

TWAS NELSON'S TRAFALGAR BAY

Young Corbett in Role of His French Foe.

DOWN IN THE NINTH

From One of the World's Greatest Naval Battles to a Slugging Match

is Bathed With a Black Eye, So It Suits the Occasion.

(By the Associated Press.) Woodward's Pavilion, San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 28.—Battling Nelson, of Chicago, made Young Corbett, of Denver, appear the poorest tyro at the fighting game tonight when he practically knocked him out in the middle of the ninth round. In order to save their man a complete knockout the seconds threw up the sponge. In the early part of the fight on several occasions Corbett straightened Nelson up with rights and lefts on the jaw, but when it came to following up his advantage his swings were wild. He seemed to be over-anxious while Nelson at all times was cool and confident.

In the seventh round when it appeared as if Corbett was practically gone he showed a flash of his old time speed and landed several severe punches on Nelson's ribs and jaw. It was only a spurt, however, and Young Corbett soon collapsed into his groggy condition, which lasted until the end of the fight. Nelson's plan of battle was to force Corbett around the ring, keeping close to him all the time. Whenever Corbett missed a swing Nelson was there with a return which generally landed.

After the fight was over Corbett had but very little to say. He had no excuses to offer. Nelson, of course, was very happy, and said that his next effort would be to obtain a fight with a man who has so often defeated him. The fight tonight was heavily played by the betting element.

Details of the Combat.

Battling Nelson, of Chicago, and Young Corbett, ex-champion feather-weight of the world, met for the second time at Woodward's Pavilion tonight in a contest, the result of which will determine the champion of the two shall meet Champion Britt in a return match in the near future. Between four and five thousand people witnessed the spectacle and it is estimated the receipts will approximate $15,000.

For the first time in his fist career Nelson entered the ring favorite in the betting, the result apparently of his previous victory over the ex-featherweight champion.

Both men weighed in for the 120 pound weight. Nelson was a fraction of an ounce over and Corbett half to three quarters of a pound under weight.

protect himself from the Dane's terrible onslaught. The going was with Corbett in this position and all but out.

Round Nine—Corbett sent in two lefts to the face and then shot a straight left to the chin but Nelson retaliated in kind, giving blow for blow. Suddenly Corbett shot two straight rights to the jaw and Nelson never budged an inch. They worked to the center of the ring. Corbett finally going to the floor from a straight right which caught him on the nose. He took the count good but was so groggy that he could scarcely stand. Nelson went at him like a tiger, but at this point, seeing that their man was hopelessly defeated, the seconds threw up the sponge and Corbett was borne to his corner. Nelson was given the decision.

FIRE ON THE STEAMER OREGON. The Passengers Transferred to the Del Norte and the Flames Under Control. (By the Associated Press.) San Francisco, California, February 25.—Fire broke out in the cargo of the steamer Oregon yesterday when the ship was about fifteen miles southwest of Crescent City on her voyage from San Francisco to Portland. There were fifty-six passengers on board the Oregon besides the crew, but the passengers were safely transferred to the steamer Del Norte and taken to Crescent City. The Oregon proceeded to the harbor under her own steam, the flames having been put under control.

The Oregon left this port Sunday with a cargo of general merchandise and passengers. When the steamer was about twelve miles southwest of Crescent City it was struck by a fire in the after freight deck and was rapidly spreading. He made directly for Seattle, where he was towed to the wharf by a tug. The Oregon left this port Sunday with a cargo of general merchandise and passengers. CITY GETS HALF A COMPROMISE MEASURE Approved By Committee.

The Senate Chamber was crowded last night with Raleigh people to hear the presentation of the bill that has passed the House to divide the dispensary profits one-third to the city, one-third to schools, and one-third to roads.

Senator Foushee presided and three quarters of an hour was given to each side and some of the speeches were brilliant and frequently applauded.

For the one-third division speeches were made by ex-Senator Herbert E. Norris, and Representatives Stronach, Stentle and Olive. For no change in the present division speeches were made by Messrs. W. C. Douglas, James H. Poe, A. E. Andrews, Jr., City Attorney W. L. Watson, N. B. Broughton, Ed. Chambers Smith and Fred Habel.

Senator Ellington was too unwell to be present. Senator Jones, of Johnston, had by request of Senator Ellington, brought his request here. He said: "I saw Senator Ellington and he requested me to state his position with respect to the bill as passed by the Senate, but he agrees to a compromise 4-10 for city, 1-3 for roads, and 1-3 for schools. Mr. Ellington regrets he cannot be here to represent his own bill, but requests the Senate to pass this bill. Senator Thorne will corroborate this statement as to Senator Ellington's position."

It developed that most of the people of the city of Raleigh favored the present division and the most of the people of the county outside of Raleigh favored the bill as it passed the House. The advocates for the city made out a very strong case and presented petitions from a large number of business men. The advocates for the House bill also made out a strong case and showed that the people in the country were strongly with them and argued that it was a fair and equitable division.

Mr. Joseph Daniels made a brief speech urging that mutual concessions be made and seconded the suggestion that the division be four-tenths to the city government, three-tenths to roads and three-tenths to schools. Inasmuch as Raleigh gets one-third of the school fund, this division would give to Raleigh one-half of the money and one-half would go to the county outside of Raleigh for rural schools and roads.

After the discussion, the motion of Senator Thorne's committee went into executive session and discussed the matter informally. After some discussion they unanimously agreed to report the bill favorably with an amendment to the effect that the money be divided four-tenths to the city government, three-tenths to the roads, and three-tenths to schools. Under that division, Raleigh will get one-half of the money and the county outside of Raleigh will get one-half.

It was a pretty fight between sincere men who pressed their convictions, and the result is a measure that calls for mutual concessions, and will be more satisfactory to the whole county than any other solution of a vexed question.

Mrs. M. T. Norris and Mrs. J. K. Marshall Entertain. Mrs. M. T. Norris and Mrs. J. K. Marshall gave a very elaborate "At Home" at their beautiful home on North Blount street yesterday afternoon from five till seven in honor of Mrs. William E. Snow.

As the guests arrived at the front door they received the cards which were held in a card tray by little Miss Ann McKinnon. The guests were then received in the brilliantly lighted hall which had a color scheme of green and red, by Miss Blanche Blake and Miss Sophie Busbee, who conducted them to the parlor where Mrs. Grimes-Cowper introduced them to the hostesses and the guest of honor, and the following receiving party:

Buffalo Bill's Wife Takes the Stand.

She Rises to Defend Her Name in the Suit Brought by Him to Sunder the Marriage Ties Between Them.

(By the Associated Press.) North Platte, Neb., Feb. 23.—Mrs. Louisa Cody today took the witness stand in defense of her character and good name which have been assailed by W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) in his petition for divorce. Mrs. Cody emphatically denied that she had ever attempted to poison her husband. She was asked: "Did you ever administer 'dragon's blood' for the purpose of making the colonel love you more and other women less?" "No, sir, I don't know what 'dragon's blood' is. Never say any and never heard of such a thing."

"Did you ever give the colonel anything to make him sick?" "No, sir." "Did you ever poison him?" "No, sir." Mrs. Cody denied that she was ever intoxicated as had been testified by witnesses for the plaintiff. She never drank liquor except for medicinal purposes, she said, and never used profane or obscene language.

"Do you still love Colonel Cody?" asked the attorney. "Yes, he is the father of my children, and I love him still." "Do you desire a reconciliation at this time?" "Yes, I do, but I think that the colonel ought to retract the poisoning accusation."

Mrs. Cody recited the incidents of the funeral trip from Spokane to Rochester, N. Y., when they buried their daughter Arta.

"Did you at that time or at any time, threaten to denounce Colonel Cody at the grave of your daughter as his betrayer and murderer?" "No, sir."

"Did you ever send him a threatening telegram in connection with the matter?" "I wired him that I thought he had been the cause of breaking Arta's heart."

A pathetic scene occurred here when Attorney Wilcox introduced a letter and asked Mrs. Cody to identify it. Tears streamed down her cheeks, and between her broken sobs she said it was a letter from her daughter Arta, three days before she died.

Among other things written by Mrs. Thorpe (Arta) was the statement that the bringing of the suit for the divorce by her father had broken her heart.
