The Final Vote is Fifty To Thirty-Five In Its Favor

AMONG SENATORS

Vardaman, of Mississippi, Becomes Vielent In Attack On Democratic Colleagues and Fight Is Narrowly Averted. Measure. With Simmons-Norris Amendment, Goes Back To Lower House For Its Concurrence

Washington, D. C., June 11.—Re-peal of Panama Canal tolls exemption American coastwise shipping, passed the Senate tonight by a vote of 50 to 25. The measure now goes back to the House, which is expected to accept the Simmons-Norris amendments, specifically reserving all rights the United States may have under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Bitterness among Democratic Sena-tors over the repeal bill flared up again tonight and before oil was poured on the troubled waters Sena-tor Vardaman, of Mississippi, and Benator West, of Georgia, almost came to blows. Apparently only the came to blows. Apparently only the interferences of Senator Ashurst and the presence of the sergeant-at-arms prevented a physical encounter.

The trouble lasted less than a minute, but in that time the Senate was intensely excited and displayed an interest in things such as has not been evident for weeks.

been evident for weeks.

Vardaman Starts Trouble,

The trouble started after a bitter exchange between Seniator Vardaman and Senator James, who had vigorously criticised the Mississippi Senator, and in turn had been told that he was not stating the truth.

When Senator Vardaman sat down, Senator West took the floor and also entered a protest against the recent charge of Senator Vardaman that those who would for the rever bill those who voted for the teper out were guilty of treachery to the Demo-cratic party. He referred to the charge that the Carnegle foundation had expended thirty thousand dollars to boost the repeal bill.

"Who knows," added the Georgia Senator. "but what the shipping interests have spent $190,000 to defeat

"Have you been offered any?" asked Senator Vardaman. As he spoke, he rose to his feet and started toward the Georgia Senator, who was only a

"Don't you say that to me," said Senator West, shaking his head and lifting his arms,
"Well," said Senator Vardaman, still advancing with his arms half raised "you are making an intimation that somebody else has been influenced."

Ashurst Holds Them Apart. By this time the two Senators were only a few feet apart, but Senator Ashurat one of the biggest men in the Senate, had stepped between them. He laid his left arm across Senator Vardaman's chest and extended his stept toward the Georgian. tended his right toward the Georgian to pacify them, but ing a real light.

"Senators will please come to order," shouted Senator Swanson, presiding.
"The senators will please take their seats and the sergeant-at-arms—."

The Sergeant Interferes.

Here he was interrupted, but Sergeant-at-Arms Higgins had heardenough, and he walked out to where the two senators stood glaring at each other across the outstretched arms of Senator Ashurst, and stood ready for the official command to stop what-ever might be started. Mr. West in sisted on explaining.

sisted on explaining.

"I did not say in writing or other-wise—"he started to explain.

"The Senators will please take their seats," urged the presiding of-floer, while the gallery and the Republican side of the Senate in particular looked on as if a play.

"No I am not going to sit down," continued Mr. West. Senator James continued Mr. West. Senator James endeasoring to explain the Georgia Senator was not trying to make charges. Finally all resumed their seats without a blow on either side. Both Benators West and Vardaman ex plained that they meant no reflection on anyone in what they had said.

A little later Senator Williams made a short, speech criticiaing Senator Vardamen

I decline to answer any questions the senior Senator from Mississippi saks of me," announced Senator Var-laman. "Of course, it is well under-stood that the senior Senator from dississippi never approves of anything b do. I care absolutely nothing whether I please him or displease him of displease him. self without regard to his opinion of what I do."

For a while the Semate looked for a fresh outbreak, but the trouble subsided and the debate proceeded.

The question of making the Panama Canal free to American vessels was brought to the front when the House, on May 12, 1912, incorporated in the act providing for the establishment of civil government in the canal sone, a provision authorising the President to charge tolls to vessels using the canal, with a proviso exempting American coastwise vessels from such charges. President Taft, in a message to Congress, had urged the exemption. The bill had been reported to the House providing tolls for all vessels but the exemption provision was adopted as an amendment. This amendment was in the bill as it went to the Senate.

On Mazatian; Capture Expected

On Board U. S. S. California, Masatian, June 10, via Wireless to San Diago, June 11.—Heavy volley firing on the outakiris of Masatian was heard tonight. It is believed the Constitutionalists are advancing for a determined assault. A well-directed attack, it is thought, would result in the capture of the city.

The Constitutionalists forces beseiging Masatian, it was learned today, stormed and captured the hill of stategic importance north of the city Tuesday night. A new walled cemetery also fell into their possession.

The discovery was made today that the breech plugs of all the Federal garrison's guns, except one at Fort Rosales, were missing. The artillery officers in charge have decamped.

Fearing that the neutral zone recently designated for non-compistants might not be respected in the attack, the entire consular corps at Masatian sent a note today, through Admiral Howard, commanding the United States Pacific fleet, to General Iturbe, the Constitutionalist commander, again requesting that the sone be safeguarded.

The German Consul has sent a letter of thanks to Admiral Howard for protecting German interests.

Re-Election of a State

(Special to News and Observer.)
Durham. June 11.—The Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, completed the work of the year by noon today and adjourned after the installation of the new officers, who were elected yesterday morning. The most interesting thing which came up during thet morning session was the debate over the employment of a State Deputy for the coming year.
Some of the members of the order thought that this was not a necessary expense, and were in favor of abolishing the office of State Deputy.
They thought that the work that has been in the hands of the State Deputy, should be done by the various district deputies. There was a long discussion of this proposition, though there was no fight on the work that has been done by Mr. W. Wilson during the pass year. The contention was that the Grand Lodge should cut down ex-past year. The contention was that the Grand Lodge should cut down expenses.

The Grand Lodge at this session also decided to change the method of distributing the official organ of the order. In the past the Carolina Pythian has been sent to every Pythian in the State and the subscriptions paid by the local lodges. After some discussion the Grand Lodge decided to pay the expenses of the publication and also pay the subscriptions for every man to whom the paper is sent. A number of resolutions were offered at the morning session, but none of them were of particular interest. Before the close of the session the retiring grand chancellor, J. D. Pridgen, was presented with a handsome gold watch and also with a badge of the order. Mr. Pridgen has worked faither, and these presents came as a fully during the past year for the ormark of affection and appreciation from the Pythians of the State.

The business of the session had been carried forward with great dispatch by Mr. Pridgen. He has insisted on making time, and while there has been no rushing business through without the proper consideration, the members of the Grand Lodge say that he has kept busy all the time. This accounts for the early closing up of the work.

This afternoon the visitors and delegates have been carried over the tobacco factories of the city. Some of them left on the noon trains, but most of them leave later in the afternoon.

Chicago, Ill. June 11.—Suffragist adors tonight claimed a majority of the 1.716 delegates to the biennial session of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs, who are expected to yote on the question of the suffrage before adjournment. Illinois alone has 307 delegates and other cusfragist before adjournment. Illinois alone has 207 delegates and other cuffragists states are said to be well represented. Suffragists also assert that a poll of the six members of the resolutions committee, which can act on the suffrage question, shows four in favor of the endorsement of suffrage. The resolutions committee gained the power to decide it suffrage shall come before the convention when the report of the committee on rules and regulations, consigning all resolutions to the resolutions committee was adopted today. The least the suffragists expect is that a minority report of the resolutions committee will throw the whole question on the floor. Considerable surprise was expressed when the report of the committee on rules and regulations was adopted. The same rule adopted at San Francisco two years ago was criticised then as taking too much power from delegates. It placed the suffrage question at the mercy of six women.

The fact that there was no negative voice raised to the adoption of the report went far to convince observers that the suffragists feel assured of some kind of endorsement in committee and the consequent opening of debate to delegates.

Illinois delegates today adopted a resolution calling for "equal rights for both men and women" to be presented to the convention. A report on membership by Mrs. Frank White, of Valley City, N. D., and the General Federation had gained 32,685 members in the last two years.

Mrs. Hugh Griffin brought greetings from Paris and Mrs. John Leckie from London. A letter of greeting from Countess Okuma, of Japan, was read.

Concerned Over Funston.

The apprehension of General Funston over rumors of a possible Federal advance on American outposts at Vera Cruz has become a matter of grave concern to War Department officials. The general anxiety is increased by knowledge that a strong rebel force is operating in Vera Cruz state. Any plan for the extension of the American lines to strengthen General Funston's position must be considered in the light of the State Department's acceptance of mediation and the relievated assumption that there would be no advance movements during mediation proceedings.

Gen. Funston has under his command, in addition to soldiers of his mand, in addition to soldiers of hi brigade, some 2,850 marines. Should prigade, some 2,300 marines. Should more soldiers be needed in event his lines were extended, there are 900 marines on the battleships at Vers. Crus, and thousands of blue jackets. NO CONTEST THIS YEAR.

Camp Meeting at Rock Springs Will Begin July 11th.

(Special to News and Observer.)

Newton, June 11.—It is understood that there will be no controversy this year over the question of holding a comp meeting at Rock Springs, as that issue was fought out to a finish last year. The trustees met Saturday and issued a statement that the meeting will be held at the old time, the second Sunday in August. A number of prominent speakers will be there. The big annual picnic will be held at the camp ground July 11th.
