

The News and Observer

ELK AND OAK PUBLISHING COMPANY
SOPHUS DANIEL,
President.
The Only Paper Published at the State Capital City.

Full Associated Press Reports

SUBSCRIPTION PRICES
One year.....$2.00
Six months.....$1.00
Entered at the post office at Raleigh, N. C., as second-class mail matter.

WEDNESDAY July 11, 1911.

MORNING TONIC.

(Theodore Parker)
Religion gives a man courage—mean the higher moral courage which man took danger in the face, unmoved and undismayed, the courage that can encounter the ease of wealth, of friends, of your own good name, the courage that can face a world full of sorrow and of scorn—aye, of death—but end of hate can see all this with a smile and, suffering it all, can still tell off, conscious of the result, yet pearl-skin still.

Uncle Walt
The Poet Philosopher

He's sitting in prison, and sorrow is here, he's riding he never had ried a gun; he thought is THE GUN was clever to pack one TUTTER forever, and aim is at people in spirit of fun.
And it, one fine morning, went off without warning, and plugged a bystander, who turned up his nose; and now he is wailing the wretched jail in, and no one has pity for him in his woes. The hospitals are crowded with gentlemen shrouded, and sleeping in boxes, the victims of fools; of plain-headed rascals who loaded their garments with all kinds of deadly and dangerous tools. And widows are sighing and orphans are crying all over this country because of the blacks who always are plannin' to spring a big canon and brandish it gaily till somebody croaks. Oh, let the law step on a fool with a weapon, and bury him deeply and load him with chains! No human's greater; it seems the Creator in building forgot to equip him with brains.

Oscar Moore

Copyright 1908, by George Mathews Adams.NORTH CAROLINA GETTING BIGGER.

Dealers in real estate, when they go to sell property have a way of saying to the prospective customer, "Buy land. If you buy anything else there can be plenty more of it, but if you buy land, you have bought something that is static. The land isn't making any more land. There is no more land today than there was a million years ago. Therefore if you buy land, you have got something that is static and it is the best investment you can make."

It seems that this is not always true.
There had been no change in the boundary lines of Guilford county in twenty years, and yet in 1908, when Auditor Abbott got to work on the tax books of Guilford county, he found that there were 13,125 acres of land in that county that had not been put on the tax list. Therefore the authorities of that county for the purpose of taxation had made 12,125 acres of land
"

There was published in The News and Observer Sunday that County Assessor R. H. Gower, of Johnston county, who had given sixty full days to driving over Johnston county and helping to assess the land by viewing it, had found that, though there had been no change in the boundary line of Johnston county, somebody had made 14,435 acres of new land since the last assessment. At least, he put that much more land on the books than was on the last year.

If the authorities another counties would do their duty, and put all the land on the tax books, and that should not be difficult to do, the number of acres of land in every county would be stationary, for there was no land made except now and then a few acres on the seashore by the drifting of the sand.

If we have in two counties in North Carolina in the last three years added 27,000 acres of land on the tax books, how much more land in the other ninety-eight counties are being put on taxation? In how many other counties have the authorities discovered new land and put it on the tax books this year? It would be interesting if the county assessors in every county would make a statement showing what has been done in that direction.

The fundamental maxim of the law states that no man can lawless, which translated means "to use your own power to injure another's property" is the basis of the contention against the trusts. Nobody objects when a big factory makes big money by wise methods. It is only when by combination and monopoly or otherwise it uses its property to injure others that it becomes a menace to the country.

Bonnie Harraden compresses a world of truth in this sentence. "If despiration that counts, not realization; pursuit, not achievement, quest, not conquest."

Well, we've only just begun. The Pitt County News says: "If Raleigh keeps on doing things, Tarheels will be proud of their capital city."

A LASTING MONUMENT.

One of the best men in public life in North Carolina was the late Hon.
Samuel L. Patterson, long time Commissioner of Agriculture, who, until elected to that office, lived on his farm in the Yadkin Valley. In the discharge of his duties as Commissioner of Agriculture Mr. Patterson became well acquainted with the needs of the State and became convinced that there was need of a school in the healthy mountain country, with large acres, where the youth who attended it could receive a practical education in a farm home. To secure such a school, Mr.
Patterson in his will gave his splendid farm in the Yadkin Valley, and his last wish has been respected. Little has been said in the press about this benefaction and how the school is being conducted. Its location lies apart from the general line of travel and few writers have visited it. At the close of the recent session of the State Press Convention at Lenoir, Mr. James A.
Robinson, long editor of the Durham News, visited this little known institution and wrote for the Sun a story about it that tells of the beauty of the location, the spirit of the institution, and the opportunity there given for an institution where possibilities may be said to have no reasonable limit.
Mr. Robinson's article is as follows:

Happy Valley, Legerwood, N. C.— July 8.—There is not in the wide world a valley more sweet as that valley in whose bosom the bright waters meet."

Seven miles from Lenoir, at the head of the Blue Ridge, is a stretch of valley, four miles in extent, bordering on the infant headwaters of the Yadkin river, that is a pictureque one, known as "Happy Valley." It derived its name in antebellum days from the absence of neighborhood bickering and strife, and where all dwell in peaceful harmony and common interest of brotherly love on either side of this valley, the mountains rise and fall in wavy, pictureque outline rugged and wild. They form a sharp contrast to the lovely picture of nature in the valley below. It is a lovely spot typical of peace. The sunlight seems to lie so lovingly on the fields and bathe them in rich gold. The Yadkin river, fresh from its birthplace on Green Mountain, sparkles, dances and sings joyfully on its way to the throbbing sea. The scenery down this valley is wildly beautiful and outrivaled anything seen in Switzerland. The rest-fulness of all nature in quiet repose touches one like poetry. Dignified laurel blossoms primp their pretty heads and coquettishly smile at their own beauty, reflected in the mirrorlike streams while the stately trees, like military sentinels upon the mountain sides far and near keep over other's heads and nod gruffly approval of the ribald jests thrown below them. The Happy Valley is fresh, free nature in her loveliest mood, ever ready to hold sweet converse with the heart whose chords are tuned in sympathy.

I am told the work is carried on very much as Mr. Patterson wished.
What a lasting monument to his memory would it be if this industrial school was equipped with funds to erect more buildings, add new advantages and push it forward in its great work and extensive field for usefulness. Whose heart will open to the beauties of Happy Valley in this work? Whose hand will plant more roses there and thus keep fresh and green the memory of one of the best and most useful citizens the small country ever produced, and through this institution which is the child of his brain, disseminate knowledge and industry through the coming generations; aid the poor, help the weak and purify and glorify the strong, and make the peculiar blessings of "Happy Valley" flow through the south? And like a refreshing river, giving joy and gladness to hearts that only need the touch of her benign influences.

This is not a paid article. The managers of the school do not know it is written. But I do it in the interest of education and in the hope that it will result in giving this institution a new financial impetus. The press of the State would do a most laudable act by enacting this article or alluding to the facts as set forth and give wide publicity to the great and grand work this splendid school is doing.

THE COUNTRY DISAPPOINTED IN THE INSURGENTS.

One year ago the country responded with praise of the Republican Insurgent Senators because it believed they were leading a fight to free the country from partnership in legislation so skillfully located in the home built in colonial style with two wings. The surroundings fill one with a charm of delight and a little chill once described it. It is such a friendly looking house. Angels have come out from its doors minus a foot before Now it has been flooded away with Histories have always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is no one which commands, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The News and Observer has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories a variety of subjects a series of Seven beginning each Sunday and continuing during the week.

NO. 3—JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

In this advertising John D. Rockefeller is called a "big fellow." He is a tall man, six feet four inches in height, in the world, just now among the world's greatest tycoons in culture. Crooks knows that he is not himself for one moment, but is a man of great ability and energy, and is a man of great intelligence and a man of great success.

John D. Rockefeller is a man of immense wealth, and is the richest man in America. He is a man of great energy and intelligence, and is a man of great success.

John D. Rockefeller is a man of
immense wealth, and is the
richest man in America. He is
a man of great energy and
intelligence, and is a man of great
success.

John D. Rockefeller is a man of
immense wealth, and is the
richest man in America. He is
a man of great energy and
intelligence, and is a man of great
success.

John D. Rockefeller is a man of
immense wealth, and is the
richest man in America. He is
a man of great energy and
intelligence, and is a man of great
success.

John D. Rockefeller is a man of
immense wealth, and is the
richest man in America. He is
a man of great energy and
intelligence, and is a man of great
success.

John D. Rockefeller is a man of
immense wealth, and is the
richest man in America. He is
a man of great energy and
intelligence, and is a man of great
success.

John D. Rockefeller is a man of
immense wealth, and is the
richest man in America. He is
a man of great energy and
intelligence, and is a man of great
success.

John D. Rockefeller is a man of
immense wealth, and is the
richest man in America. He is
a man of great energy and
intelligence, and is a man of great
success.

John D. Rockefeller is a man of
immense wealth, and is the
richest man in America. He is
a man of great energy and
intelligence, and is a man of great
success.

TOMORROW—THE VANDERBILT FORTUNE.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE
AT SALISBURY

Losses Sustained Amount to About $35,000, With Partial Insurance

(Special to News and Observer.)

Salisbury, July 11.—One of the worst fires for years in Salisbury occurred early this morning when a two-story brick building owned by Miss Elizabeth Hedrick, and occupied by J. Feldman & Sons, clothiers, was gutted by fire. A lot of the losses include hardware stored by water, $2,000; Miss Elizabeth Hedrick, building $5,000 in insurance $2,000; Wallace & Sons, damage to clothing stock by water, $1,500.

The fire, which was discovered by a policeman at two o'clock, a.m. was of unknown origin, but is thought to have been caused by electric wires.

Keep your eye on Johnston county

AFTER TWELVE YEARS.

Mr. E. Peacock Returns to Wilson on bad Mission Accompanying Remains of His Deceased Wife.

Wilson, July 11.—About twelve years ago Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Peacock left Wilson county and located at Pompano, Fla. On July third Mrs.
Peacock was called to her last reward, and on Wednesday all that was mortal of this good woman was laid to rest in the family burial ground at Rock Ridge in this county.

Deceased was in her forty-ninth year. She leaves a sorrowing husband, two brothers and two sisters. Mrs.
Peacock was a devout Moravian having been educated in the Salem Female Seminary.

Mr. and Mrs. Peacock are pleasantly remembered by numerous friends in Wilson county. Mr. Peacock will remain in our midst about a week after which he will take back with him to the "Land of Flowers" the sympathy of our people.

The Old Reliable Bird.

(Galveston News)
We do not pretend to know anything about ornithology but we are willing to say this much for the work He delivers the goods.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

WRITTEN BY
WILLIAM C. FREEMAN.

I received a letter from Mr.
Frederick Edward McKay from Seattle recently. He is now manager and half owner of "The Yankee Girl" company in which his wife, Miss Blanche King, is starring.

While in Seattle Mr. McKay wrote an article which appeared in the "Post Intelligencer" at the head of the dramatic department.
On this subject he writes:

"As I read my own paragraph a second time, it occurs to me that you might be glad to have it sent to you as a text for one of your daily chats. The point I make is that if a manager—who is in the same class with all other business men—MAKES AN HONEST AND VALIANT EFFORT TO GIVE HIS PATRONS THE GOODS" and advertises exactly what he has, he will make all the money he requires in this world, and the mere fact that his production is financially successful in first-class theatres prove that it must be advertising—must have merit.

"Every week throughout the last two seasons a great many dollars have been spent in the daily newspapers in the various cities in which Miss King has appeared. As I look upon the profits of these two tours I consider that they are well deserved.

"As I read my own paragraph
a second time, it occurs to me that
you might be glad to have it sent
to you as a text for one of your
daily chats. The point I make
is that if a manager—who is in
the same class with all other business
men—MAKES AN HONEST AND VALIANT EFFORT TO GIVE HIS PATRONS THE GOODS" and advertises exactly what he has, he
will make all the money he requires in this world, and the mere
fact that his production is financially
successful in first-class theatres prove that it must be
advertising—must have merit.

"Every week throughout the
last two seasons a great many
dollars have been spent in the
daily newspapers in the various
cities in which Miss King has appeared. As I look upon the profits
of these two tours I consider that they are well deserved.

The statement that the assessment was reduced on the Tucker Building was really a stunner to Raleigh and the people of Wake county.

For the rents on that property have been raised in the past four years and the general opinion in Raleigh is that these increases have been made upon the assessments.

The statement that the assessment
was reduced on the Tucker Building
was really a stunner to Raleigh and the people of Wake county.

The statement by Senator Simmons that the State Democratic chairman of North Carolina during the campaign of 1908 repudiated the Democratic National platform on lumber is replied to in today's paper by State Chairman A. H. Eller.

Mr. Eller's statement does not leave a peg upon which Senator Simmons can stand in his contention that the Democratic chairman of North Carolina was untrue to the Democratic pledge.

Tomorrow the News and Observer will print the article relied upon by Senator Simmons. Mr. Eller's interpretation of that article is clear and conclusive evidence that North Carolina's State chairman did not assume the right to annul the National declaration of the party. If he had assumed to do so he would have gone beyond his powers. He made no such attempt and no man who voted the Democratic ticket in 1908 was induced to do so by any repudiation of the party's pledges.

Every day brings a ship.
Every ship brings a word.

Well for those who have no fear Looking seaward, well assured.

That word the vessel brings

Is the word they wish to hear, —Emerson.

To be continued.

story; freshly consecrated, made, as it was, a place of transfiguration—the doorway of a new world with visions of usefulness and manhood awaiting the boy, whatever his condition in life. This gives the chance to raise hope and light the lamp of ambition and accomplish something in the world. Make a man of himself.

One instance. A youth of tender age was badly treated by his parents and finally thrown upon the world with hope in his heart well-nigh smothered. His impressions were that the world was against him, and he was daily stinging his heart against all mankind and the gentler influences that uplift humanity—becoming a veritable Ishmael. Without a penny, without warm-hearted friends, he was induced to enter this school and offer the opportunity to work his way through. This opened his eyes and gave him a new world—wide open and he held a new world—a world of loveliness, beauty and usefulness that he never dreamed of—and that boy is training for the ministry, and if he is spared is destined to be a man of power and usefulness.

This school is in charge of the committee from the Asheville diocese.
Rev. Malcolm Taylor is headmaster and Rev. J. S. Lawrence is the principal. The postoffice is Legerwood, thus honoring the donor. Mr. S. L.
Patterson, by taking his middle name, had his scholars read the name had 16 scholars with a number of age rises down from the distant mountains daily and is here drinking from this educational fountain, and strengthening himself for the fierce conf