

WOMAN AND SOCIETY

I think that there's but little room for doubt that they are bride and groom.

She looks at him with so much pride it's certain she must be a bride.

And his favoring looks betray His groomship—it's a give-away.

I notice, too, the lady's hat. It'd want no better proof than that.

But, taken with that lace dress, it puts the matter past a guess.

Then he's so natty and so trim There's not the least mistaking him.

Their baggage! See the silver tag That gleams upon the lady's bag.

His suit case! I've seen very few So very yellow, fresh and new.

No ordinary married man Would carry on so spick and span.

And—did you see him look at her As they approached the register?

Just wait a little while and see When she puts sugar in his tea.

There! That should shake your unbelief.

He's just picked up her handkerchief.

And note her sudden carmine bloom! You bet they are bride and groom.

—China Wedding Celebrated.

Pittsboro, N. C., May 4.—Sheriff and Mrs. John H. Milliken celebrated their china wedding last night at their elegant country home three miles north west of Pittsboro. Just twenty years ago last night a reception was given this popular couple at their present home, and several were there last night that made merry at their wedding reception. The large house was beautifully decorated, the color scheme consisting of pink and white and the decorations were from New York.

The guests were received at the parlor door by Miss Queenie McDonald, of Greensboro, and Miss Jessie Milliken, who in turn were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Milliken, who were assisted in receiving by a sister of Mrs. Milliken, Mrs. William Turner of Winston. These were standing in the corner of the large parlor under a large white wedding bell, and the effect of this was one of beauty. The guests were then directed to the punch room, which was presided over by Mrs. J. L. Griffin and Miss Jennie Fearington. In this room were the presents and a larger and handsomer lot the writer has never seen.

A beautiful poem, composed by Miss Fannie E. Thompson, who introduced Mr. Milliken to his present wife just twenty-one years ago, was read, which was exceedingly appropriate to the occasion. After the crowd had viewed the presents they were invited into the spacious dining room, where a most beautiful supper was served, the menu consisting of all the delicacies appropriate to a wedding supper, the fees were furnished by Raleigh's expert caterer—Vernackes. The invitations were read from nine to twelve o'clock, but it was not after this hour that the crowd disbursed, all wishing this most popular couple many more years of wedded bliss.

The color scheme being carried out in the Tally cards, they being pink and white. The guests were received in the hall by Misses Marguerite Moss and Martha Harris. The first prize a book entitled "The Doctor" by Ralph Connor, was won by Mrs. T. W. Whitbee and the "dooby" a very appropriate post card was won by Miss Kathleen Ballard. "The Piano with the Sweet Tone."

THE REASON WHY

We So Strongly Endorse and Recommend Vinol to the People of Raleigh.

Mr. Crowell, of the King-Crowell Drug Company, says: "We do not believe there is a man, woman or child in Raleigh whom our famous cod liver preparation, Vinol, will not benefit at this season of the year."

"We believe there is no need for so many people to drag around run-down, tired and debilitated, or for old people to remain weak and infirm when we guarantee Vinol will restore health and strength."

Continued Mr. Crowell: "For centuries cod liver oil has been recognized as the grandest of all body-builders agents for wasted human strength and vitality, but on account of the nauseating and system-clogging oil which enveloped its curative properties few could take it with benefit."

"In Vinol you get in a concentrated form every one of the curative and strength-creating elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cod livers, the useless system-clogging oil eliminated and tonic iron added."

"Vinol is guaranteed by over five thousand of the leading druggists of the United States to create strength for old people, for the run-down, tired and debilitated, weak, sickly women and children, and after a severe sickness."

"We ask every such person in Raleigh to try Vinol. It costs nothing if it fails."—King-Crowell Drug Co.

NOTE—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Raleigh, it is now for sale by the leading drug stores in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol Agency in your town.

A GREAT SUCCESS ONLY DRUG CURE

May Music Festival Closed

Last Night With Grand Symphony Concert.

The Music Festival which has given delight to great crowds of visitors and to the people of Raleigh, came to a close last night with the exquisite rendition of the numbers on the program of the New York Symphony Orchestra, with Walter Damrosch as the conductor.

The soloists of the evening at the Academy of Music were Mme. Essana De Moss, soprano, and Leo Schiz, violin cellist. These won merited rounds of applause, while the exceedingly large audience in attendance again and again showed its appreciation of the sea of melody which welled the Academy when Damrosch led his orchestra. It was a concert of the sweetest of music, rendered most artistically and it fittingly closed the delights of the Music Festival, leaving Raleigh the debtor to the energy and enterprise of Mr. Wade R. Brown.

—Afternoon Concert.

Quite a large and cultured audience was delighted with the third concert of the May Music Festival, given by the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon by the Raleigh Orchestra, the children's chorus of 250 voices and a group of four noted soloists—Master Causley Polk, soprano; Miss Margaret Keyes, contralto; Mr. William Harper, bass; and Mr. Edwin Shonert, pianist. Miss Edith Swicegood, pianist; Miss Edith Dunne, organist; accompanied the children's chorus, and Messrs. Gustav Hagedorn and Wade Brown were in charge as conductors of the Raleigh Orchestra.

—The Bank of Willie.

Perhaps no feature of the Festival has been more interesting to Raleigh people than the part played by the children's chorus, composed of 250 Raleigh school children, and these children have done themselves honor and reflected credit upon their trainers and the city. A pretty scene was this bank of white, first upon their faces with a dark double line of boys at the foot, in front was the orchestra, "Li the Hills and Vales Resound," was the opening piece rendered by this chorus and orchestra, all blending in sweetest harmony under the wand of Mr. Brown, whose eye covered every part of the bank of young singers whose voices responded perfectly to the rhythmic beat of his hand and head and body, and even to every expression of his eye and lip and countenance. The audience was filled with delight at the rendition of this stirring piece by Richards, but hardly more so than when they had heard Loden's "Tale of the Sea-shell." Sullivan's "The Lost Chord," so popular as a solo was by the 250 voices of Raleigh children rendered popular here as a chorus. The stirring strains of Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" was the closing piece.

—Popular Miss Keyes.

Those who heard the concert yesterday afternoon will not consist in exaggeration to say that a popular soloist has been heard during the festival. She was cheered to an encore at her first appearance yesterday afternoon, when she sang in her peculiarly deep and mellow voice Rossini's "Ah! Rendimi." But when she had given "Sontag" and "Ständchen," by Brahms, the enthusiasm of the audience was tuned up almost to the breaking pitch and needed only her closing piece, Woodman's "An Open Secret," to carry the enthusiasm to the point of bursting forth in wild and continued applause that would not cease without an encore and then broke forth again and forced her back to the stage. Then she made a hit. As she came upon the stage she cheering ceased. She was facing the audience. All was still and silent. But, presto, she turned and saluted the children and with her back to the audience sang to them a dainty (yet Sainty) little air that was the climax. Miss Keyes is beautiful and has just that combination of grace and winsomeness and innocence and pride and dignity and modesty that all the world admires in a woman. Her audience fell in love with her.

—Other Features.

Master Causley Polk appeared with an "Irish Folk Song" that pleased the audience. His singing for one of his age is something wonderful. At the close of this piece and also that of "The Better Land," he was cheered to an encore.

Mr. William Harper rendered "Inno Loco," "Hungarian Song" and "On the Way, Awake Beloved" was heartily and enthusiastically received as was also Mr. Shonert's rendition of "Andante from G Minor Concerto" and "Trot De Cavallerie." He is a great pianist.

DIED IN FLAMES

Parents Danced While Little Ones Were Left to Perish.

(By the Associated Press.)

West Branch, Mich., May 4.—Four small children were burned to death last night in the home of Martin Campbell, eight miles from here. Mr. Campbell had gone to a dance a mile away from their home, leaving their six little ones locked in the house. They left a big fire in the stove and in some manner the lights in the house, which was destroyed. The children were awakened by the flames and the two eldest, aged 8 and 10, managed to escape. The four smaller ones perished.

What Keeley Treatment Did for a Woman

Added to the Drug for Fifteen Years — Never Wants to See Laudanum Again—Well, and Hearty Now.

Fayetteville, N. C., April 25, 1907. Mr. C. D. Cunningham, Manager, The Keeley Institute, Greensboro, N. C.

Dear Sir:—You will have no excuse for not writing before now. I received your letter and was glad to know you remember me yet, for I will never forget the kindness you all showed me while I was there. Give my love to all the family of the Institute.

I am well and hearty and never want to see any more Laudanum. There is but one cure for the drug habit on earth and that is the Keeley Cure. I took the drug about fifteen years and spent many dollars for the so-called cures, but when I went to your Institute I was cured (thank God). Any one who asks the drug can be cured at the Keeley Institute, and I believe that it is the only place on earth they can be cured. My husband is so proud of my cure, and all my children and neighbors are so proud for me.

I want you to publish this letter and also to say that if there are any who do not believe the advertisement, if they will write Mrs. E. J. Jones, 1001 Person street, Fayetteville, N. C., I will gladly tell them about the wonderful cure. If you will send me some of your pamphlets I will send them out for you, and I will do all I can for you. One of my friends is saving up money now to come to you and take the treatment.

With my best wishes for Dr. Petree, Colonel W. H. Osborn, and all the family of the Institute, I remain, Yours truly,

MRS. E. J. JONES.

Dressing Children

Did you every try shopping for children? Then you know how hard it is to get exactly the right material for children's clothes.

The material for children's clothes must possess three qualities:

The styles or patterns must be such as are adapted for children, for what would be entirely appropriate for grown people would not suit children at all.

The goods must be durable. Children are growing, cannot be kept quiet, and their romps and plays are very trying on their clothes unless the material is of the best.

The goods must launder well. No matter how nice children may be, they have a knack of getting their clothes soiled.

Linonette

Possesses All of These Qualities.

It comes in White, Solid Colors and neat, stylish figures

It is firm and durable, not easily torn or rubbed.

It retains the linen-like appearance after being laundered.

The best Dry Goods stores handle it.

If your merchant does not keep it, write us and we will tell you where it can be found.
