> LBy the Press Agent que Mr. George M. Cohan, whose name and fame is sounded around the world, and who is, by acclamation of all the people halled as America's most popular actor, has furnished ad-ditional reason for this distinction in the instance of "Brodway Jones," his newest play product. It is a pleasure to chronicle the success of "Broadway Jones" and credit its author with another triumph for the reason that, in this play, like all those that have dropped from his prolific pen in the past, Mr. Cohan's writing pen in the past, Mr. Cohan's writing breathles an atmosphere of keen humor, love, laughter and happiness in an environment of absolute eleanliness and this in itself furnishes the reason for his present influence in the theatre today, "Broadway Jones" will be seen at the Academy Thursday night, February 5.

"At the Cavalry Post" One of the Bills of Clever Troupe.

(By the Pross Agent.) "At the Cavalry Post" is of peculiar interest, telling as it does, the romantic story of life in the west with scenes laid in and around a rough frontier town in Colorado. The story is simple but effective and worked out in a series of powerful situations, mingled with flashes of wit and humor, the whole being imbued with the picturesque color of the far west. The story is that of a love affair be

NORTH WILKESBORO'S NEW GRADED SCHOOL

Formally Opened With E. Y. Webb as Principal Speaker, Dr. W. P. Horton and Rev. C. W. Robinson

North Wilkesboro, Jan. 29,-The formal opening of North Wilkesboro's spiendid new graded schold building was an item of importance and unusual interest for this sectionson last the former owners as the "Douglas" and now the property of the heirs of the late Capt. E. S. Blair. The big steam tannery of C. C. Smoot & Sons Co. is spread out over about 20 acres of this bottom, which, lasticism from University walls upon with the hills in the background, makes an ideal location for the young minds to gather inspiration along with the book knowledge as equip-ment for life's work.

The exercises were opened in the auditorium by a devotional service to a much larger degree than ever conducted by Rev. C. W. Robinson, before. pastor of the Presbyterian with a Scripture reading, followed by prayer by Rev. Parker Holmes, pastor of the Methodist church. Hon. T. B. Finley, chairman of the school board, then made a splendid address giving a sketch of North Wilkesboro and Wilkes county as a historic section, and especially its importance at the present as an educational, religious, and business center. It is the "gate way between the mountains and the seashore," and not only the streams of commerce, education and religio influences, but the geography of the country causes the streams of pure freshwaters to flow from the surrounding hills to this point. He then introduced the principal speaker of the occasion, Hon. E. Y. Webb.

ludge Webb alluded to Dr. S. H. Wiley, the founder of the public school system; paid a tribute to the graded school committee and citizens for erecting such a model school for erecting such a model school building, and then spoke of the power of education in making men and women. Following his address the other speakers, Rev. C. W. Robinson and Dr. W. P. Horton. spoke—the former on "What We Raise." which alluded to the high standard of citi-senship growing out of our young people, and the latter on a plea for co physical development, higher standards of education, importance of enforcing public health laws, vital statistics and a future for mental hygiene. Dr. L. A. Hauser then made a report of the work of the graded school committee, and Dr. J. M. Turner made a short talk on truthfulness etc. Prof. Emmett C. Willis, superintendent of the school, then closed the exercises with an appropriate and interesting address. The entire program was interspersed with music by he school.
