The argument that prohibition don't prohibit and encourages illegal moonshine liquor is all rot. Ask any liquor distiller, and if he will, he will state that "moonshining" only prospers where there is a legal place of sale for it either at a government still or a saloon where the illegal moonshine liquor can be brought and the femme enthroned in every legal and boldly sold under the law along with the other liquors. Shut up the legal place of sale and you close up the chief outlet for the moonshine liquor. Such is so well known that the government expects and anticipates such irregularities and always searches just here for them and generally finds such to be the case, and there is far less moonshining in prohibition territories than where government stills abound. So let our Legislature move up along the lines of temperance and sobriety, and lessen crime and poverty and encourage peace and prosperity and grow a people free from degeneracy, imbecility and insanity and other blighting curses of alcoholism. The Democratic party has a greater and greater mission ahead as the representative of the policy of a great people and let nothing side-track its purpose to do what is right and best for the people of the State and all will be well.

Indeed he is, so far as we can now recall, the ranking officer of the Army of Northern Virginia now living. His commission as Major-General dates from his capture of Plymouth in April. 1864, while that of Gen. John B. Gordon, of Georgia, dates from the battle of Spottsylvania, a month later. Gen.
