

WHERE SAFETY OF THE COUNTY LAYS

Court to Protect Individual Citizens Under Constitution (By the Associated Press.) Washington, April 1.—Gov. Judson Harmon spent a busy day in Washington. He appeared in the Supreme Court, held a reception at the National Press Club and conferred with political lieutenants. In the Supreme Court Chief Justice White sided with the Governor and gave him a smile of welcome when he appeared to make a motion in the State case. Governor Harmon told members of the Press Club that he had "reverted to his ancient habit of practicing law" in appearing before the Supreme Court. "The first time I appeared before the court as Attorney-General," said Governor Harmon, "I had some trying experiences. There was one thin spot in my argument and I was gathering momentum to carry me safely and quickly over it, when Justice Gray leaped across the bench and said: 'How about this point?' touching the tender spot. 'I am coming to that presently, your honor,' I said hastily. 'Mr. Attorney-General, you are there, now,' said the Justice. Governor Harmon declared the safety of the country lay in the continuance of a capable, devoted, impartial and fearless tribunal, such as the Supreme Court to 'translate the guarantees of the constitution into actual protection for the individual citizen.'

Increasing Sewerage System, Electric Light Plant, Etc. (Special to News and Observer.) Spencer, N. C., April 1.—The Spencer Board of Aldermen has closed a contract with the J. B. The cost of the improvements to the sewers of Spencer, it is said, will be $10,000, the payment to the contractor to be made in city bonds. The McCreary Company has also made a proposition to the officials of Spencer to install an electric light plant and furnish electricity at 40 per cent less than the price now paid by the town. Another proposition has been made to install a new water works system. The proposition is backed by an offer to place a heavy forfeit as a guarantee to complete the work and make good the offer as to both lights and water. The board has the matter under advisement. The proposed extension to the sewer system will mean much for the town and the work is to be executed at once.

VIRGINIA TRAGEDY

Innocent Man Accused and Sentenced to Eighteen Years for "Supposed" Death of "Tar Heel" Negro Pracher (Special to News and Observer.) Wilson, N. C., April 1.—This is not an April Fool's joke, but a true story, and that which should cause jurors all over the land to go slow. The testimony given against a defendant on trial for a capital crime. The story. About three years ago, Rev. Handy Barnes, a Wilson negro preacher, was called to a church in Nansemond county, Virginia, and at once he jumped into the good graces of his congregation, and was almost worshipped by his flock. Everything moved along harmoniously until a conference of the churches was called, when Rev. Barnes' church was assessed a greater amount than he thought they were able to pay. He and a brother from another church got into quite a heated argument, shortly after which the parson mysteriously disappeared, and his place could be found of his whereabouts. A few days later the body of what, at that time, was supposed to be that of the Wilson preacher was found floating in the Nansemond river, and on investigation it was found that he had been murdered before being placed in the water. It was reported around that the body was that of the missing parson. Numbers of his former followers flocked to the river-side and identified beyond a doubt, as they swore, that the remains were those of Rev. Barnes. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the man with whom the supposed corpse had, had hot words. He was arrested, tried and convicted—the sentence being eighteen years in the Virginia penitentiary, of which term he has served about three years. The second chapter in the tragedy is as follows: Rev. Barnes, instead of extending the right hand of fellowship and bidding his brethren and sisters goodbye, back-peddled to the "Old North State," ignorant of the great murder made in his honor. Several months ago, Wilson's chief of police heard of the mistake, and got in communication with G. E. Denton, clerk of Nansemond county court, told him that Rev. Barnes had been murdered, and that he was living right here in Wilson at the time of the murder. On Saturday last Chief Glover issued the parson to board the train for Smithfield, where he was to be taken to a former congregation met him at the train and recognized him as the man they swore was floating in the Nansemond. Of course, it is presumed that steps will be taken to have the man who was wrongfully convicted man.

Constipation, if Neglected, Causes Serious Illness

Constipation, if neglected, leads to almost innumerable complications affecting the general health. Many cases of typhoid fever, appendicitis and other severe diseases are traceable to neglected constipation. C. E. Ayer, 6 Sabin St., Montreal, Vt. was afflicted with constipation and biliousness for years, and at times became so bad I would become unmanageable. I have been found in that condition many times. Physicians did not seem to be able to do me any good. I would become weak and for days at a time could do nothing. Not long ago I got a box of Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, and after using them I had never tried anything that acted in such a mild and effective manner. I believe I have at last found the remedy that suits my case. Thousands of people are sufferers from habitual constipation and while possibly realizing something of the danger of this condition, yet neglect too long to employ preventive measures until serious illness often results. The advice of all physicians is, 'keep your bowels clean,' and it's good advice. Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 25 cents a box containing 25 doses. If not found satisfactory, your money is returned. WILEY MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

The Republicans claim that they have put the class of wool known as carpet wool on the free list, but I say that they have increased the price of the wool that goes into the poor man's blanket from four to seven cents a pound and they have not dared to call your attention to this fact. This proposed bill does practically put wool on the free list; that is, allows rebate. If it is used for carpets only, but if used to make blankets, clothes, etc., the tariff is increased from 4 to 7 cents per pound. Senator Warren, of the tariff board, has said that cheap blankets and cheap clothes are made out of this carpet wool and they have persuaded the Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee to make this increase of 4 to 7 cents that is an evil, the biggest increase ever known in the history of tariff making in this country, so that the wool barons could reap bigger profits from the poor people of the country who were in need of cheap blankets and cheap overcoats and cheap clothing in this time in the face of the facts developed in the recent hearings in regard to the Lawrence strike. When Floor Leader Underwood opened the debate on the wool bill Friday night, he said that he was the strongest speaker and called draw the largest crowd of any man in the House of Representatives," said a member as he left the cloakroom. The applause at the end of the speech lasted for several minutes and the sides were crowded with members, who were waiting for the speaker to be called to the floor to shake the North Carolinian's hand.
