HE HAS BY NO MEANS GIVEN UP HIS PROPOSED FINANCIAL PLAN YET.

SILVER MEN STAND IN THE WAY.

But Another Attempt Will Probably Public Park -- Mr. Henderson's Post- put to him: office Bill -- Ransom and Hill on Untriendly Terms.

Special to the News and Observer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 15. Mr. Carlisle has not given up his financial plan yet. Twenty-five members who, par ment. voted against the report of the Committee on Rules, say they are ready to vote for it with a few modifications, and expected to do so after having an opportunity to vote on the alternative proposition first. It is believed next week that, in view of the attitude of these gentlemade in the House, with more promise

But there is no way of predicting that ences of opinion are so radical that it is difficult to agree upon any plan.

The Republicans, who can prevent action in the Senate, are saying nothing, and refuse to lend any assistance to any legislation, preferring to wait till next December when they will be in power in both houses of Congress.

If nothing is done at this session, the President will call an extra session of Congress to pass a measure. The Repub licans will then come to the bat. As a matter of fact, they are more in harmony with the President on purely financial questions than the majority of the Democrats, and unless prevented by the main charge. silver contingent in the Senate, they would withdraw all the treasury notes and pay them in bonds. The President, failing to secure anything else, would doubtless approve the bill. That would be the measure of "financial relief" the Republicans would give the country. They would vote for such a measure now if the Democrats would push it, but the Democrats are unwilling to further reduce the amount of money in circulation when the West and South are clam oring for inflation rather than contrac-

Ransom and Hill Out.

In the lively debate in the Senate yesterday between Senators Gorman and gress. Hill, the question of caucus secrets came up Hill claimed that if a be tain con-tradiction made by Gorman are true, the secret was kept better than any others. Just then Senator Ransom arose and in a most emphatic manner declared that one caucus secret had been better kept than the one referred to, but per baps the New York Senator might not care to have it divulged. There the colloguy ended, but across the desks Gen. Ransom and Senator Hill kept up the talk. It could not be heard in the gal-

It is well known here that when the Democratic caucus was held to elect the present officers of the Senate it was re ported that Senators Ransom and Hill had a serious misunderstanding. Neither would talk at the time. They are equally reticent now, but things got dangerously warm yesterday.

dence of all Parties.

PARIS, Jan. 15.-M. Casimir-Perier has resigned the office of President of France. He announced his resignation this afternoon at a specially summoned meeting of the Cabinet, having previously informed M. Callimel-Lacour, the President of the Senate, of his inability to solve the prob-lem presented by the resignation of Premier Dupuy. The news of the President's resignation spread like wild-fire throughout Paris and was received everywhere with consternation amounting almost to paralysis. In the newspaper offices the first report was considered absurd, but was soon confirmed. Almost simultaneously crowds began gathering in front of the newspaper offices and in the public places, inquiring for further particulars and discussing the situation. Interview with M. Challemel-Lacour. M. Challemel-Lacour, president of the Senate, courteously allowed himself to be interviewed by the United Press correspondent this evening, knowing the great pressure of business suddenly thrust an him by the president's resignation. He said that he had not yet decided whether to convoke the national assembly to elect a successor to Casimir Perier on the 18th or 19th instant. He will probably announce the date to-morlie communication to his inability to defend himself in the presidency, may be explained by the fact that as he was a sub-Secretary of State in the cabinet, sub-Secretary of S which concluded the railway convention 1893, he regards the adverse vote on the subject Monday as a personal reflection upon him, although he had no vote in the cabinet when the conventions were York to attend a meeting of Southern made. Whether this be the true reason of his resignation or not, it proves to what lengths he is prepared to go against the socialists, whom he regards as planning a revolution. When the United Press correspondent left the Chamber of Deputies at 7 o'clock this evening, not the slightest allusion of Casimir-Perier's intention to resign had been even suggested, so that the announcement, when made, came like a thunner clap from a clear sky Newspaper men received the news with jubilation. The editors of La Petite Republique were wildly elated, but considered it certain that Casimir-Perier would be re-elected if he would be a candidate again. Other wise, there is a conceusus of opinion hat Henry Brisson is certain to be elected to the Presidency of the Republic.
