Does Life Insurance Cost Too Much? Shot in Flight, Convicts Fall.

Yes, with most companies, as is demonstrated below:

A company charged $424.40 for a policy in 1901, and in 1905 charged for it less than $320.00. The insured died in 1905 and the face of the policy was paid. This company paid in 1906 the first cash dividend after death, over $112.00 and will pay another of $110 or $115 in January, 1907. No other company pays two cash dividends after death.

This policy was in the UNION CENTRAL, which company is known to pay the insured the largest annual cash dividends, thus giving the best insurance at the lowest cost. Agents wanted. Address

The narrow convincing evidence of the highly pro- L & N 14558 ressional nature of the dealings and Manhattan L 1524 he conviction is general in the Wall total abstention from stock operations by all but the professional element. Today the stocks immediately affected by the coal investigation were conspicpromulgated that the pressure of graft amongst officials of these companies gives assurance of abolishing the abuse and of doing away with the losses presumably involved for the corporations through favoritism to individual shippers. An advantage to the stocks was alleged to be promised in this way. Reading and the coalers were made the lever for propping the market and tightening prices to a higher level. The movement spread to other points, however and traders who went short yesterday were generally inclined to cover today. Call money rose again during the day with an effect of admonition of the results to be expected from occasional syndicate requirements installments of subscriptions for Baltimore and Ohio new stock and for Delaware and Hudson convertible bonds due tomorrow were the cases in point today. A good effect was proin point today. A good effect was produced on sentiment by the report of wage advances to New England cot-ton operatives.
