NEW PLANS FOR CHILDREN'S WORK.

To Be Followed on All Redpath Chautauquus This Season.

Dr. W. A. Colledge, director of the Educational Department of the Redpath Chautauquus, announces a change which is to be made in the children's work during the present season.

A method has been adopted for presenting stories, folk dancing and games to children in a more systematic manner.

On the first day the young women in charge of this work at each Chautauquus will tell Indian folk tales and teach the children a few of the simple folk dances of the Indians.

On the second day there will be Russian folk tales and Russian folk dances; on the third day German folk tales and dances and on the fourth day Scandinavian folk tales and dances.

The children's workers will also be ready to give to the parents in each community two informal talks on such subjects as "The Place of the Story in the Education of a Child" and "The Value of the Play in the Moral Development of Children."

The town of Simla, India, is built on a hill so steep that it is often possible to step from the threshold of one house to the roof of another.
