SECRETARY OF STATE GRES-HAM WILL RECEIVE A SOL-DIER'S BURIAL.

TO BE INTERRED AT CHICAGO.

Funeral Services Will be Held at the White House To-day .- The President and all his Cabinet, Except Mr. Carlisle Will be Present-Diplomatic Corps, and Supreme Court Justices Will Attend in a Body -- All the Executive Departments Ordered Closed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 28 .- Walter Quinton Gresham will receive a soldier's burial. Except John A. Logan, of Illinois, no other man not of the regular army has ever before been honored by the ordering of United State troops to attend his funeral. The preliminary services will take place in the East room of the White House, which has witnessed some memorable obsequies, the last being those of President Harrison's wife, but which has never before been the scene of funeral services over a cabinet

There will further be this distinctive feature in to-morrow's sad ceremonies, that the draperies and other accessories will be entirely military in character. The flag which General Gresham loved so well, for which he fought so bravely, and in whose defence he was so grievously wounded, will be the chief emblem of mourning around his funeral casket. Bishop Hurst, of the M. E. Church, will conduct the services. He was a warm, personal friend of the dead Secretary, who himself was brought up in the Methodist faith, his father and mother belonging to that denomination.

All the cabinet will be present except Secretary Carlisle, who will join the funeral cortege en route to Chicago, where it has been finally determined that the interment shall take place. Secretary Hoke Smith, the only other absentee of the President's official family, returned this morning.

Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, as Dean of the Diplomatic Corps, this evening convened a meeting of the members of the Diplomatic Corps at his Embassy and they, after adopting resolutions of sympathy on the occasion of the grievous loss which the government of the United States has sustained, determined to attend the funeral services in a body. Similar action was also had by the Justices of the Supreme Court. All the executive departments have been ordered closed by an executive order. This action, with decoration day, a legal holiday, so closely following, will practi-cally shut off public business for the balance of the week.

The callers to-day at the Arlington annex, where the remains of the dead Secretary will remain unremoved to the White House until to morrow, included all the foreign ambassadors and ministers, the cabinet officers, the Judges of the Supreme Court and most of the other distinguished residents of the city, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland being among the

The Gresham apartments are in that part of the Arlington known as the Summer house, a building formerly occupied as a private residence by Charles Sumner, which faces Lafayette Square, one of the most beautiful public parks in Washington.

Half a block away workmen were busy erecting a theatre on the sight of the house where James G. Blaine died not more than two years ago. Shortly after half past ten o'clock the President and Mrs. Cleveland reached the White House from Woodley. In his private office Mr. Cleveland found Secretary Lamont and Secretary Morton waiting for him. No other Cabinet officers were present. It had been arranged that the President and the members of the Cabinet should see Mrs. Gresham at 11 o'clock to make arrangements for the funeral. The regular Tuesday's meeting which was set for that hour was therefore postponed, and at 40:45 Mr. and Mrs Cleveland were driven over to the Arlington, which is almost opposite the White House. The President was dressed in black clothes and wore a silk hat. He wore a long, close-fitting, black over-coat which contributed to his appearance of mourning. Mr. Cleveland did not look in good health, but showed signs of the severe bilious attack from which he has been recently suffering.
Secretary Lamont had reached the hotel from the White House just prior to the arrival of the President. He and Mrs. Lamont had been constantly in at tendance on Mrs. Gresham and had done much by their sympathy and active assistance to relieve her sorrow. They remained at the Arlington long after Mr. Gresham had passed away and were there again at 9 o'clock this morning. Secretary Lamont assumed a large part of the work necessary to perfect arrangements for the funeral, and made several of the suggestions which were subsequently adopted. During the morning many distinguished persons called at the Arlington and left their cards. Chief Justice Fuller was one of the first to appear. Attorney General Olney came just before the President and remained some time.

After a stay of three-quarters of an hour at the Arlington, the President and Mrs. Cleveland returned to the White Mr. Cleveland had tendered, and Mrs. Gresham had accepted, the use of the spacious East room for the fune-ral services, and the details of the funeral arrangements were left to the cabinet, which assembled at noon in its present with the exception of Mr. Carlisle. Acting Secretary Uhl represented the State Department.

The President's Proclamation. The President this afternoon issued the following proclamation:

By the President of the United States. Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State, of the United States, is dead.

"The President, in making this distressing announcement to his fellow countrymen, speaks from the depths of a personal affliction to remind them that they have lost a pure and able public servant, a wise, patriotic guardian of all their rights and interests, a manly and loyal American, and a generous and lovable man.

"As a suitable expression of National bereavement I direct that the Diplomatic representatives of the United States in all foreign countries display the flags over their Embassies and Legations at half-mast for ten days; that for a like period the flag of the United States be displayed at half-mast at all forts and military posts, and at all naval stations and on all vessels of the United States.

"I further order that on the day of the funeral the Executive Departments in the city of Washington be closed and that on all public buildings throughout the United States the national flag be displayed at half mast.

Troops of the escort will assemble at 9 o'clock a. m. on Pennsylvania Avenue, in front of the Executive Mansion. Route of the procession will be Pennsylvania Avenue to the Railroad depot. The military escort will consist of all the regular troops in and about Washington, namely, five troops of the Sixth Cavalry from Fort Myers, under Colonel Gordon; four batteries of the fourth and one of the third artillery from Washing-ton barracks, under Col. R. W. Closson; fourth artillery and the batallion of marines from the marine barracks and navy yard under command of Col. Heywood The escort will be under the command of Major General Ruger, U. S. A. The President and the members of the cabinet will accompany the remains to Chicago where the train will arrive some time on Thursday afternoon. The President and cabinet will consequently not be able to take part in any of the decoration day ceremonies in Washington on the 30th instant.

Honorary Pall-Bearers.

The honorary pall-bearers will be Sec retary Lamont, Attorney-General Olney, Secretary Smith, Postmaster-General Wilson, Secretary Herbert, Secretary Morton, Acting Secretary Uhl, representing the State Department, and Act ing Secretary Hamlin, representing Secretary Carlisle. Mr. Carlisle will join the funeral party en route. All these will accompany the remains to Chicago, with the possible exception of Mr. Ham lin, whose place will be taken by Mr.

The decorations of the East Room for the funeral services there to morrow are most elaborate, and exceed in beauty and impressiveness the attempts made on similar occasions. To carry out the intention to make the occasion purely military, the American flag is predominant in the decorative display. Wherever theeye wanders the stars and stripes are seen. Each of the four great saloon mirrors is half hidden by a large flag, and every window is curtained by hangings composed of the National standard, twenty feet long. These form the back ground for an effective display of growing plants and cut flowers.

Great spreading palms branch out from every window and are surrounded by potted oleanders and other greenery. White and gold flower pots holding smaller palms and innumerable varieties of evergreen, are banked on the mantels and beneath them, and cut flowers are interspersed here and there, while wreaths of smilax entwine mirrors and windows and doorways. The effectiveness of the arrangement will be greatly enhanced by the glow of electric lights, rendered soft through hemispheres of thick glass of a

A MOB TURNS HANGMAN

A CONDEMNED NEGRO LYNCHED BY TWENTY DETERMINED WHITE CAPS.

THEY FEARED A COMMUTATION.

The Ground for This Apprehension Was Repeated Visits of Specialists to Inquire Into the Prisoner's Sanity --A Placard Pinned to the Body Set Forth Reasons for the Lynching .-The Jail Door Battered Down With Sledges -- Hanged to a Tree.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 28.—Jacob Henn, the young colored man who was recently tried and convicted in the Howard county court, and sentenced to be hanged on June 16, was taken from the Elli-cott jail early this morning and hanged to a limb of a dogwood tree.

The lynching was the work of about 20 determined men, who thus avenged the murder of Daniel F. Shea, which was one of the most brutal crimes ever committed in Howard county. The lynchers feared that the Governor of Maryland might be induced to interfere and commute the man's sentence to life imprisonment.

The grounds for this apprehension came from the recent repeated visits to the jail of specialists in mental diseases to inquire into Henson's sanity and the reported intention of Gov. Brown himself to go out there for the same pur-

The belief had been growing that Henson's sentence might be commuted and he be spirited away to the Baltimore penitentiary. The effect of this belief was found in a placard which was left pinned to the dress of the negro on which was written: "We respect our court and judges. Governor Brown has forced the law-abiding citizens to carry out the verdict of the jury. (Signed) White Caps.

Shortly after mid night when the city was wrapped in slumber, masked men began to assemble by twos and threes and soon surrounded the jail. The jailor was then aroused with the statement, "We have come for Henson." Admit tance was refused, but the outer door was quickly battered down with iron sledges. The noise did not arouse the prisoner in his cell, nor was he awakened until the lock on his door gave way under the blows of the sledge hammer. As the lynchers rushed in he shrieked for mercy. It was useless. rope was thrown over the negro's head, and more dead than alive from fright, he was dragged from the cell. He alternately prayed and cursed as he was dragged down the jail steps.

Warden Lilly was out of town but his family begged the lynchers not to hang the culprit in the jail yard. He was bound and gagged, taken to Merrick's Lane, the rope was thrown over the limb of a dogwood tree, there was a final shrick, ending in a ghastly rattle, and the tragedy was over.

Mr. Shea was murdered for his money in his little Ellicott city store on the night of Tuesday February 19. Henson was in his employ and had been treated with great kindness. He confessed and his conviction took place at the March term of court. He confessed to having struck his victim with a hatchet and then hacked the head of Mr. Shea as he lay in the corner. Twenty-five distinct gashes were counted when the murdered man was prepared for burial.

FOR GOVERNOR OF OHIO.

The Republicans Nominated Bushnell Last night on the Sixth Ballot.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, May 28.—With cheers for McKinley and Foraker, and an ovation for John Sherman that brought suspicious moisture into the eyes that venerable statesman, the Re publican State Convention inaugurated its business this afternoon. It was one of the largest conventions that has ever responded to the call of the party managers. Five thousand people were packed in Memorial Hall, when the doors were closed on a crowd that would in itself have made a respectable assemblage.

Senator Sherman spoke with considerable energy, and his references to the currency question were loudly applauded. Warm greetings were also given to his naming of McKinley as Ohio's Presidential candidate and Foraker as her next Senator.

A night session was agreed upon, the usual committees were appointed, and the convention took recess until 8 p. m. The convention re-assembled promptly. Nominations for Governor were i: order at 8:20 and speeches were limited to five minutes with no seconds. J. W. Barger, Pike county; ex Speaker Joseph Warren Keifer, of Springfield; James H. Hoyt, of Cleveland; George K. Nash, of Columbus, (who was named by Congressman D. K. Watson); Robert M. Nevins, of Dayton; Lieut. Gov. A. E. of Problo; State Auditor E. W. Poe, of Bowling Green, were placed in nomination, and the convention at 9:20 yelled as one man for a ballot. Bushnell was nominated on the sixth ballot.

Its Annual Commencement Exercises Closed Last Night. Special to the News and Observer.

OXFORD, N. C., May 28. The Oxford Female Seminary commencement was inaugurated on Sunday last, with the sermon before the graduating class by Rev. C. A. G. Thomas, of Greensboro. He took for his subject "Glorying in the Cross of Christ," and treated it in an able and interesting manner. In the evening the sermon before the Maggie Nutt Missionary Society was preached by Rev. On Monday evening a cantata entitled "The Song of the Spheres" was presented by the young ladies of the Caliopean Society. This cantata was written by an accomplished lady of this town, and one formerly connected with the seminary. There were beautiful songs, beautiful tableaus, and of course beautiful girls, and the effect usual to such conditions was produced upon the audience.

The graduating exercises took place this morning, and were of a most pleasing character.

President Hobgood's report showed the seminary to be in a very flourishing condition, the increase of boarding students over the number of last year, being thirty-five per cent.

The annual concert gave evidence of the most thorough training and skill on the part of the director, a graduate of

HALIFAX COURT IN SESSION. Two Desperate Characters on Trial

for Robbery at Weldon. Special to the News and Observer.

SCOTLAND NECK, May 28. Halifax court is in session this week, with Judge McIver on the bench. There is quite a full criminal docket and even a larger civil docket. Two men who were imprisoned for larceny committed in Weldon sometime ago have shown themselves to be desperate characters. They are known in the indictment as "John Doe and Richard Roe," as they would not give their names. It has been discovered that they have written some letters while in jail for New York papers, charging the authorities here with cruelty to them in not properly feeding them and keeping the jail comfortable. The letters which they wrote were intercepted and were not sent off. When brought into court yesterday they asked that their case be deferred until Wednesday, when they expected to have counsel.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

A MOTHER KILLS HER DAUGH-TER AND THEN COMMITS SUICIDE.

THROATS CUT WITH A RAZOR.

The Mother Had Brooded Over Her Husband's Death Until She Had Become Insane-She had Gone With Her Victim to Visit an Elder Daughter-Both Bodies Found in the Same Room .-- The Young Girl Fought Desperately for Her Life.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 28.-Lying in the second story front room of 1713 Asquith street this afternoon were found the bodies of Marion G. Curtain, aged 49, and her 16-year-old daughter, Mat-tie. In the hands of the mother was a razor, fresh with the life blood of both. The elder woman had killed her daughter and committed suicide with the same instrument.

Mrs. Curtain and her daughter lived at 1,600 North Bond street. To-day they visited Mrs. Emma King, the elder daughter of the murderess, and in her absence from the house the shocking tragedy was committed. Upon her return from an errand that had occupied only a few minutes Mrs. King found her mother and sister stretched on the floor, while the compartment resembled a slaughter house. Blood was everywhere.

The ghastly discovery drove Mrs. King into the street shricking with fright and horror. A crowd soon gathered and physicians were hurriedly summoned. It was then discovered that mother and daughter were growing cold in death. The neck of the girl Mamie was slashed from ear to ear. Several other deep gashes were found on her neck.

The condition of the room, with its overturned furniture and blood stains, indicated that the girl had fought hard for her life. It is supposed that Mrs. Curtain cut her own throat immediately after she murdered her child, The girl was lying on the floor with her hands at her throat, and with every indication of having died in fearful agony. Mrs. Curtain's head was resting against the leg of a bed. One vigorous slash of the razor had been sufficient to put an end to her life. Her face wore its customary look of sadness.

Mrs. Curtain's husband, who was a saloon keeper on Central Avenue, died about three years ago, and she had brooded over his death ever since. several occasions she had threatened to do herself harm, and her relatives were contemplating placing her in an asylum to be treated for insanity.
