Old Mothers.

I love old mothers—mothers with white hair, and kindly eyes, and lips grown softly sweet. With murmured blessings over sleeping babes. There is something in their quiet graces. That speaks the calm of Sabbath afternoons; A knowledge of their deep, unflinching eyes. That far out-reaches all philosophy. Time, with its teasing touch, about them weaves The silver-threaded fairy-shawl of age. While all the echoes of forgotten songs Seem joined to lend a sweetness to their speech. Old mothers!—as they pass with silver-tipped steps. Their trembling hands cling gently to youth's strength; Sweet mothers!—as they pass, one sees again Old garden walks, old roses, and old loves.

The Tuesday Afternoon Club.

The Tuesday Afternoon Club will meet its regular meeting with Mrs. M. W. Crocker, February 11th at 4 o'clock. The program consists of "The Popery Riots of 1855," by Mrs. Lucy, and "Dickens' Influence Today," by Mrs. Crawford; also readings—one selected by Mrs. M. W. Crocker, and one by Mrs. E. T. Barnes. "Tribute to Dickens," by Mrs. Brown. After these Miss Burt will give a synopsis of "Barnaby Rudge" and discuss the work for the day.

The Woman's Club.

The Woman's Club announces a lecture on "The Oratorio," and the lecture will be given by Mrs. Wade. It has been secured to present this lecture before the Woman's Club will be of the greatest interest to the musical people of Raleigh.

In Honor of Mrs. Wolfe.

Dr. N. C. Feb. 8.—An elegant entertainment was given Wednesday afternoon, when the social club was entertained by Mrs. William Massena. In honor of her guest Mrs. H. C. Wolfe, of Stovall.

Wednesday Afternoon Club.

Edith N. C. Feb. 8.—The Wednesday Afternoon Club was charmingly entertained at "Ingleside," the hospitable home of Mrs. E. L. Travis, on Wednesday last. Those present were: Mrs. T. W. Fenner, Mrs. Joe Weller, Miss Lou Egl. of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Misses Nell Nelson, Nannie Gary, Julia Gregory, Elizabeth and Katharine Fenner. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Wolfe's Wedding.

Edith N. C. Feb. 8.—A beautiful church wedding was celebrated in the Church of the Advent here Wednesday morning when Miss Marian Lone Pope and Mr. William Stubbins were united.

Wise Clerk.

Quits Sandwiches and Coffee for Lunch.

The noon-day lunch for the department clerks at Washington, is often a most serious question. "For fifteen years," writes one of these clerks, "I have been working in one of the Gov't. departments. About two years ago I found myself every afternoon, with a very tired feeling in my head, trying to get the day's work off my desk.

—I had heard of Grape-Nuts as a food for brain and nerve centers, so I began to eat it instead of my usual heavy breakfast, then for my lunch instead of sandwiches and coffee.

"In a very short time the tired feeling in the head left me, and ever since then the afternoon's work has been done with as much ease and pleasure as the morning's work."

"Grape-Nuts" for two years a day has worked, in my case, just as advertised, producing that reserve force and supply of energy that does not permit one to tire easily in one's life work." "There's a reason."

DOING GREAT WORK

Congressman Small Endorses the Work of the National Department of Agriculture in This State.

Hon. John H. Small, member of Congress from the First District, returned to his home in Washington, N. C., yesterday, after spending several days in Raleigh. Mr. Small has been largely interested during the past few years in the work of the United States Department of Agriculture, and has succeeded in having the Department at Washington to send representatives to this state to conduct work in the interest of the farmers of North Carolina.

Mr. Small stated yesterday that the United States Department of Agriculture had made great progress in efficiency and usefulness during the past few years. He said that the work of its existence its work was fragmentary, and to a large extent theoretical, being not in good repute with the farmers of this state. He said that the Department is not only one of the great executive departments of the government, but to the volume of work done, but it is recognized as one of the greatest potential factors in the practical development of agriculture in the United States. The dissemination of the results of its investigations and experiments have not, however, kept pace with the knowledge actually acquired by the several bureaus forming the department. With this in mind, Mr. Small said that the Farmers' Institutes were organized and the co-operative demonstration work was inaugurated, and these have met unbounded success as they have received the support of the farmers and have already resulted in untold good.

Mr. Small endorsed the work Dr. S. A. Knapp, who is in charge of the demonstration work, is doing in this State; Mr. Small, in fact, was the influence which caused the demonstration farms to be established in this State and which moved the department to send nine of its representatives to North Carolina to conduct this special work. He also required expert lecturers upon agricultural subjects to attend institutes held for the benefit of the farmers in Eastern Carolina.

Mr. Small paid a compliment to Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, the State Geologist, who also lectured at the eastern institutes and endorsed the work of Dr. Pratt in the conservation of the natural resources of the State.

THE MERCHANTS ENDORSE ACTION

Of the Governor and Legislature FOR BETTER RATES

Indignant at the Action the Virginia Cities Have Taken in the Action Before the Interstate Commerce Commission—Endorse Bond Issue.

The Raleigh Retail Merchants, in their regular meeting last night, which was the largest in point of attendance that has been held in six months, unanimously adopted two important resolutions, the first endorsing the proposed bond issue of Raleigh township for road purposes, the second resolution endorsing the action taken by the Governor and the special session of the Legislature in regard to freight rate discriminations, and relative to the action before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The resolution in regard to bonds is as follows: "Resolved, That the Merchants Association endorse the proposition to issue $50,000 in bonds for building roads in Raleigh township."

The resolution relative to freight rate discriminations is as follows: "Resolved, 1st, That the Merchants Association of the City of Raleigh hereby approves and endorses the action taken by the recent special session of the General Assembly in appropriating money to prosecute the action before the Interstate Commerce Commission looking to the abatement of the unjust and iniquitous discriminations practiced against North Carolina cities in the matter of interstate freight rates.

"Resolved 2nd, That the thanks of this and all other associations of merchants in North Carolina are due the Governor and the Corporation Commission for their interest and well-directed zeal in undertaking this important fight in the pending litigation in the interest of the State.

"Resolved 3, That we have heard with indignation and regret of the action taken by the Virginia cities of Lynchburg, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, South Boston, Roanoke, Suffolk, and others which, through their trade organizations and merchants' associations, have joined hands with the railroads in the pending litigation in their attempt to perpetuate a burdensome, unfair and ruinous discrimination against the merchants and business men of their sister State, to the detriment of the State, and that they themselves may continue to enjoy an indefensible privilege at the expense of the cities of North Carolina and in restraint of that fair and open competition which is the life of legitimate trade.

"Resolved 4th, That deprecating this action as unfair and inequitable, it is the sense of this Association (and we call upon all other like associations and business men in the State to take a like stand), that we resent the attitude of the cities and associations named and are of the opinion that the action taken by them is such as to invite and justify the withdrawal not only of our confidence, but of the goodwill of our trade as well.

"Resolved 5, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the daily papers and the Merchants' Journal."

COTTON

"We unhesitatingly say that if the South had been open to speculation this year, as it was in the Sully year, we believe they would have gotten 15 cents for at least part of their cotton. Numerous efforts have been made by strong and prominent people in both New York and New Orleans markets to secure support from the very kind of whom it would have benefited most would have been successful, but lacking this support, have fallen flat. Yet the exchanges are continually criticized for their bearish tendencies. If speculation in cotton was contemplated we would be bullish, notwithstanding temporary adverse conditions. No one knows these conditions better than the grower, and knowing, slight and bucks the farmers' gain. It is only a few weeks now till the next crop will be the dominant feature, and if a normal acreage is planted, with anything like a favorable start, the spinner will still buck the game and buy only to supply immediate needs.

"But for outside speculation, cotton would never have sold about 15 cents during the Sully year. Still legislation goes merrily on, and there are bills pending to close the American exchange on the ground that they cause wide, radical and unnecessary fluctuations. Go back to the year before the exchange, 1886-87. In that year there was a range of prices from 22 cents down to 15-13 cents. Old men in the trade will tell you that it was impossible to sell at within $10 to $20 per bale of the previous quotation—in fact, there was no market. In 1887-88 the range of prices was from 16 cents to 35 cents, there being an precipitate advance of 15 cents per hundred in days. Nothing like that has or could happen in the future if changes have been in existence. The American people are a speculative people and always will be. When the market is in a panic, the grower is over to July. And yet the Southern producer cries: 'Kill speculation!' Until there is a revival of speculation we think the market a sale on all advances."—J. M. Ayer & Co.

AT THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

At Matinee This Afternoon and Last Performance Tonight, The Osman Stock Company.

Last night the Osman Stock Company played to one of the largest gatherings of the week. The gallery was packed, "standing room only," and many turned away.

The play was "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," a drama in which this company excel. The very difficult dual role was taken by J. Raymond Barrett, a young actor who, during the engagement here, has shown great versatility, playing leading parts in a very varied repertoire.

Tonight a comedy which is said to be exceedingly good is the attraction, and as ladies are to be admitted free under the same conditions as prevailed last Monday, no doubt there will be a packed house. A matinee is also announced for three o'clock when a melodrama will be produced entitled "My Lady Noelle."

The company is a most excellent one, and the plays it has produced have met with public approval. The specialties are of real merit and there is great enjoyment for all who attend. Popular prices are the rule, and at 10, 20, 30, there is entertainment more than the money.

"THE MINORITY CURRENCY BILL"

Introduced by John Sharp Williams

Result of a Conference of Democrats Behind Closed Doors—Among Those Participating Were Representative Crawford, of North Carolina.

Washington, Feb. 7.—What will be known as "the minority currency bill," was introduced today by Representative John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, the Democratic leader of the House, who drew the measure as a result of a conference of Democrats behind closed doors today.

Those besides Mr. Williams who participated in the conference were Representatives Lewis of Georgia; Pajo, of Louisiana; Glass, of Virginia; Gillespie, of Texas; Ollie James, of Kentucky; Crawford, of North Carolina, and McLenny, of Pennsylvania, all members of the Committee on Banking and Currency. Entire harmony is said to have marked the meeting.

It is understood that the bill as drawn by Mr. Williams may be subjected to slight amendment by its supporters, but it will come before the House in the shape of a minority report from the Banking and Currency Committee in its present form.

Provisions of the Bill.

Among the provisions of the bill are the following: It repeals all laws permitting National banks to keep three-fifths of their reserves in National banks of reserve cities, and similar laws permitting such deposit of one half of the reserve amounts.

It provides that not less than one-half of the reserves now required to be kept in lawful money in central reserve cities, shall be hereafter held in gold or gold certificates.

It does away with the payment of national bank examiners by the Federal system, and substitutes salaries not less than $3,000 nor in excess of $5,000 yearly, with actual expenses.

It provides that the total liabilities of any national bank, inclusive of the liabilities of its members, shall not exceed one tenth of the bank's paid in and unimpaired capital stock and one-tenth of its unimpaired surplus fund; and that in no event shall the liabilities exceed thirty percent of the capital stock.

But the discount of bill of exchange drawn in good faith against actually existing values, and the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by the person negotiating it, shall not be considered as liabilities.

Violation of this section is made a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment.

No national bank shall loan in the aggregate more than seven times the amount of its paid up capital plus its unimpaired surplus. Violation is punishable as provided in the section preceding. Any national bank may keep fifty per cent of its reserve in United States Bonds or in the bonds of states or in the bonds of certain municipalities; but not more than one-fourth of the total reserve may be kept in state or municipal bonds; and the bonds shall be acceptable only of such municipalities as have maintained their bonds at or above par for six years preceding, and have been in corporate existence ten years, and have never defaulted in their funded debt, and whose net indebtedness does not exceed eighteen percent of their taxable property. The acceptability of such bonds as reserve security shall be passed on by the Attorney General of the State in which the municipality is located; and these bonds shall be known as "interconvertible bonds."

The comptroller of the currency, immediately after the passage of the bill, shall furnish a copy of the new law to each bank in the country, and

FRUIT AND VEGETABLE GROWER

Complaint Against A. C. L. and Other Lines Before Interstate Commerce Commission.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—A hearing of importance to the citrus fruit and vegetable growers of the South, particularly of Florida, is held today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The case heard was that of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Shippers Protective Association of Jacksonville, Fla., against the Atlantic Coast Line railroad and twenty-eight other railroad carriers in the North and West. The complainant alleges that the rates on citrus fruits and vegetables shipped from Florida points in the South and East are unreasonable and subject the complainant's members to unjust discrimination. It further alleges that the defendant refuses to make carload rates on the shipments of the complainant, except on cabbage, potatoes and melons, and that the defendant citrus fruits do not furnish proper refrigeration for vegetables and fruits in transit. No decision was reached, but later the commission will announce the result of the hearing in a formal opinion.

INSURANCE COMPANY SUED.

Mrs. Goodwin Begins Action Against the Germania Life.

Mrs. Luta Goodwin, administratrix of the estate of her late husband, Miles Goodwin, has brought suit in Wake county court against the Germania Life Insurance Company, the action, it is said, involving the collection of life insurance on a policy held by her deceased husband, which the insurance company is said to be resisting.

While the formal complaint has not yet been filed, the case has been docketed, and it is expected that it will be tried at the next term of Wake county court. Messrs. Shepherd and Shepherd are attorneys for Mrs. Goodwin.
