NEGRO TEACHER FROM ST. PIERRE.

Mont Pelee

(Special to News and Observer.) Charlotte, N. C., July 30.—One of the few survivors of the great disaster on the Island of Martinique, in May last, arrived in Charlotte today. He is Cornerlius Oliverre, and though a coal black negro he speaks five languages fluently and is a splendid English scholar. Olivirre tells a graphic story of the terrible outburst of Mt. Pelee. He was teaching a school of languages at St. Pierre, when the eruption took place and he, together with five companions, escaped in a small boat and were picked up by an English tramp steamer. He is a native of Trinidad, but had lived at St. Pierre for some time prior to the volcanic eruption, and he produces indisputed evidence of the truth of his narrative. He is to deliver several lectures here to assist him in returning to his native land and resuming once more his vocation of teaching.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning Major Weill made a rather awkward attempt to drown himself by falling into one of the city docks on the Cape Fear River, but two negro workmen hindered him from self destruction and he was sent to his home under the care of physicians. No reason can be assigned for the rash act of the aged man. His duties with the Coast Line were merely nominal on account of his long service; the salary good and his position was for life.

He leaves two daughters in San Francisco, and one each in Boston, Philadelphia and Macon, Ga. Two sons also live in San Francisco and Philadelphia. A third son, Sol C. Weill, who was prominent in State politics, died several years ago in New York.

At the afternoon session Alfred R. Lucking, who was chosen temporary chairman, outlined boy, Harry Wheeler, of Lestershire, at the campaign issues in Michigan, saying in part:

badly shaken up and bruised. The view of the track west of the crossing is shut off by the station and a high bluff and the occupants of the wagon claim that the engineer of the train, John Delancy, failed to blow his whistle or ring the bell. It is claimed by passengers that the train which was forty minutes late was running 70 miles an hour. The band wagon was descending the hill toward the crossing slowly, the brake being on. The players were laughing and joking and the horses were almost on the crossing when a young great risk, jumped on the track and tried to warn them. Washington, July 30 .- A dispatch from Horses Whipped Up and People Trampled Underfoot.

A RIOT ENSUES. RESERVES CALLED OUT

Order Finally Restored. The Procession Accompanied the Remains of the Chief Rabbi

Jacob Joseph. Attacked by Employes of Hos Co.

(By the Associated Press.) New York, Juy 30 .- The funeral of the late Chief Rabbi Jacob Joseph, head of the orthodox Hebrews of the United State, which was held here today was the occasion of one of the most remarkable demonstrations ever witnessed in this city and led to a collision between the masses of Jewish mourners and the police. The streets were packed with thousands of Hebrews, the stores were generally closed and every point of vantage along the route taken by the funeral procession to the different synagogues was crowded.

Directly in front of the house where the body has lain in state for the last few days over one hundred patrolmen kept the crowd from entrance with considerable difficulty. After the services at the house the body was taken to each of the six synagogues on the east side, where brief services were held.

When the procession was passing the Printing Press factory of R. Hoe & Company, on Grand street, on its way to the cemetery in Brooklyn, several employes of the factory emptied pails of water from the windows of an upper floor on to the spectators massed upon the sidewalk. Pail after pail, it was said, was emptied on the throng, which shouted and struggled and stampeded in vain to escape. Then overalls and clothing soaked in water came down from above, and even tools, scraps of steel, bolts and a dead cat.

The angry populace, most of whom were Hebrews, retaliated by throwing eack into the factory window the missiles that fell on them. They also gathered up stones and sticks and in a few minutes there was scarcely a whole pane of glass on the Grand street side of the factory.

Then some one in the factory turned on a hose and played it indiscriminately all over the funeral procession. At one time as many as five streams were played on the crowd. Drivers of mourning carriages whipped up their horses, trampling over citizens and the stronger men trampled women and children under foot in their efforts to escape.

The police had in the meantime taken a hand in the trouble and were clubbing the people right and left. They were, however, unable to cope with the crowd, and the reserves of half a dozen precincts were dispatched to the scene. It was more than half an hour before order was restored and the streets in the vicinity of the factory cleared. A number of arrests were made, among them being several employes of the Hoe Com-

Many persons were found about the streets, bleeding from wounds on their heads and other parts of their bodies. Ambulances had been summoned in the meantime and three responded. The surgeons were kept busy for some time dressing the wounds of the injured. Several policemen also were injured, receiving cuts and bruises. Two men were taken to the hospital. One of them had sustained internal injuries and contusions and the other a sprained leg. Later in the day the persons arrested were arraigned in police court and fines of $5 and $10 were imposed in several instances.

Bad feeling is said to eist between some of the employes of the Hoe Company and the Hebrews residing in the neighborhood, and this is said to have been the cause of the trouble.

A STATEMENT BY HOE.

Robert Hoe, of the printing press company, made a statement after the trouble was over in which he says fighting was Governor of Misouri; Arthur Eddy, of going on in the ranks of the procession Chicago, and Gustav H. Echwab, of New as it passed the factory; that some of those attacked were forced to the door of the office and there the fighting continued, while missiles thrown by the crowd broke many windows of the factory. Then it was, says Mr. Hoe, that Kiely, of St. Louis; Prof. Camillo Von his employes tried to drive the assailants back by hurling missiles at them and finally turning water on the crowd. He added that boys working in the factory had been in the habit of jeering at Hebrews and he had tried everything in his power to have the practice stopped, even discharging boys of whom complaint.
