LAW'S STRONG HAND

Arch Conley and Dick Fleming Are Hanged.

BOTH NECKS ARE BROKEN

Conley is Executed For Murder, Fleming For Rape.

EACH OF THE MEN MAKES A STATEMENT

Fleming Confesses His Guilt But Declares That Rich Blanton Had no Part In the Crime for Which He, Fleming, Suffers Death,

(Special to News and Observer.)

Salisbury, N. C., July 8 .- Arch Conley, the negro murderer, and Dick Fleming, the black rapist, were hanged in the jail yard here this morning at 10:54 o'clock, Rich Blanton, the third of the trio, having received a respite of two weeks from Governor Aycock last night.

The men were accompanied to the scaffold by two colored ministers, one of whom offered prayer. Both made a statement. Conley, who has all the while borne himself as a braggart, seemed to lose his nerve as he approached the gallows and referred ramblingly to his preparations for death, making po reference to the murder for which he was executed.

Fleming, who was hanged for committing a criminal assault on a widow lady of this county, confessed his guilt, but declared that Rich Blanton had no part in the crime.

The trap was sprung at 10:54 by Sheriff Julian, in the presence of about fifty people. Both the men's necks were broken. Fleming's pulse ceased to beat at 11:04 and Conley's six seconds later. The latter's remains were taken to his former home in Covington, Kentucky, his sister having purchased a casket for him when she came to Salisbury several weeks ago to see him. Fleming was buried at the county home.

Sheriff Julian was assisted by Sheriffs Lee, of Buncombe; McDowell, of Burke; Dorsetts, of Davidson; Peak, of Cabarrus, and ex-Sheriff Monroe, of Rowan.

BRITISH MERCHANT MARINE.

A Discussion of Subsidies in the House of Lords.

(By the Associated Press.) London, July 8 .- Lord Brassey (Liberal) initiated a discussion on naval affairs in the House of Lords today, during the course of which he deplored the fact that Great Britain had lost the place she once held with her mercantile marine. The question of subsidies, he thought, must depend on the action of the other powers. All the naval powers of Europe gave liberal subsidies, while President Roosevelt and former Secretary Gage had recommended this policy. It was contrary to British policy to foster industries by bounties of protection but to pay for a reserve of auxiliary vessels was certainly advantageous. Lord Selborn, the first Lord of the Admiralty, in the course of a reply, referred to the Atlantic shipping combine. The government disclaimed any sort of jealousy of the intention of the Americans here. They had an American marine of their own and they had a perfect right to a full share of the Atlantic trade. The attitude of the government was not one of hostility, but of anxiety. It would never do to rely in time of war on merchant ships of other nations for the purpose of British carrying trade. Great Britain had fallen behind in regard to vessels of high speed because she had not given heavy subsidies like other nations. The expense of so large a subsidy policy was so insidious that in his opinion the subsidizing of commercial corporations should and must be confined to a limited number and for a complete and definite purpose.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPH PLANS

Government to Begin Experiments With Foreign and Domestic Systems.

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, D. C., July 8.-The Navy Department has in contemplation a plan to establish a wireless telegraph plan in San Francisco harbor. The department expects scon to begin a series of experiments at different points throughout the country with several foreign systems. Lieutenant Hudgins, of the Naval Bureau of Equipment, who was sent abroad to purchase apparatus for trial, will leave Germany July 11 for New York, Lieutenant bringing with him the apparatus of two French and two German systems of wireless telegraphy, and these will be New York, Annapolis, Washington, San Francisco and at other points to be selected hereafter. Rear Admiral Bradford, Chief of the Bureau of Equipment, has placed all matters connected with wireless telegraphy in the navy in charge of Lieutenant Albert M. Beecher. That officer contemplates the erection of a mast at Highland Light in New York harbor to be used in signalling passing vessels.

Nearly all the big warships of our navy have been fitted with elongated ments, but the present plan of the Navy Department is to try the systems first
