

LAI'D TO REST AT HOME

THE REMAINS OF THE LATE WILL H. KERR ARRIVED YESTERDAY, AND ARE BURIED IN OAKWOOD.

MR. MOORE'S BEAUTIFUL ADDRESS

The Body Accompanied by the Widow and a Party of Friends is Met by a Large Deputation of Raleigh Friends --Funeral From the Presbyterian Church--The Pure Character of the Deceased Impressively Outlined by His Former Fellow Pupil of Twenty Years Ago.

"Why did Will Kerr have so many friends who loved him?" asked a gentleman yesterday when he saw so many prominent men here to attend his funeral. "Because," was the reply, "he loved men. No man was ever truer to his friends, more self-sacrificing, or happier in giving pleasure to others. He never seemed to be able to do enough for his friends, and by his great hearted cleverness to them and his upright character, he bound them to him with hooks of steel."

"There was another reason. He loved North Carolina with a surprisingly passionate love, that was as fond as the love most men bear to their sweethearts. There was a touch of romance in this affection that came out in his calling his home 'Cherokee' and his yacht 'Watauga'. This attachment to the State drew him close to all who labored for its uplifting and advancement, and they fully reciprocated his regard and affection."

According to arrangements which had been made, a detailed account of which has already been published in the NEWS AND OBSERVER, the remains of the late Will H. Kerr arrived from Baltimore in the Union station yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

They were accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Kerr, Mrs. George F. Atkinson, wife of Prof. Atkinson, of Cornell University and sister of the deceased, Mrs. Patterson, of Salem, the mother of the surviving partner of the deceased, Mr. S. F. Patterson, of Baltimore, who was a partner of the deceased and who is a nephew of Mr. S. L. Patterson, Commissioner of Agriculture, Messrs. Sloan and Boykin, of Baltimore, Rev. Walter W. Moore and Mr. H. L. Smith, professor at Davidson College, both of whom were school and college mates of the deceased, Mr. F. H. Fries, of Salem, brother of Mrs. Patterson, Mr. W. R. Odell, of Concord; from Durham, Messrs. J. T. Kerr, cousin of the deceased, Geo. W. Watts, Julian S. Carr, Leo D. Heatt, J. B. Fuller, W. H. Hanks, W. H. Branson, Mr. Patterson, brother of Mr. S. F. Patterson, Mr. Scott, of Mebane and others.

The company were met at the station by Rev. Eugene Daniel, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and a large number of friends.

Mrs. Kerr was escorted from the train by Mr. W. C. Stronach and the rest of the party followed taking carriages which were in waiting, the ladies being driven to the home of Mr. W. C. Stronach.

The casket containing the remains of the deceased, followed by the procession, was taken to the Presbyterian church where it was placed in front of the pulpit to await the services of the afternoon. Rich flowers in appropriate design were put about it.

A little before five, the time set for the funeral services, the people began to come together at the tolling of the bell. Presently those who had been stricken came in, preceded by Rev. Mr. Walter W. Moore, who was to conduct the services, side by side with Dr. Eugene Daniel.

The heart-bearers were Messrs. Leo D. Heatt, Geo. W. Watts, T. B. Fuller, Rufus Patterson, of Durham; Prof. J. A. Holmes, of Chapel Hill, Mr. F. L. Newell, of the Geological Survey, Washington; Mr. Henry Lewis Smith, of Davidson College, Richard Battle, W. S. Primrose, D. H. Hill, B. R. Lacy, and Josephus Daniels.

The choir sang, very softly and sweetly, "Come to me."

Mr. Moore arose, and read a hymn, beginning "Thou art the way," a hymn, he said, which his dead friend loved, and which he had listened to with pleasure in this same church. Then he read from the bible, those comforting lessons in which occur, "ye sorrow not as those who have no hope," and again "He shall wipe away all tears from their eyes."

Mr. Moore then followed in a talk of half an hour, which in every way was perfect.

Mr. Moore is Professor of Greek at Hampden, Sidney College, Virginia, and twenty-two years ago was a fellow-pupil of the deceased, and later was a co-student with him at Davidson College.

The whole talk clustered about the bible notions of admonition and comfort, which gave superhuman warmth to words that were tender with June-lights. From his opening sentence until he had closed, there was hardly the sound of a breath. He told of his lad friend of years ago, of how their lives had come together so naturally, and character-colors came out under his touch which probably would never have come to human eye except under the spring glow of words from a friend of his own years and of his own heart.

Ripples of sunlight followed shadows in his picture of his friend, but it was mostly a picture of light, with only flying drift-clouds here and there. And it was all so simple, the telling of the tale, because the words were simple and put together with a finish that was Attic. Had the friend been absent, the scholar could not have so spoken, and had the scholar been absent, the friend could not have so spoken. The people drank in deeply everything that was said, and the shades of the afternoon seemed to make the message more sacred. Then, too, to many, memories must have come of the going away of a young man, of his fight with the world, of his success, of his purity of life, of his home-love, all the time during his life, and of his home-coming even after death to the folk and land from which he he sprang. Then, too, to all who knew of the details of the death, there came the picture of love and home intensified, in the giving up of his life for that of the child.

Rev. Dr. Daniel closed with a prayer of much chasteness and comfort.

So that when the services were over, all went out subdued at what they had heard.

They followed the hearse to Oakwood. There Mr. Moore said a few parting words of prayer.

Then as the little company about the grave were going away, the closing words of Mr. Moore's remarks in the church may have come to mind: "For," said he "let me tell you the story of his life, listen; and Enoch walked with God and was not."

And he was now laid to rest among his own.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at John Y. MacRae's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.

Too Tired to Smile

Weak, Weary and Worn

Dizziness, Impure Blood—Cured by Hood's.

Many weak and worn-out women know just what this means. In totally unfit condition for work, they force themselves through the daily routine of duties, almost too discouraged to even look for relief. But it is to be found in Hood's Sarsaparilla, which makes the blood pure, builds up the nerves, makes the weak strong and gives a cheerful spirit. Read this: "I have suffered more than tongue can tell from dizziness and severe pains in my head. I also felt so low spirited that I often said I wished I was dead. A friend suggested that I try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I gave it a trial and was more than surprised to see what a great change came over me after I had taken the first bottle. I felt better right away. I have now taken

Mrs. Wm. Smith, New York City.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures nearly five bottles and am happy to say I am entirely cured. I would advise all suffering on account of impure blood to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will cure." Mrs. Wm. Smith, 319 E. 88th St., N. Y. City.

Uses Mexican Mustang Liniment

On his horses, on his drivers.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 8, 1895. Lyon Mfg. Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—Having seen Mexican Mustang Liniment extensively advertised here induces me to tell you how useful it is to persons in the livery business. I have used it for the past 18 years on my horses for almost everything that horses are subject to. For sprains and stiff joints I do not think it has an equal, and for such things as harness galls and rubs it is wonderful.

I once had a very fine driver who was thrown from his carriage in a runaway and so severely bruised about his shoulders and breast that I did not think he would ever be able to get on a carriage again. I remembered, however, what Mexican Mustang Liniment did for my horses in case of bruises and had him use it constantly, and in about two weeks he was as good a driver as ever, and not an ache or pain remained.

I know you must get tired of receiving such letters, but I thought I would add one more testimonial to the usefulness of Mustang Liniment. Yours truly,

W. H. LANCASTER, For 18 years in Livery and Transfer business.
