Stumping Ohio for the Democratic Nominee.

DEFENDS THE INCOME TAX

THRONGS GREET HIM ON FIRE WITH ENTHUSIASM.

Then Getting Down to Business he Declares the Republican Party the Creator of Trusts and Denounces Imperialism.

Greenville, Ohio, Oct. 19.-William newspaper men who accompanied the party throughout Kentucky, crossed the river from Covington last night and boarded the special train provided for the three days' tour of Ohio. The train was run to Dayton during the night, where the private car of John R. Mc-Lean was attached, and at Greenville Darke county, today, Mr. Bryan delivered his first address in Ohio. There was an immense crowd present. The decorations were numerous and tasteful and the enthusiasm pronounced.

The visiting party was escorted to the court house square by a mounted body, largely composed of the farmers of the country. Dr. L. C. Anderson presided and introduced Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and introduced Mr. John R. McLean, the Democratic candidate for Governor,

Mr. McLean introduced Mr. Bryan as the unchallenged leader of the Demo-cratic masses. Mr. Bryan to avoid the crisp morning air, put on a skull cap, which provoked good natured laughter, in resyponse to which he said: "My hair is not as much protection as it used to be, and you ought not to complain if I am getting a little bald. In 1896, they said I was too young to be President. Then I had to depend upon the constitution to protect me. Now I can depend upon my baldness.

"The Chicago platform to which you gave such loyal support in 1896, is still the platform of the Democratic party and the platform of the Ohio Demo- He challenged the Republicans to decracy again endorses that platform. I fend the policy of measuring human believe the planks of that platform are life by the value of acquired territory. stronger today than when they were written.

Mr. Bryan then entered into an elaborate defense of the income tax and predicted a popular endorsement of the proposition. He cited the efforts of the decision of the Supreme court against the income tax. He said the money question was still unsettled and the fight would be con-

He treated the matter of trusts in practically the same manner as characterized his Kentucky utterances. He claimed the Republican party said some trusts were bad and others good.

"Trusts are actually so bad," said the speaker, "that a Republican Convention in this State, a convention run by Mark Hanna, denounced them,

"Do you know the difference between a good and a bad trust? A good trust gives liberally to a Republican campaign and a bad one does not. The Republican party cannot destroy the trusts. When the Attorney General of the United States is asked to intervene there comes the Biblical injunction 'Remember thy creator.' The Republican party was the creator of the trusts."

Mr. Bryan denounced the increase of the regular army as being called for by the President two months before there was any war or act of hostility, which he construed as the basis for a change in our national policy, a change from the simplicity of a Republic to that of im-

"I dare the Republicans to defend the title by purchase of 10,000,000 of men," continued Mr. Bryan.

They assert the right to be in the Philippines by purchase and that too, after having paid a less price for human beings than we pay for hogs. "Let God choose between this definition of the declaration of independence, and that which says all governments derive their just powers from the con- Hon. John J. Lentz, who was speaking sent of the governed.

Mr. Bryan said that when he first went to Cincinnati, in March, 1895, to advocate the cause of free silver, the first and foremost man to lend him assistance and sympathy was John R. McLean.

"Under his guidance," continued Mr. Bryan, "our party in this State polled more votes prior to 1896 than we would have done otherwise, and the only reason we did not carry the State in 1890 was that there were more votes counted than we or the law machinery suppose existed in the State."

BRYAN'S SPEECH AT CELINA. Celina, O., Oct. 19.-At Celina the reception was extremely cordial. Mr.

Bryan said in part: This is one of the States in which an important campaign is being carried on this fall and this election is not only important because you choose your State officers this year, but because the verdict at the polls will be accepted as your opinion upon the issues which are now before the public. Some one has likened Government to a corporation in which know when they appropriated $100,000 every citizen is a stockholder, which to defray the expenses of the monetary from time to time elects its, directors. Taking that idea of Government the stockholders can select a new board of He concluded by demouncing the A directors when they choose and the directininistration's Philippine policy.

officer to observe the conditions and promises of the platform. The farmer is careful in the selection of the hired hand and ought to be in the selection of the public officer, but it is said he allows himself to go to sleep and never awakens until the affairs of the nation have run up against a stone wall. I think the time has come when no farmer can afford to be a Republican. I believe the farmer who supports that party stands in his own light and is doing himself an injustice. I believe the members of the Republican party of an earlier date had a great reverence for Abraham Lincoln. Great changes within the party have taken place since then. Abraham Lin-cola in 1859 wrote a letter in which he demonstrated that he believed in the man first and the dollar afterward. Since those days the party has placed the dol lar first and the man afterward and, if BRYAN JOKES ABOUT GROWING BALD of Lincoln want to change conditions bring the party back to Lincoln's standard, you must employ an artist to draw the difference between Mark Hanna and Abraham Lincoln, employing the tobog-gan slide as a background. (Applause.)

"With Abraham Lincoln the man came first, with Mark Hanna nothing is genuine unless the dollar mark is blown in the bottle. When the Republican party was organized it was with the idea that Jennings Bryan, Mrs. Bryan and the political convictions were stronger than party ties. The vicious dollar mark was not a consideration then."

Mr. Bryan then discussed the income tax and the greenback with the accompanying right to issue money, claiming the Republican party planned to retire the greenbacks in favor of the national banks, which had more influence than the common people, recalling the fact, as an evidence of inconsistency, that the Republican national convention of 1888 denounced Cleveland for demonetizing

Regarding the trusts Mr. Bryan followed his previous line of argument, saying that "when the Republicans tell you some of the trusts are bad and some good, tell them all look alike to you until the Lord sends angels to take care of them and he has not sent them yet." (Laughter).

He made a passing reference to Governor Roosevelt's appearance in this State in support of a larger standing army, asked if it was for the purpose of se-curing the blessings of assimilation and likened our Philippine policy to the colonial policy of England in India, suggesting that the President of the United States have the tifle of "President of the United States and Emperor of the Philippines," Queen Victoria being rec-ognized as the "Queen of England and the Empress of India."

The increased empire meant an in creased army and increased taxation to support the theory of imperialism. He did not believe the American people would be willing that one human being should be sent to death in this way and he did not believe if every Filipino were killed tomorrow, that you could get Americans to go there and at tempt to exist under a tropical sun.

He denounced the preaching that God had been the instrumentality of our presence in the Philippines and asked "when God gets ready to speak to the American people, he will find somebody else than Mark Hanna as a mouth-Mr. Bryan did not believe we could shoot or dynamite out civilization into the Filipinos nor did he believe that in the matter of territorial acquisition we should sink to the low level of European nations, affirming that we should not trade the glory of a hundred years as a Republic for the doubtful glory of an empire.

"I am more interested in the principles for which I stand than any mere compliment you can pay me," said Mr. Bryan in conclusion, "I would rather have a big majority for the candidates this fall, because I want these candidates to win and I shall be happy if you telegraph me that McLean has a larger vote than I received in 1896. (Applause).

St. Mary's had a good crowd present to meet the special train. Mr. Bryan discussed the silver issue at some length and the matter of government by injunction.

Hand-shaking and a few personal greetings were indulged in at Rockford and Ohio City.

END OF FIRST DAY IN OHIO. Defiance, O., Oct. 19.—The Bryan party closed the first day of the Ohio tour n this city tonight before a large and interested audience in the opera house. A street parade preceded the meeting. Ex-Congressman W. D. Hill, presided. when the Bryan party entered, gave way to John R. McLean, the candidate for Governor, who briefly addressed the meeting in introducing Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan said in reference to the introduction as the next President:

"I only have one ambition, shared by every citizen, and that is to leave this Government to my children better than I found it. I want you to believe me when I tell you that if the victory won by the Republicans in 1896 insures to the good of the people, I shall rejoice with every Republican. I expect to be here for many years. I say this for the benefit of those Republicans who heap riticism upon me.' Mr. Bryan then discussed silver. "They have been burying this question for years," he declared, "and they are bury-ing it again, I but I don't think they bury it well. And why? Because no tomb is strong enough to hold a righte-ous cause. (Applause.) They would rather bury the question than discuss it. I know these Republicans. I know how careful they are of public money. I

COLUMBIA MILES AHEAD

LED BY THREE WHEN RACE WAS CALLED OFF.

THE SHAMROCK WAS BADLY HANDLED

Not Gotten Over Line Before Handicap Gun Was Fired, Additional Ballast Put into Her a Blunder on Her Manager's Part.

New York, October 19 .- Had the wind held today, the Columbia-Shamrock series for America's cup would have ended in three straight wins for the defender and the Irish cup-hunter would have sailed home without the trophy, beaten as decisively as any former candilates. Only the failure of the wind saved the Shamrock from a defeat more stinging than on Monday. Today she was bea ten on the run to the outer mark five minutes and fifty-one seconds, elapsed time, and on the leg home, which should been a beat, but which owing to a shift of the wind, was a broad reach. Columbia sailed away from her like a When the race was declared off, about ten minutes before the expiration of the time limit, Columbia was leading by about three miles. She was then four miles from the finish.

Had the race ended Shamrock would have been beaten by at least twenty

Sir Thomas' hard luck continued to follow. His boat was very badly handled today in spite of the aggregation of talent aboard of her. The two Eng-lish Captains and the Captain of Empe-ror Williamse' yacht Meteor failed to get Shamrock over the line before the handithe race penalized by two seconds on that account. The additional ballast which was put into her yesterday also eemed to have been a blunder on the part of her managers. What Shamrock may be able to do in rough weather and a reefing wind is still problematical, but the experts are almost unanimous in the belief that the Columbia can take her are in light airs or a gale of wind. The crew of the Shamrock are now onvinced that we have the better boat. Before the race on Monday they had the most supreme confidence in their ability to win with Shamrock.

"There was no living with them," said one of the Yankee tars on the Shamrock's tender Lawrence. "They didn't think their boat would win; they absolutely knew it; they wouldn't even hear arguments. After they returned from the race Monday they were so ore that they wouldn't speak to each other. Now they are frank enough to admit that the Columbia is the better boat by ten minutes over a thirty mile

The yachts will race again tomorrow and even if Columbia wins there is a possibility that two more races will be sailed. A suggestion to this effect has been made and Sir Thomas appears anxious that it should be carried out. He has been greatly disappointed in the showing his boat has made, but be lieves she might do better over a triangular course in a heavier wind, and has said that he would be very pleased to sail two more races.

This was a radiant day for those affoat and a big holiday crowd went out to witness what all supposed would be the last race of the cup series.

The course today was laid 15 miles before the wind, southeast by south, straight out to sea. After some pretty manoeuvering behind the line, Captain Barr, on the Columbia, bested the talent aboard the challenger, sending the Columbia flying across the line 27 seconds ahead of his adversary. So badly had the Shamrock miscalculated that the handicap gun boomed two seconds before the green boat crossed, and she sailed away with that penalty in addition to sixteen seconds she allows the white wonder under the new measurement. The race to the outer mark was not exciting. Both yachts crossed with bulging balloons, mainsails and their largest club topsails drawing. But as the wind had pulled a little to southward after the course had been set instead of keeping away for the mark they made almost a triangular race of it. The Columbia showed her rival a fleet pair of heels, gaining gradually the start. For almost an hour the luffing match continued, carrying the yachts four miles off their course. The Shamrock having been badly beaten in her attempt to get to windward, both squared away for the mark, breaking out their big spinnakers to the wind. The breeze gradually died down to about five knots or less and the race was de generating into a drifting match as the big yachts approached the mark. challenger was directly astern of the Columbia, trying with her mountains of canvas to blanket the towering sails of the Yankee. But Columbia was a wizard. Somehow she managed to get wind enough from somewhere to keep her slipping through the water, and in vain Shamrock strained to overtake her. The yachts were half an hour covering the last half mile. Slowly Columbia wore around the mark and filled away. Passing Shamrock, still outward bound, close aboard on her weather, she robbed her of the light breeze and left calmed for a full minute.

A brass throated chorus had greeted the Columbia as she turned and it was repeated with added vigor when Sham-rock went around six minutes and eighteen seconds later. The Columbia had gained five minutes and fifty-one seconds in the fifteen miles to leeward. About three and a half hours had been con-It Fell, Saving Her From a sumed and there appeared no chance for either sacht to get home, but as the breeze continued to haul to the southward it made a fair wind for the return journey, and as it freshened to ten knots soon afterward, a faint hope of fin-

The Yankee sailed away from her rival like a ghost ship, leaving her far astern, increasing the distance between them so rapidly that when the race was declared off at 4:19 she was leading by

THE ALASKAN MODUS VIVENDI.

To be Signed Today--Our Maximum Claims not Maintained.

London, Oct. 19.—The British Foreign Office asserts that the verbal changes in the terms of the Alaska modus vivendi are of no practical importance and have been readily agreed to; and, that it is assumed the United States Secretary of State, Colonel John Hay and the British Charge d'Affaires in Washington, Mr. Tower, will sign to-

Washington, Oct. 19.-Up to the close of the State Department this afternoon nothing had been heard from London respecting the Alaskan modus vivendi. When the details of the agreement are made public, which will follow immediately upon its conclusion, it will be found that nearly all of the attempts made up to this point to accurately describe the new boundary line were inade quate in important respects.

The maximum claim of the United States is not maintained. That was not to be expected in this arrangement, which was intended particularly to relieve the situation so far as the Dalton trail route was concerned.

Want Gen. R. E. Lee's Portrait There.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 19 .- Mrs. W. N. Mitchell, of this city, a daughter of Congressman Otey, of Virginia, has inaugurated a movement to have the picture of General Robert E. Lee placed in the gallery of superintendents of the National cap gun was fired and she went into Military Academy at West Point. Mrs. Mitchell wrote to President McKinley and Congressman Otey to Secretary Root relative to the matter.

The Secretary has replied that Colonel A. L. #### Dewey Will Come Again Later.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Admiral Dewey received a call today from a delegation from Macon, Ga., headed by Representative Bartlett and President Smith, of the Chamber of Commerce of Macon, who presented an invitation to him to visit Macon. Admiral Dewey expressed his thanks and said that while he regretted he could not make the visit at the time of his trip to Atlanta yet he expected to go South during the winter or early spring and at that time he would visit Macon and Savannah .

McKinley Returns to Washington.

Washington, October 19.—President McKinley and party reached Washington at 12:25, nearly an hour behind schedule owing to delay on the grade in the Baltimore tunnel.

The party consisted of President and Mrs. McKinley, Secretary Long, Secretary and Mrs. Hitchcock and Attorney General Griggs, Assistant Secretary Cortelyou and Mr. Finney, private secretary to the Secretary of the members of the press and the White House attendants. All but the three Cabinet officers mentioned had left the party at various points on the road. SHARE" FARMING AT TILLERY TO CEASE.

COMFORTABLE QUARTERS FOR CONVICTS

Capt. Day Requested to Discontinue the Employment of Mr. Tillery as his Farm Manager. Blood Hounds? to be Bought.

The penitentiary directors yesterday completed their work and adjourned to meet again in January.

The meeting yesterday lasted from 9 to 1 o'clock. And it was "public," they said when they came back to the city, but there was nobody there to take advan-tage of the publicity. The newspaper men had not been notified that star chamber proceedings were to be dispensed with, they did not care to again intrude. Of course the principal business of day was a division of the spoils that Bill Day had surrendered to the board as a peace offering for Lewis Summerell This had been decided in caucus the night before and was as follows:

J. M. Wall to succeed R. P. Reinhardt, removed, as supervisor of the Clay Abernathy to succeed J. H. Mc Iver, removed, as supervisor of Caledonia farm No. 1. C. M. Christian retained as super visor of Tillery farm. C. J. Rhem retained as supervisor of Caledonia farm No. 2. J. A. McDonald to succeed W. J. Bradshaw, removed, as manager of railroad W. W. Green to succeed T. B. Russell warden of the penitentiary

S. T. Pearson retained as book-keeper at the Central Prison. H. B. Hunter elected as manager of the shirt factory. This is the place formerly held by Mott. F. G. Davidson to succeed Capt. John J. E. Clayton to succeed Turner, re as kitchen steward Oscar Branson to succeed Simpson, removed, as mail carrier. J. R. Cullom to succeed Capt. Price, removed, as gate keeper.

A. E. Wadford, who was recently dropped from the pay-roll was put back on and sent to Northampton farm. Resolutions were passed as follows by the board:

That the convict quarters on all the farms shall be made confortable.

That good shoes shall be provided for

That all sales of products from the farms shall be for cash and all outstandng bills at once collected. That the Caledonia farms (Nos. 1 and 2) shall be connected by telephone.

That 125 convicts shall be sent to An son farm on January 1st, and all the cleared land on this farm cultivated. That the raising of hogs on shares a Tillery farm be discontinued.

That all the farms except those owner by the State be discontinued. That there shall be no further cultiration of the Tillery farm on sharesthe executive board is directed to either rent the farm entirely for the State of lispose of its two years lease on it. That the penitentiary management shall get rid of the hounds it now owns and buy four blood hounds for the capture of escaped convicts. An order also was made requesting Superintendent Day not to retain Capt. Tillery as manager of farms.

The executive board was directed to investigate the question of putting wind mills on the Caledonia farms. The board inspected the cells and premises at the Central Prison and reported them in good condition. A claim of $25 for a blood bound lost n pursuing a prisoner was allowed War len T. B. Russell. Superintendent Day was instructed in case of vacancies in the position of supervisor of farms to appoint Alf Saunders, of Johnston county, and M. R. Springle, of Beaufort.

SUMMERELL GETS HIS ORDERS.

In Future he Will be Under the Entire Management of Capt. Tillery.

Wednesday while Lewis Summerell was sitting out on the steps of the ad-ministration building at the penitentiary. waiting for the decision of the board in his case, the following letter was handed him:

"Superintendent's Office State Prison, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 18, 1899. E. L. Summerell, Supervisor North ampton Farm:

"You in future obey without question any orders that may be given you by Cantain J. R. Tillery, Your on by Captain J. R. Tillery. failure to do so will be cause for your removal.

"W. H. DAY, "Superintendent."

This is interesting for the reason that the board at its meeting in April re-fused to accept Mr. Tillery's services in At New Orleans, the Board of Health eports one case of yellow fever and no considered in connection with the Bill-Day-Harmony resolution passed Wed. Riverdale, N. Y., aged 85 years.

cay's Farm Manager Says Diir Cotten's Report is not True.

in this same connection, the re-of Director Cotten, who visited the Roanoke farms, furnishes another charming evidence of the absence of This report was printed in this paper Wednesday morning.

The report, however, Captain Tillery says, does him an injustice and is abso lutely untrue in many particulars. He therefore asked the News and Observer to print for him the following state-

"As to the fine road which Mr. Cotten says has been built through my farm, I had nothing whatever to do with it. I spent the summer at Waynesville White Sulphur Springs and the order to build the road was made by Captain Day in my absence. It was made to afford a good road to carry cotton to market, for the benefit of the State farm and not for my benefit. "The road was built after the crops were laid by and no farm work was going on. The gin house is on the side of this road, which is a public one, and there is no other way to get the produce of the farm to the station except over this road. Of this the supervisor, at odd times after all the farm work had been finished, and under Captain Day's direction, made a good road.

"As to my objection to the cutting of telephone poles on the Tillery farm I have never objected to it, and no charge was ever made or thought of being made for the poles used. The telphone line was intended to connect all the farms for the benefit of the State. "Mr. Cotten says I strung my wire on the State poles. The fact is that no wire has ever been put up.

"While there is nothing said in the contract about raising hogs on shares, to which he objects, the Tillerys furnished about 150 stock hogs to start with, free of all cost to the State, giving the State one-half of not only the increase, but of the stock hogs also. It was deemed by Superintendent Mewborne that this would not be an unfair arrangement for the State, as the pasture belongs to the Tillerys and one-half the pickings of the field."

Mr. Tillery says he cannot imagine from what source Mr. Cotten received his information in regard to the tele-phone poles and would like to know his informant.

And thus do the evidences of an entire lack of friction between the board and the prison management multiply.
