

CHARLOTTE GETS TEACHERS NEXT

Raleigh Made Fine Bid For Assembly This Time

Committee Wishes To Meet Many Localities In The State. Not Ready For Permanent Convention Place.

Charlotte, by a vote of the four to three, yesterday won the 1914 North Carolina Teachers' Assembly.

It took two ballots to stop the split-contest. Greensboro, Charlotte and Raleigh were hearty bidders. Greensboro and Charlotte each offered $500 in money and Raleigh made offers which in money would have been equal to $100. Gold did not enter into the executive committee's calculations, it is said, but the desire for migration did.

The first ballot gave Charlotte 3, Greensboro 1, and Raleigh 1. Greensboro broke for Charlotte and it was all over, including the shouting. Raleigh had put up a fine fight and it is easily believable that the 33 cents advantage in rival cities offers cut no figure. Charlotte and Greensboro did not hope to purchase a school teacher for a sum near thirty cents and the committee did not sell so cheaply.

President M. C. S. Noble, of the Assembly, and ex officio chairman of the executive committee, presided at the meeting, which was held in one of the offices of the State Educational Department on the tenth floor of the Commercial National Bank building.

Mr. Charles J. Parker, chairman of the local committee, led off for Raleigh with a speech, giving the committee of teachers reasons why he thought the next annual meeting of the Assembly ought to be held in Raleigh. He said that Raleigh was selected as the meeting place, representatives of the city would undertake to see that the best meeting the teachers had ever had would be held.

"We will not only organize to take the best care of you during the Assembly, but we will also undertake to help you in getting the largest attendance you have ever had at a meeting," J. M. Broughton, Jr., managing editor of the News and Observer, said to the column of that paper will be thrown open to you for your use. As that is a paper with State-wide circulation, your notices as to the coming meeting in Raleigh in case you decide to meet here would reach all parts of the State.

Mr. John C. Drewry, president of the Chamber of Commerce, next spoke for Raleigh. He pledged the best efforts of Raleigh people to make the meeting a success if held here. There had been some slight complaint as to hotel rates last year, but he had the assurance of the hotel men that complete satisfaction would be given in 1914. A reception at the Governor's Mansion was one of the special features promised by Mr. Drewry.

Mr. Della Dixon-Carroll, president

WHAT IS OLD AGE?

Some Younger at 65 Than Others Are at 40 Years.

Old age is not marked by years but by the stiffened frame, the hardened tissues and arteries.

So many people whom you meet about the time they reach 40 begin by saying, "I can't do this and I can't do that, because I'm getting old now," they begin to act old, feel old and they are older in appearance than many who are much more advanced in years.

When you begin to feel old, when your energy begins to fail, build yourself up with our delicious cod-liver and iron tonic, Vinol. It is a wonderful blood-maker and strength-giver.

It C. Klyce, of Corinth, Miss., says: "I am 75 years old and my blood was very poor. I was in a run-down condition and felt that I must have a tonic to build up my strength until I felt as strong and well as ever."

Thousands of old people have found in Vinol just the medicine they need to build up the feeble, weakened system and create strength. If it fails, we return your money. King Crowell, Dr. C. Raleigh, N. C.

of the Woman's Club, spoke for that organization. "Our club," she said, "has a membership of between 325 and 350 members, and we want you to meet in Raleigh. We will make the Assembly welcome in every possible way. We wanted last year to give a whole-day socially to the Assembly, but the teachers' program was so crowded that this was not practicable." Dr. Carroll assured the committee that another year the club would be even more active than it had been last year to make the Assembly meeting in Raleigh a success in a social way.

Promised Many Girls. Superintendent F. M. Harper held up another allurements. He promised the greatest number of pretty girls as well as the assembly and said Wake would send more teachers to the assembly than any other county would do.

Judge H. W. Winston told how he and Prof. C. W. Massey of the Durham schools, used to do missionary work in the schools. He said he regards Raleigh as the convention city from all angles and he decried no

ASSOCIATION WAS ORGANIZED HERE

Sunday School Workers Had Meeting Last Night

J. M. Broughton, Jr., Was Made President—W. A. Brown, of Chicago, Spoke to Enthusiastic Body of Superintendents and Teachers at First Baptist Church.

Two hundred and fifty more officers and teachers of the Sunday schools of Raleigh yesterday evening sat down to luncheon at the Young Men's Christian Association and immediately afterward put their heads together, mapped out plans for work, and organized the Raleigh Sunday School Association.

The great gathering was not in any way confined to any particular denomination in the city, but was participated in by members of all the churches and Sunday schools. And all joined together in an effort to extend and improve the work of the Sunday schools in Raleigh.

Mr. J. M. Broughton, Jr., presided at the meeting, while the music furnished by the choir of the First Baptist Church delighted the large audience of Sunday school workers gathered there for the occasion. Maps and charts were displayed in the front of the church, giving statistics as to the per cent of the population of the State and the city with respect to Sunday school enrollment.

Out of a population in North Carolina of 2,206,287 there are 639,237 enrolled in the Sunday schools, leaving out of the work entirely more than a million and a half people. Mr. W. L. Johnson, secretary of the North Carolina Sunday School Association, said in his speech that the object of the State association was to erase all this blackness on the map, and to have Sunday schools in every part of North Carolina.

The aim of the organization is "to extend, to organize, to standardize, and to vitalize" the work of the Sunday school in this State.

Major Johnson introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. W. A. Brown, of Chicago, missionary superintendent of the International Sunday School Association, whose subject was "The Value of Organization." He said that the Sunday school was the only institution in America that had a continental organization, extending all over North America.

Mr. Brown said that he was glad to belong to such an organization, and that it was a Christian institution. For three-quarters of an hour Mr. Brown told of the work of the Sunday school, and of the great campaign that is now being waged all the way through weaving into his speech ideas and suggestions as to the great value of organization in the work. He said that the meetings here today had been an inspiration to him, and that because of them the Sunday schools of Raleigh would hereafter take on new life and do their work better no matter how good it had been before.

Mr. Brown emphasized the importance of having cradle-roll departments in the Sunday schools, and told his hearers that the nearest way into a home was through a fondness for the baby that lived there.

Training School for Teachers. A feature of the newly-formed association in Raleigh is the establishment of what is to be known as a Teacher Training School, where the teachers of the various schools may meet together once each week for thirty weeks in the year and study and plan for the work of the following Sunday. Mr. Brown urged the teachers not to forget that the most important thing about the Sunday school was not the common audience, but the teaching of the lesson and the planting in the life of the pupil the seed of the gospel that can grow and live there.

In closing the distinguished speaker wanted the Raleigh people to adopt as their slogan for the coming year the one great idea of attaining unity and bigger work in the Sunday schools through securing more scholars and a more regular attendance of the scholars now in the schools.

Ministers Will Help. Rev. John C. Wooten, pastor of Edenton Street Methodist church, spoke on behalf of the Ministerial Association of the city and said that every preacher in Raleigh was glad to see this work begun here, and that they all stood ready to aid in whatever way they can.

Grand Concert on Easter Monday. Mr. J. M. Broughton, Jr., stated to the association that plans are now being made here for a grand concert by the Sunday schools of the city, the concert to be given in the auditorium on Easter Monday. He said that notice was given at this early date so

THEY TALK RATES

Members of Freight Rate Association and Experts Meet With Governor To Prepare Questions.

Fred N. Tate, president of the North Carolina Just Freight Rate Association, J. T. Ryan, both of High Point, J. C. Forrester, of Greensboro, and C. G. Creighton, of Charlotte, were here yesterday conferring with Governor Craig and Attorney General T. W. Bickett as to the cross-examination of witnesses in the rate hearings that were recently held here.

These rate hearings were here purely as experts. The State has not attempted to cross-examine the witnesses for the railroads, their testimony being of such a nature as to make study of the figures very important. The rate hearing will begin new in February, the date being set for the twenty-fourth.

At all the hearings experts have been sitting with the State and special attorneys have been employed. The railroads have finished their evidence but the State has developed no phase of its own. The completion of the testimony will run far into March and it is doubtful if the commission makes a decision before April. The date of the revision of the rates has been deferred until March 20.

SEVENTH CONVENTION

Mr. Thomas O. Leavister Returns From Meeting of Druggists in New York.

Mr. T. O. Leavister has returned from New York, where he attended the seventh annual convention of American druggists at Madison Square Garden, America's famous auditorium, January 19 to 26. In connection with the convention was held the greatest drug exposition ever seen on either side of the Atlantic.

The Madison Square convention and exposition was attended by 4,000 members from every State of the Union, and interest was maintained at a high pitch from beginning to end. The druggists bought out an entire theater a night for picture show and a continuous picture show was given at the big auditorium.
