DOLLIVER BREFZILY ASSAILS CARMACK

The Senate Shaken by Explosions of Laughter.

CARMACK CUTS BACK HOT

He and Dolliver Shake Hands After the Encounter.

THE CONFERENCE AT HAMPION ROADS

Senator Vest Gives the Details of That Historic Meeting, Removing a Stain Flung Upon the Escutcheon of the Confederacy,

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, D. C., May 3 .- Discussion of the Philippine bill in the Senate today while it scarcely abated in bitterness, took on an amusing phase. In a breezy speech Mr. Dolliver, of Iowa, made such a good natured and yet such a sarcastic arraignment of Mr. Carmack. of Tennessee, that Senators and occupants of the thronged galleries were convulsed with laughter. While, seemingly, considerable temper was aroused by the debate, good feeling was shown by the active participants in the war of words-Mr. Dolliver and Mr. Carmackwho cordially shook hands and laughed over the encounter.

Mr. Burton, of Kansas, concluded the speech which he began yesterday. He referred as instances of atrocious cruelty to the battle of Wounded Knee to the Mountain Meadow Massacre and to the massacre of Union soldiers at Fort Pillow and contended that the action of the American troops in the Philippines was in most instances, entirely within the regulations of civilized warfarc.

Continuing Mr. Burton referred to "the remarkable speech" delivered in the Senate yesterday by Mr. Tillman, (S. ing done by oBoker Washington for the colored race and suggested that if the colored people would follow his advice they would be successful.

Mr. Vest, (Mo.), caled attention to the statement of Mr. Tillman made yesterday which, he said, he was compelled to take notice of in justice both to the living and the dead. That statement, which has been found in the public press and upon the lecture platform for the last three years, was that at the historic conference in Hampton Roads in 1864 between resident Lincoln, William H. Seward, Alexander H. Stephens, R. M. T. Hunter, Formerly United States Senator, and John A. Campbell, formerly Justice of the United States

Supreme Court, President Lincoln wrote upon a piece of paper: "Save the Union," the handing it to Stephens, said: "Alex, take this paper and fil up for vourselves the conditions of peace between the two countries."

Mr. Vest said the story had been denied by John H. Reagan, of Texas, who was the last surviving member of the Confederate Cabinet.

He knew personally, said Mr, Vest, without having been present at that celebrated interview, that the incident was without the slightest foundation. "If true," said he, "it could place the government and officers of the Confederate States in the category of criminals, because it offered the Confederacy al that it ever demanded in the wildest hope of the most extreme partisans of that cause if they would only return te the union."

A deep silence had fallen upon the chamber and every Senator on the floor listened to him with rapt attention. With great deliberateness he continued:

"If true it would mean that the Confederates could have placed in that sheet of paper the perpetual establishment of slavery and the right of secession, the most extreme demand that had

From the lips of Stephens and Hunter had come to him, he said, the details of what took place. Upon the return of the commissioners of the Confederacy he heard their ofcial report as Mr. Reagan heard it, he being a member of the Cabinet and himself a member of the Confederate Senate. "I am today the only surviving member of the twentysix gentlemen who acted as Confederate Senators," he said.

Mr: Vest then stated that what did happen at Hampton Roads beyond question was this: That when the President and Secretary Seward met the commissioner of the oCnfederacy, Mr. Lincoln, addressing himself to Mr. Hunter, whom he knew well, said: "In the first place, gentlemen, I desire to know what your powers and instructions from the Richmond government," avoiding, said Mr. Vest, as Mr. Hunter told himself, the words "Confederate States."

Mr. Hunter, to whom the inquiry was addressed, said:

"Mr. President, we are instructed to consider no proposition that does not involve the independence of the Confederate States of America."

view had as well terminate now, for I He said that where his language was not twist at 171/2. must say to you gentlemen, frankly and from the government at Richmond except absolute and unconditional surrender.'

Mr. Vest then said that this terminated the interview as the Confederate commissioners retired, President Lincoln, addressing Stephens, who was the last to

"Stephens, you are making a great mistake. our government is a failure and when the crash comes, as it must come, there will be chaos and disaster which we cannot now foresee which must come to your people.'

"This account of that interview," coninued Mr. Vest, "substantially and almost word for word as I have given it, came to me from Mr. Stephens and Mr Hunter."

Mr. Vest said that he considered it his duty to make this statement in order that that history may not be falsified; in order that the men who were said to have refused this offer at the hands of President Lincoln should not be made to sin in their graves, adding, "For if they had refused what was said to have been tendered to them by the President they would have been accessories to the murder of every man who fell from that time in defense of the Confederate cause and they should have given the lie to the intentions which they professed when they risked everything, everything that is held dear amongst men in defense of the Confederate cause."

While deep silence still reigned in the chamber, he spoke and with every eye directed towards him, Mr. Vest concluded. as follows:

'It may be but a very short time until I shall joint the twenty-five colleagues I had in the Confederate Senate and I did not want this statement to go into the record of this country without my statement of these facts and my solemn denial that there is a shadow of truth in this assertion which has been going the rounds of the newspapers of the country for the last few years.

The discussion of the Philippine Bill then was resumed and Mr. Carmack (Tenn.), replying to Mr. Burton, made a bitter denunciation of General Funston. He said he did not doubt his physical courage but a few acts of dare-deviltry in the Philippines did not make a hero

When Funston had stated that Aguinaldo had burned 300 people alive at one time, said Mr. Carmack, he told a delibcrate and premeditated lie. In his opinion, he said, Funston is not to be be lieved under any question whatever. The sudden waking up of the Republicans, he said, was for the deliberate purpose of reviving sectional hate in order to divert this debate and attention of the people from atrocities which have been permitted in the Philippines.

I suppose it is in obedience to instructions from the White House." he C.) He paid a tribute to the work be- said, "that the effort is long made to reopen the wounds of the country that have been healed."

Facing the Republican side and speaking with evident emotion, Mr. Carmack

"I shall be ready to meet every slanderer of the South and every defamer of its honor, whether the assailant comes from some part of the country beyond the borders of the South or whether it be some recreant and degenerate son who has proved a traitor to the womb and bosom of his mother."

After stating that he would not be diverted from the issue now before the Senate by falsehoods brought into the debate. Mr. Carmack said referring to the charges of lynching, etc., in the South; "You cannot help us by denunciation. The best thing you can do is to keep your mouth shut and let us alone." Turning his attention to the Philippine question and especially to the speech of Mr. Lodge, Mr. Carmack said the Massachusetts Sepator was so narrow that he could not have a proper appreciation of the arguments that have been made against the present Philippines policy. He declared that Mr. Lodge was dishonoring the American army and the American Senate by defending orders which looked to the murder of women and children. Such orders of death, a brutal and inhuman ordercould not be judified by anybody; yet these were the orders which Senators had "devilish impudence" to justify.

"Does the Senator think," inquired Mr Spooner, "that the phrase 'devilish impudence' is proper under the rules of the Senate?

"No. I do not," said Mr. Carmack, "and I withdraw the expression."

Mr. Carmack, quoting from the speech of Mr. Lodge, said that the Massachusetts Senator had not suggested any reason why Gen. Smith should not be hanged as a common murderer. "Smith has not," said Mr. Carmack, done nothing but butcher a whole people naries. ever taken shape even in the dream of in cold blood. He has dishonored the any Confederate." American army." He declared that the United States was entering upon Union. Over a thousand delegates and a century, perhaps three centuries of constant warfare, for no other result trains came in today. than that a few carpet bag thieves might have opportunity to rob the people of the Philippine Islands as they used to rob the people of the South. Mr. Foraker interrupted to inquire if Mr. Carmack thought it was the purpose of President McKinley i ntaking over the Philippine Islands to provide a theatre of scoundrelism.

Mr. Carmack replied that McKinley's purpose was that of "benevolent assimilation," "the purpose of the Republican party now is malevolent dissimilation.

(Laughter.) Mr. Dolliver then read an editorial from a Memphis newspaper upon Mr. Carmack's recent speech on the Philip pine question in which that paper took as to his conclusions. Mr. Dolliver's it were highly amusing and both the Senators on the floor and the people in

(Special to eNws and Observer.) Kinston, N. C., May 8 .- Mrs. Myrtle Sutton, wife of Mr. Guy Sutton, a well known farmer of this county, and a daughter of Mr. Shade Fields, of Kinston, was perhaps fatally burned yesterday evening. She was making some dye in a big pot in the yard, when her clothing caught on fire and in a moment she was wrapped in flames. Her screams attracted some neighbors and they threw ner down and rolled her over in som blankets, and then tore her clothing off. She was horribly burned, two-thirds of the skin on her body coming off. She suffered great agony before medical aid was had from Kinston. Everything possible was done for her, but there is little hope of her recovery. She has a five-weeks' old child, and is a wife of
