"The captain never forgot for a second that he was a Clay," one of one of them explained. When General Hale was assigned to a brigade in the Philippines he ap-pointed Captain Clay to the position of adjutant. On the first day of Mac-Arthur's advance, Captain Clay, rid-ing erect as usual, received a bullet through the neck. He lay six hours in the jungle before he was discovered. and as the wound was a dangerous one at the best, his life was dispaired of. His only thought when he was brought into the hospital was that his family should be informed that he was but slightly injured. He is now however, well on the road to complete recovery.

Among those officers who have fallen, no one will be longer or more loyally remembered by his comrades infantry. In the beginning of the hot fight at Maraquina, which General Hale conducted with such skill, that it was worthy of more attention than the overshadowing importance of MacArthur's advance permitted, Gregg was near his chief, The horse he rode had just been shot from un-der him. He was taking off the sad-dle when a man warned him that the shot had been fired by a sharpshooter in a tree near by. Just as he raised them to his eyes, a puff of smoke was seen in the tree. Gregz put his hand to his breast, and fell forward, instantly killed.

GEN. GOMEZ WANTS AN ARMY.

Havana, May 9.-General Maximo Gomez is trying to persuade Governor Gen-eral Brooke that a Cuban standing army of 15,000 men is a necessary adjunct to the proper government of the island. The proposition is not likely to receive much consideration at headquarters, where considerable surprise was occa sioned by this magnificent project, which, if adopted, Gomez doubtless believes would be placed under his personal control.

Rules to be followed in paying the Cuban troops were published yesterday. Although the surrender of arms is a necessary precedent of payment, where a soldier without arms can prove he saw service, he will be paid.
