Stocks and Bonds. New York, Aug. 15 .- Today's stock market was made up in overwhelming proportion of the excited speculation in the Harriman Pacifics. The backbone of this movement was the concentrated buying of the two stocks by commission houses, usually credited De! & Hudson 222 with conducting operations in the stock market for capitalists closely associated in the control of these ratiroad properties. Eagerly following the movement was a cloud of speculators of all degrees of prominence down to the small room trader seeking a profit of a slight fraction on each separate trade. The character of the main buying was accepted as Hock Valley .. evidence of the conclusion of important plans regarding the properties. That these plans had to do with dividend policy was taken for granted It was assumed very confidently that an increase in the dividend on Union Pacific had been determined and that dividend payments were to be inttiated on Southern Pacific, the yearly rate for the latter being most conmonly assumed at four per cent, buwith conjecture running to a higher There was a current supposition that the relation of St. Paul to these properties was also involved in the coming development and that some form of control of that property either by issue of bonds in exchange for the stock or otherwise, was in-contemplation. These various sur mises were lacking in authentic confirmation, and so far as could be learned, no formal official notice has been taken yet on the subject. This is expected to be done at the meetings of the eexcutive committee of of the St. Paul, which are fixed for tomorrow. Attention became more and more concentrated on the move-

Does Life Insurance Cost Too Much?

Yes, with most companies, as is demonstrated below: A company charged $424.40 for a policy in 1901, and in 1905 charged for it less than $320.00. The insured died in 1905 and the face of the policy was paid. This company paid in 1906 the first cash dividend after death, over $112.00 and will pay another of -$110 or $115 in January, 1907.

No other company pays two cash dividends after death.

This policy was in the UNION CENTRAL, which company is known to pay the insured the largest annual cash dividends, thus giving the best in-
