

EVERYBODY GOING TO FAYETTEVILLE

Great Celebration There Tomorrow

EVENTS GROW THE DAY

Baseball Special to Be Operated Over the Raleigh and Southport for the Raleigh Fair—The greatest day in the history of Fayetteville Planned.

(Special to News and Observer.) Fayetteville, N. C., June 19.—All arrangements have been completed for the celebration of the 134th anniversary of the Liberty Point Declaration of Independence, and Fayetteville is preparing to throw open her doors to the friendly hosts that will invade this the corner-stone of the greatest crowd ever seen in Fayetteville is expected and will be welcomed by a people whose chief pride is their reputation for hospitality.

The central feature of the celebration will be the address of Chief Justice Walter Clark. Judge Clark is known throughout the country for his oratorical powers, erudition, and ability, and his address is expected to bring many hundreds to Fayetteville.

Among the other features will be the grand military and floral parade; the laying of the corner-stone of the monument to be erected to the signers of the Liberty Point Declaration; automobile races on two of the finest bituminous streets in the South; military manoeuvres, and in the afternoon a league game of baseball between the Raleigh "Red Birds" and the Fayetteville "Highlanders," which is transferred from Raleigh, especially for this occasion, and at night a grand display of fireworks, a brilliant colonial ball, and a public reception, which will be held in the Elks' Temple in their new building on Hay street.

A band concert will be held at 9:30 a. m. after which the first firemen's exhibition will take place at the city hall. Then the local military and horsemen will assemble to meet the visiting military. At 11:45 the grand parade will start. The chief figure in the parade will be Chief Justice Clark, guest of honor and orator of the day, riding in the ancient coach in which Marquis de La Fayette was conveyed on his memorable visit to this city in 1784. The parade will consist of mounted police, 2,000 mounted men and ladies, carriages containing orators and other distinguished guests, descendants of the original signers of the Liberty Point Resolutions, mayor and city officials, officers of the Liberty Point civic association, a brilliant military band, and a large contingent of the Confederate veterans from Cumberland, Robeson, Bladen, Sampson, Harnett, Moore, and other sections (all of whom are invited and welcomed), military companies from Wilmington, Raleigh, Lumber Bridge, Clinton and Bennettsville, and local military, Junior Order of American Mechanics, every automobile from 100 miles around this point, floats of all descriptions, and decorated motor cars and carriages for prizes.

The laying of the corner-stone of the monument to the signers of the Liberty Point Resolutions will be held at Liberty Point, after which Chief Justice Clark will deliver his address.

Dinner will be given to the veterans and visiting military at 1 p. m. at the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry Company's armory.

The automobile contest to be held on Hay and Person streets will begin at 2:30. The owners of every automobile within a radius of 100 miles of Fayetteville are invited to participate in these races for first, second and third prizes.

The military manoeuvres and drills for prizes will be held on Green and Gillespie streets, commencing at 2:30 o'clock.

Address of welcome on behalf of the Press by Mr. M. L. Shipman, of the Hustler.

Response to Address of Welcome by Mr. Archibald Johnson.

HON. M. J. SHIPMAN SPEAKS ADDRESS BEFORE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF LABOR COMMISSIONERS IN ROCHESTER, NEW YORK.

An address, full of information and interest, was delivered before the National Association of Labor Commissioners, in session at Rochester, N. Y., last week, by Hon. M. J. Shipman, Commissioner for North Carolina.

Mr. Shipman was appointed a member of the committee on the part of this organization, and the meeting of the convention for next year for North Carolina. The place of meeting will be Hendersonville. In part Mr. Shipman said:

Mr. President and Gentlemen: In submitting a resume of the current work of the Department of Labor and Printing of North Carolina, as requested, I wish to say it presents in epitome a record of the State's industrial needs and conditions, and throws a light upon the opportunities for development that cannot fail both to encourage and assist all thoughtful citizens of the commonwealth and others engaged in helping forward the solution of the great and growing equation of capital and labor, agriculture and manufacture.

Progress in these as in other lines creates duties, and invites questions and perplexities. Nothing is achieved without sacrifice. Changed conditions, however beneficial, carry their inevitable embarrassments. Incident to a brief recital of the tide of awakened industrialism in the State has set with magical swiftness, it is natural that there should be in its wake new problems and difficulties of the most perplexing and more apparent than real acuteness. The change from a condition when labor sought employment to one in which employment frequently seeks labor without success naturally leaves ends to be adjusted, and it is natural that one line of activity should feel the effects of another, and that in the stress of the demand it should sometimes appear that the supply is in danger.

The work of the department, in its annual report, is thus forced to take a broad survey of conditions that are in themselves widely divergent in interest, and that are yet, one and all, a part of the deeper foundations of industrial achievement and progress upon which the future progress of the State must rest. The report seeks, therefore, to present not only a comprehensive scheme of statistics relative to manufacture and industries, together with the information as to the conditions of operatives, their wages, hours of work, etc., but also a more general but none the less instructive mass of information and opinion obtained from representative men of all sections of farmers, laborers and farmers. The results obtained, reflecting, as they do, both facts accomplished and needs essential, cannot be underestimated in value, and serve the most vital and far-reaching end of the department itself.

The statistics compiled and the reports furnished show that the State is still experiencing a steady industrial growth; that wages have been maintained and that the educational and moral advance and environment of employees are better than ever before.

The most emphatic need is, as has been the case for several years, the procurement of competent labor, both in the factory and the field. In the case of the mills the acute need of labor is such as to constitute the only temptation to the violation of the child labor law, the provisions of which meet with the approval of over ninety per cent of the manufacturers, and the main protest against which proceeds from unnatural parents, who seek to make merchandise of the youth of their children by evasion of the law.

Newbro's Herpicide Others Imitate but None Equal

Since the world was new there have been imitators. Great men and remarkable achievements are all imitated to a greater or less extent. An attempt at imitation is always a compliment—a tribute to the greatness of the man or the worthiness of the thing imitated.

Herpicide is a Scientific Achievement

The Original Remedy to Kill the Dandruff Germ and Up to Date the only one that does it.

That's Bully

Completely Bald for Eight Years.

Pontiac, Illinois. I was almost completely bald for the last eight years and tried every remedy advertised without benefit. Herpicide immediately removed the itching and feverish sensation. I now have a fine silky growth of hair started which is growing every day. There was no sign of a hair before.

CURES S.S.S. OLD SORES

If an old sore existed simply because the flesh was diseased at that particular spot, it would be an easy matter to apply some remedy directly to the place and kill the germ; or the diseased flesh might be removed by a surgical operation and a cure effected. But the very fact that old sores resist every form of local or external treatment, and even return after being cut away, shows that back of them is a morbid cause which must be removed before a cure can result.
