untamed Monster with Flaming Nostrils—A Fan, if You Please.

It was rumored about meridian yesterday that old "Probs." had threatened a warm spell of weather. We, like the enigmatical, energetic reporter that we are, got out a search warrant for it. The rumor was agile of leg and eluded our argus eye. We use the word argus because it sounds well. It may mean Limburger cheese or habes corpus for all we know. But to return to the rumor. It defied the combined efforts of the detective force and the aforesaid argus eye to capture it. It skipped over the pavement and hid in the gutters. It climbed the church steeples and hid into the cellars. We gave up the search. Then we went to look for the hot weather. We found it. There was no search warrant necessary in its case. It was down on the corner waiting for us. It was also at other places where our innocent feet had sometimes wandered. We sometimes give our feet holiday, and they go where we would be loath to be seen. For instance, a beer saloon, we never went inside a beer saloon but once—once an hour. And then we didn't drink beer. We took lemonade. We have often seen the lemon very weak.

It had been all over town looking for us. We are sorry now that it found us. We were trying to hide from it by getting outside of the lemonade. The lemonade was very weak, and the weather was so hot, and the lemonade was so weak, and the weather was so hot, and the lemonade was so weak, and the weather was so hot.

And all over the town did this fiery, untamed monster with flaming nostrils, stalk blundering his hot, heavy tread over the pavement of our streets, melting up little children like so many lumps of ice. Every effort to check it was vain. Nothing could retard its progress. It knew no social life, and made up his mind to get the sturdy-bodied member of the Legislature and the sweet girl graduate. It took them all in and pulled the perspiration out of their pores, and heaved into the air such a cloud of dust as would have filled the lungs of the people who walked on them. It boiled the water in milk until the poor attracted children like so many lumps of ice. It parched the tongue of good report, and blistered the cheek of a government minister. Down at the beach it showed off to a good advantage. As it lumbered around among the trains the firemen on the engines cut up its hot breath in such a way that it could not be used in the town, and caused some trouble, however. One of the firemen carelessly laid a large chunk of wood on the sidewalk, and the monster stepped on it, and heaved into the air such a cloud of dust as would have filled the lungs of the people who walked on them. Down at the beach it showed off to a good advantage. As it lumbered around among the trains the firemen on the engines cut up its hot breath in such a way that it could not be used in the town, and caused some trouble, however. One of the firemen carelessly laid a large chunk of wood on the sidewalk, and the monster stepped on it, and heaved into the air such a cloud of dust as would have filled the lungs of the people who walked on them. It boiled the water in milk until the poor attracted children like so many lumps of ice. It parched the tongue of good report, and blistered the cheek of a government minister.
