IN AND ABOUT THE CITY.
Elder James Woodard, of Wilson will preach at the Primitive Baptist church this morning at eleven o'clock and Sunday morning at eleven o'clock. He is the guest of Mrs. C. B. Aycock.

Squire Heiflin had before him yesterday four boys, Willie Page, Jim Carrington, Arthur Page and Caswell Chavis for violating the bird law, which prevents one from hunting on another's land without permission. They paid the damage and cost and judgment was suspended.

Yesterday morning while a carriage driver was on his way to the station he ran into one of the wires of the electric light and it came very near knocking him from his seat. The man who puts in the new carbon every morning had the light down and the driver did not receive any shock as no danger is connected with the wires when down.

Senor Octavio A. Acevedo, of Porto Rico, will enter the A. and M. College to learn Road Building and Topographical Surveying. The college has excellent practical courses in these subjects. The Senor is said to be a wealthy coffee planter's son. The college is extending its fame quite rapidly. Recently an application was received from the Philippines, and a few years ago it had a Japanese student.

Mr. A. W. Shroyer left this morning for Richmond, his old home. Mr. Shroyer has been living in Raleigh for the past four years, where he has put most of the granolithic pavements we now have on our walks. The pavement around the capitol was done by him and also putting in the basement at the insane asylum, which was the largest contract he secured while here. He is an expert at his business and many of our beautiful walks are the work of his art.

Judges for W. F. C. Debate.

Gov. Aycock and Dr. E. F. Dixon received a very unexpected telephone message yesterday from Wake Forest, asking them if they could act as judges in the college debate yesterday. They accepted and left on the morning train. This paper was in error in stating yesterday that the decision was rendered by a vote of those present and had not been informed of the change being made which was the custom.
