Mr. Pearson but he believed that with Ewart, Lusk and Senator Moody would have carried the 9th district by over 3,000; that Mr Pearson wanted Mitchell county for his own ends; that he thought the 8th district without Mitchell would be Democratic; he was willing to accept the amendment of White. It had been stated that Mitchell county wanted to go and this would decide it ; he said petitions were on the way and if the S-nate would wait, he would show the body that the county was not in favor of going to the district.

Senator Can dler said he was from the Ninth and had not gone back on it. Senator Fortune was opposed to changing any county at the present time; that it the Republicans did their duty in Congress they could carry the Eighth district next time as it they did not do their duty they did not deserve to win. (Mr. Lusk, of the House, was an intent listener during the discussion.) Senator Fortune was opposed to it and would vote against it. Senator Farthing spoke in fa-vor of the amendment, that the people could do as they please, that this vas a fair proposition. Senator Black thought leaving the question to the people would be an unnecessary tax upon the people.

Senator Herbert asked what was the use of having a caucus unless you were going to abide by it. Senator Herbert said he had 11 petitions, representing 1,100 voters. Senator White: How many voters had the county? Senator Herbert dida't know. Senator White asked Senator Black what his majority was? Senator Black said 1,022. Senator Herbert asked why had not the other side brought their petitions. "Because," said Senator Mar-shall, "we did not think it it necessary: we thought the Senate would do what was right." (Messrs McClammy and Ray came in from the House and were interested listeners.) Senator Mewborne said the caucus had decided the matter-while he knew nothing about this matter-he knew how the caucus stood and favored, therefore, the transfer. Senator Marshall asked had not Senator Pearson four years ago voted to put Mitchell county in the Eighth district. Senator Candler said he did not know, and called the previous question. The amendment of Senator White, of Alexander, was put and lost.

The bill was put upon its second reading, the ayes and noes having been called, and passed by the following vote: Ayes 19; noes 7.

The bill was put upon its third readthat Wm. M. Wilson be declared elected ing. Senator Adams was concerned specially about Mecklenburg, the R-presenta tive had been called home ; he (Adams) knew his views, but out of Senatoria courtesy he thought he should be heard on it and moved the matter be postponed until to-day at 11:30 o'clock; Senator Hoover moved to table the bill, (with drawn at the request of Senator Cook) after suggestions agreed to take the bill up to day after the morning hour.

The City of Wilmington Charter.

Senator Rice referred to Senator Adams's stricture a few days ago that the city of Wilmington needed the Democrats to run its finances Senator Rice oulogized what he termed the "Jebbus-Democracy, and deplored the mian" great fall of the party from its former prestige. Senator Rice said that the Democrats naturally had shown them selves incapable of managing the finances of the country, and that they were go ing to trust the Democrats of Wilming ton now with the financial management in order to show their incompetency.

Senator Adams said Mr Rice was a fit one to pronounce the financial ser mon of the Democratic party, and it was the first time its funeral had been preached in the Senate. Senator Adams said that Mr Rice represented a party that stood for nothing, that had bartered its manhood a vay in an unholy alliance for the purpose of political economy; that no v the Republicans of Wilmington came forward with a gerrymander of that city by which they hoped to gather the spoils, which the Democrats would have to stand in the responsible place as the managers of the city's finance-: that, therefore, his original claim remained true, as was evidenced by the very make up. Mr. Adams spoke with earnestness and effectively.

The bill then pa-sed its second and third readings.

The till for the rechartering of the city of Beaufort passed its second reading:

Special order for to-day was made for the filling of the vacances in the Board Trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. Senators Mutchell and Starbuck were appointed Tellers on the part of the Senate.

The Mitchell County Case.

The bill for the transfer of Mitchell county to the Ninth Congressional District.

Senator Marshall thought it should be further considered before the committee. as the questions involved were complex and constitutional.

Mr. White said the people of Mitchell county lived close to the sky and he had the highest respect for them and if they wanted to go, he would bid then goodbye in the best of feeling. Senator Caudler rising under what he claimed to be personal privilege, said he had had his eye on this bill like a hawk, and that it had twice been adversely reported on: that its sense, for some reaon or other, had been irregular, and that the present position of the bill was to repeal chapter 405, acts of 1885. By on the calendar: that it had never been before the Senate. Senator Caudler dis played some feeling in his remarks, evidently being a bitter opponent of the bill. The President said he failed to see the question of personal privilege involved in the matter. (Mr. Caudler said personally to the reporter afterwards that the teacher from this school taught 20,-000 children, and he would fight for its full maintenance.)

Bill to place John W. Queen upon the pension roll, passed the second and third readings; to abolish the Criminal Court of New Hanover county, with a substitute to form a new Criminal Court that | ful negligence, was taken up. This was will lesson the expenses of New Hanover county

Seaator Fowler made a strong talk against the establishment of new Crimi nal Courts, and saw no necessity tor them, except to give offices to a few men; that the people had not asked for it When it came to elevating men to office at the expense of the tax-payer, he stood by the tax-payer.

Senator Rice said it was his duty to bow to the will of the caucus. Senator Fowler wanted to know when this bill e-me up before the caucus. Senator Rice . "Weren't you at the caucus last night ?" Senator Fowler : "Not when this bill came up." Senator Rice : "Y. u bill unfairly. Lusk said this was must have been asleep; I saw you sitting " Senator Fowler: ,'Mr. President, there. He had found that a com mittee of conference had previously been appointed on the same bill. He therefore withdrew the committee named vesterday.

The Lost Amendment.

The much-talked-of bill allowing punitive damages, as well as other damages, in cases where railways are guilty of wilthe lost bill, about which some lively newspaper attacks have been made The bill passed second reading. Smith. of Gates, asked that it be referred to the Indiciary Committee. Lusk also wanted it so referred. Henderson said it ought to be referred to the committee on rail ways.
